Paragraph Opinions . . .

NOT BRAGGING, OF COURSE

We don't often brag or boast, but the following paragraph in the "Spillway" column on the editorial page of The Baltimore Sun on Tuesday, is one that we believe you should have the opportunity of reading, if you have not already done so. It follows:

"A few days age or maybe a fortnight, I wrote a little paragraph about Garrett county and its troubles. Since then I have had several reminders, not all of them pleasant, that I had laid myself open to rejoinder. But now on my desk I find a handsome volume, "The Wild Flowers of the Alleghanies," inscribed by its author, Mr. Joseph E. Harned. Mr. Harned, I gather, is an amateur botanist, but one would never know it from an examination of his work. It is a careful and, so far as I can see, a full catalogue of the flora of the Allegheny region carefully compiled and illustrated with meticulous drawings by F. S. Mathews, the noted botanical artist, a few of which are in color. The nomenclature and classification is that of Gray, which shows the discrimination of the author.

"This is the pleasantest kind of riposte to my perhaps not carefully considered paragraph. It seems to imply that a county which can produce a man whose mere hobby carries him to such heights of learning is far from decadent. It might even imply that a county which can produce a printer capable of the excellent work shown in this volume has means of support even if its coal mines are depleted and its forests nearly exhausted."

Our feeling of extreme satisfaction comes from the fact that Mr. Harned's book was printed in The Republican office.

This being Columbus Day reminds me of the Columbus system of typewriting that is used so frequently by so many. And the Columbus system—you discover a key, then land on it.

Now that the trial over the mail box and the firecracker is over, perhaps the government will be able to replace the mailbox that has been missing since the occasion. It was on one of the busiest corners in town, and there's a law against removing one from an out of the way place and substituting.

With Jim Farley's manufactured surplus in the postal department surely they could find a mailbox or two.

Now that Oakland people have used up another Sunday afternoon showing Baltimore people our woodland beauty spots, let them take another excursion and show members of their families who were left at home two weeks ago, those same beauty spots.

Some lady asked Mr. Weber, the florist, the other day while inspecting flowers at the greenhouse, if he knew he had ants in his plants.

Here's What we were Shooting at!

ROME, they tell us, wasn't built in a day. Well, neither was this 1940 Buick you see burning the breeze here.

You'll understand why when you know what we were aiming for. We wanted to combine in one car all the best we've learned in our 36 years in this business.

We think we've got it now. A standout sparkling car with action power and staying power.

It would be hopeless to try to list the whole range of new features—there are some 72 in all.

But you can't drive this car a mile without knowing that you have got hold of something that tops anything you ever handled.

It's smoother, steadier, firmer on the line. It gets up and goes right now, and keeps going without wander, tailwag or wind-swerve.

It takes the roughest roads in its stride, and while we don't want to go hinting about speed, this eager baby can do forty-five in first!

The sudden, soaring, millrace power of its matchless Dynaflash straight-eight engine, electrically balanced after assembly to micro-poised perfection, is velocity smoothed to velvet.

Yes, this beauty is our all-time high—the car we've been shooting at for lo! these many years.

Come drive it and you'll see why.

PUBLIC ADDRESS SYSTEM INSTALLED IN HI SCHOOL

Will Provide Greater Efficiency In Contacting Teachers and Pupils for Announcements

SYSTEM IS DEMONSTRATED

The installation of a public address system, for greater effectiveness in contacting both the pupils and teachers from the principal's office, has just been completed in the Oakland High school, which is expected to make a satisfactory addition to equipment there when they all get used to using it.

By the use of the system F. D. Bittle, principal, may "tune in" on any of the twenty classrooms when he wants to make an announcement or wants some information from any one of the teachers, and by pressing the "talking" button may converse with individual teachers upon some important question that has arisen.

The installation was made for three particular reasons, according to Mr. Bittle: to make necessary announcements to the entire school in a short space of time, to contact certain rooms when necessary and to create more orderly assembly periods.

When the entire school is brought into the assembly room there is not enough space for all students to be seated and many of them must stand. Mr. Bittle believes that with the new system and with a loud speaker in adjoining rooms, no more than half of the students will need to come to assembly where all can be seated, while the remainedr can remain in nearby rooms and hear the program. "This will result in more comfort for the students and better order," he said.

In explaining the system yesterday morning Mr. Bittle demonstrated by turning a button. After the radio tubes "warmed up" he turned on the power and pressed another button. Those listening in the office heard a discourse on geometric dimensions. He then pressed another button and strains of music came floating from the music room department. "Now we'll turn to the home ec building across the street," he said, and when the sound like a dozen or more plates falling to the floor reached the listening ears, everybody present knew that he had pressed the correct button. Then a buttou brought in every room in the building at one time. The resulting conglomeration heard would have spelled "Education", if it could have been dissected.

The system, however, is a noe-way affair, when it comes to the point of contact. It can be turned on, only from the principal's office. This, according to the principal, is as it should be, so that twenty teachers won't be trying to reach the office over the same wire at the same time with questions of minor import.

The system, however, is a one-way of about $200, it was stated. This included a main speaker in the principal's office with about twenty buttons to contact every room in the buildings, and amplifiers in every room.

Other O. H. S. News

At recent class elections the seniors elected Arthur Wolf, vice-president; Nina Bernard, secretary; and Maurice Davis, treasurer. The juniors elected Nancy Bolden, president; Howard Wensel, vice-president; William Traban, secretary; and Adra Paugh, treasurer.

A number of the instructors are planning to attend the Sate Teachers' meeting in Baltimore on Friday and Saturday, October 27 and 28.

Thomas C. Ferguson, supervisor of physical education and recreational activities in the state was a visitor at the school on Tuesday.

It was announced more adult education clesses would possibly be formed. The federal government in a number of instances pays instructors to have classes for individuals who are out of school and who desire instruction in various subjects. Ervin S. Smith is already conducting classes Tuesdays and Thursdays in commercial work and O. T. Graser is conducting classes on Mondays and Fridays on "farm problems". Classes in physical education and government are being sought.

A new coal operation which will soon employ thirty men is underway at Jennings, this county, it was announced yesterday.

Five men were at work yesterday but it was expected that the mine will be turning out 200 tons within a month and will employ thirty men.

Residents of the neighborhood are welcoming this new opportunity for employment.

GARRETT COUNTY'S BEEF BEST IN THREE COUNTIES

Albert Richter's Calf Is Declared Grand Champion At Show

For the second consecutive year a baby beef of Albert Richter, of Accident, has been declared grand champion, at the annual 4-H baby beef show and sale conducted at Hagerstown for Washington, Allegany and Garrett counties.

Last year Mr. Richter had grand champion and reserve champion. This year he had the grand champion while John Guard, of near Friendsville, placed third. All five calves exhibited from Garrett county by Mr. Richter, Mr. Guard, Leslie Guard, and Harry Guard, were placed in the blue ribbon division.

Thirty-seven calves were entered in the show and only fifteen were placed in the blue ribbon division. The grand champion brought 20 cents per pound at the sale, and weighed 1060 pounds. The average for all calves in the blue ribbon class was $12.45 per hundred.

John H. Carter, county agent, and the four exhibitors returned to the county this morning.

THIRD ANNUAL EXHIBIT OF ART WORK SCHEDULED

The exact time and place of the exhibition will be announced soon.

Land Use Committee To Enlarge Its Plan Of Work

The Garrett County Land Use Planning Committee will enlarge its plan of work in the county this year. It will have more local community planning committees to assist the county committee in working out and recommending a county program, according to information from the county Extension office.

On October 9 the county committee met at the Court House with State and county extension people formulating tentative plans for the completion of the 1940 program. This meeting was attended by Miss V. M. Kellar, Assistant Director of Extension Service; James W. Coddington, executive secretary of the State Land Use Planning Committee, and John Cotton, Extension Soil Conservationist. D. L. Reed, Mountain Lake Park, is chairman of the local committee.

ARMISTICE PROCLAMATION IS ISSUED BY PRESIDENT

Acted In Accordance With Congressional Statute of 1926

Proclaiming November 11 as Armistice Day, President Roosevelt asserted Monday that it was appropriate for the American people to reflect upon the hour "when the voices of war were silenced and to look forward even now to a time when a just and enduring peace shall be established among all the peoples of the earth."

The proclamation, issued at a time when Europe again is engaged in conflict, commented on the "tragic situation in which the world finds itself today, with the destructive forces of war once again unleashed."

The president acted in accordance with an Act of Congress, passed in 1926, requesting the Chief Executive to issue an armistice proclamation. An Act in 1938 provided that each November 11 shall be "dedicated to the cause of world peace" and made a legal public holiday.

The proclamation directed that the United States flag be displayed on all Government buildings November 11, and the president invited the people of the nation to "observe the day in schools and churches, or other suitable places, with appropriate ceremonies."

The original Armistice Day act proposed appropriate ceremonies "expressive of our gratitude for peace and our desire for the continuance of friendly relations with all other people."

Armistice Day will be celebrated in the county with members of the American Legion speaking on the subject of pease in a number of schools, both high and elementary.

212 MORE QUALIFY FOR CITY VOTERS ON TUESDAY

Makes Total of 351 Now Registered; Another Opportunity In Jauuary

Two hundred twelve citizens of Oakland became qualified to vote at municipal elections when they registered at the City Hall on Tuesday. This makes a total registration of 351, as 139 people registered at the first registration day on Tuesday, October 3.

Just how many qualified citizens had failed to register was a question for discussion. At the 1938 election 479 votes were cast while in 1936, when the contest raged between Grover C Stemple and Lawrence M. Fraley for mayor, there were 732 votes cast.

Another chance will be available sometime in January for those who did not register this month. A law requiring every person in Oakland, of legal age to be registered before he can vote on local matters, was passed at the recent session of the Maryland General Assembly. Previously the only requirement was that a person be recognized as having resided within the corporate limits for six months, and be a regularly qualified voter in the county.

When Game Was Plentiful And No Law Restrictions

The other day when William M. Harvey, of Kitzmiller, visited The Republican office he exhibited a memoranda showing sales of wild game he made during the months of November and December, 1892, to M. V. Smith, of Baltimore.

The memorande sets out that during those two months he sold four saddles of deer at 27 cents per pound, amounting to $61.56; 169 pheasants at $1.00 each, $169; 92 woodcock at 75 cents each, $69; 44 wild turkeys at 12 cents per pound, $63.26. The total sales amounted to $362.92.

Mr. Harvey was then as he is now, a "mighty hunter".

Mickey's Band Wins Again

Mickey's Boys' Band of Mountain Lake Park again won first prize for the best band in parade, this time at the Buckwheat Festival last Saturday at Kingwood.

First award was $40 cash. There were eight bands in competition for the three days of the festival. The band has won five first prizes in parades this season.

Appointed Game Warden

Raymond D. Houck, Oakland, has been appointed deputy game warden for Garrett county by the State Game Department, it was announced this week.

CONSERVATION GROUP HAS SCHEDULE OF ELECTIONS

Those Participating In Agriculture Program Eligible To Vote

A number of meetings are being scheduled by John H. Carter, county agent, for election of officers in the Garrett County Agricultural Conservation Association, by all participants in the program.

A community chairman, vice-chairman, regular member and first and second alternates, community delegate and alternate, are to be selected at each of the places where elections are to be held.

The County Association is set up and operated by the farm people of the county, according to Mr. Carter, as they elect their community and county committees which in turn are responsible with the county agent for the administration of the association affairs.

All parties participating in the program in Districts 3, 9, 11, 12 and 15 will vote at the Grantsville High school on Monday, October 23, at 8 o'clock p. m. Those in Districts 2, 5 and 6 will vote at Friendsville in the High school building on Tuesday, October 24, at 8 p. m. Those in Districts 1, 4, 10 and 13 will vote at the Swanton school on Wednesday, October 25, at 8 p. m. Those in Districts 7, 8, 14 and 16 will vote at the Sunnyside Grange Hall at 8 p. m. on Thursday, October 26.

HOMEMAKERS COUNCIL HAS ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Mrs. Harold Miller, Grantsville, Was Chosen President

At the recent Achievement Day annual gathering of Homemakers Clubs, held under the direction of Miss Mildred Barton, home demonstration agent, officers were elected for the Garrett County Council of Homemakers Clubs as follows:

Mrs. Harold Miller, Grantsville, president; Mrs. W. W. DeWittt, Hoyes, vice-president; Mrs. Leslie Ryau, of Kempton, secretary; Mrs. John G. Robinson, Oakland, treasurer; Mrs. E. H. Canan, Mountain Lake Park, parliamentarian.

The event marked one-fourth century of better family living in Garrett county homes and was in conjunction with the twenty-fifth anniversary of extension work throughout the nation. Speakers included Mrs. Harold Miller, Grantsville; Joseph E. Harned, Oakland, and Miss Frances Gerber, of Butler, Pa., first home demonstration agent in Garrett county. Miss Gerber emphasized the point that women should keep an alert eye toward things happening around them every day, especially in the field of homemaking and things that directly affect this field.

The program was concluded with a tea given by members of the Grantsville club, which is the oldest club in the county, and which was organized in 1917. Two charter members of the Grantsville club, Mrs. H. P. Miller and Miss Ethel Broadwater, poured.

Firemen Extinguish Blaze

The Oakland firemen were called to the Floyd Wensell farm last Friday morning when sparks from a fire spread to a huge straw pile near his barn.

The pile was a mass of flames when the department arrived a few minutes after the alarm had been given, and they succeeded in stopping the fire before it had caught the barn. Firemen grabbed pitchforks and scattered the straw in all directions, while others carried water from a nearby spring to keep full the booster tank on the fire engine.

Killing Frost Hits Most Of Garrett County

A killing frost struck the most of Garrett county last Saturday morning and ended the growing season most abruptly, after Jack Frost had been lenient for more than a month by prolonging the mild weather past the usual time. The temperature dropped into the twenties on Saturday morning and then to show that there was to be no fooling the mercury dropped to 15 degrees above zero on Sunday, and followed that up with a reading of 18 above on Monday morning.

Frost has continued each morning this week with the exception of this morning. The days have been clear.

National Officer of Legion To Attend Special Meeting

Probably for the first time in history a representative of the national organization of American Legion will be in Oakland when the Oakland and Kitzmiller legion posts hold a joint meeting at the Manhattan hotel tomorrow evening, October 20, at 8 o'clock.

F. R. Shaffer, commander of Proctor Kildow Post, No. 71, Oakland, announced the joint meeting last week which had been called by Wesley H. Abrams, district vice-commander, of Cumberland, for the purpose of becoming aequainted with the State officers.

James B. Fitzgerald, of Bethesda, who is the department commander of Maryland, is also national vice-commander, having been elected to that office in Chicago at the National Legion convention about a month ago. Mr. Fitzgerald will attend tomorrow's meeting, in company with J. Nelson Tribby, department adjutant.

Mr. Shaffer is urging all ex-service men, whether members of the Legion or not, to attend.

HALLOWE'ENCELEBRATION WILL BE CONDUCTED HERE

Firemen To Sponsor Affair With Prizes To Be Awarded

The resumption of a mammoth Hallowe'en celebration here sponsored by the Oakland Fire Department, with the awarding of a number of prizes to participants, was announced this morning by Emroy Bolden, a member of the committee in charge.

Last year the celebration did not attract much attention, and comparatively few took part in the parade, as no special plans had been made for the affair and no prizes offered.

This year Mr. Bolden said that quite a few prizes would be solicited for distibution on the evening of Tuesday, October 31.

The parade will form as usual on Oak street and will follow the route heretofore used through town, disbanding on Second street which will be roped off for the occasion. The parade is scheduled to get under way by 7:00 o'clock. There will also be a dance at the Manhattan Hoel, beginning at 9:00 o'clock.

The committee in charge includes Mr. Bolden, L. M. Fraley and Clarence Spear. Mr. Bolden said the celebration was being continued in order to provide an outlet for fun for the children and young people. Mayor Fraley has announced that no pranks, destruction of property, etc., would be permitted.

Lad Injured By Car

Bobbie Baker, aged 8, a son of Hensey Baker, of Sand Flat, was painfully injured last Sunday afternoon when he was accidentally struck by an automobile driven by H. V. Leighton, Loch Lynn.

Witnesses said the lad ran out into the road without looking. Mr. Leighton swerved the car but not enough to entirely miss the lad, as the car door handle struck him in the back and threw him to the roadway.

He jumped up immediately. Mr. Leighton brought him to Oakland where he was examined by a physician and later taken back home where he has remained since that time suffering from severe cuts and bruises. He attends Oakland Elementary school.

Will Reopen Princess Shop With New And Complete Line

Clarence E. Umstot has purchased the stock and fixtures of the Princess Shop, the transaction being completed last Saturday, after the store had gone into receivership, and will reopen the store on Friday, Oetober 20, with a complete new line of ladies' and children's wearing apparel.

Mr. Umstot has been a resident of Oakland for the past several years and has been associated in the Treacy Cash Store. Mr. Umstot's announcement of the opening of the new store, at the same location in the McIntire building, appears on another page of The Republican today.

Welfare Costs Rise

A rise in relief expenditures in seventeen of the twenty-three counties of the state accounted for a $2,822 increase in welfare costs in September, according to the monthly report of the State Department of Public Welfare. The welfare bill last month totaled $738,901. Of this amount the sum of $10,505 was spent in Garrett county. Garrett county spent $12,443.32 during August, according to the board's last report.

FIVE WILDLIFE AREAS SET UP IN GARRETT COUNTY

Work On Wolfe's Swamp and Pine Swamp Sections To Begin Immediately

TO KEEP OUT HUNTERS

Five wildlife conservation projects for Garrett county were set up last Friday at a meeting at the office of Dr. Thomas B. Symons, extension service head of the University of Maryland at College Park.

This is the first major step in a State-wide program of farm forestry which embraces many phases of conservation of the soil, timber and wildlife, land usage and development of habitats for wildlife.

1,400 Acres Set Aside

A total of 1,400 acres will be set aside for the five areas where intensive efforts for the restoration of wildlife will be undertaken.

There are in addition four similar projects now functioning, two of which are located on State forest property in Worcester county and two others on State forest property in Wicomico county.

The five projects to be set up in Garrett county are as follows:

No. 1—Wolfe's Swamp area, two miles northeast of New Germany, 100 acres.

No. 2—Pine Swamp river area, on the road from Lonaconing to Savage River, 200 acres.

No. 3—High Rock Fire Tower area, about seven miles north of the site of the new Savage River dam, 700 acres.

No. 4—Bear Creek area, adjoining the Bear Creek Fish Nursery, in the vicinity of Accident, 200 acres.

No. 5—Potomac State Forest area, on Backbone Mountain, about four miles east of Mountain Lake Park, 200 acres.

One On Highest Elevation

Work on Projects No. 1 and No. 2 is to go forward immediately. The remaining three projects will be undertaken early next year.

The areas will be fenced immediately with galvanized wire and posted with metal signs, 12 by 18 inches, advising gunners: "State Game Propagation Area—It is unlawful to hunt, trap or enter upon this area."

Upon completion of the fence-building job, grain will be planted on which birds may feed, and nut-bearing trees and berry bushes will be set out.

Federal and State organizations are cooperating in carrying out the many-sided program, developed by the subcommittee of the State Agricultural Land Use Planning Committee.

Departments Assisting

In addition to the University of Maryland's Extension Service, the State Forestry Department and the Maryland State Game and Inland Fish Commission are cooperating. Federal agencies which are aiding include bureaus of the Department of Agriculture, the Civilian Conservation Corps and the experimental stations.

Besides Dr. Symons, the Maryland committee is composed of F. W. Besley, State Forester; W. S. Swingley, R. D. Forbes, A. C. McIntyre and E. Lee LeCompte, state game warden.

October 31 Is Last Day to Carry Out 1939 AAA Practices

October 31 is the closing date for carrying out soil-building practices under the 1939 agricultural conservation program, according to an announcement by John H. Carter, county agent.

This means, Mr. Carter said, that credit will not be allowed under this year's program for practices carried out after October 31. All farmers who have carried out practices since the supervisor checked their farm or who will apply practices before October 31, are asked to notify the county agent's office as soon as they are applied so that credit will be given.

Council In Special Sessions

At special meetings of the town council during the past week there have been discussions concerning the settlement of back taxes, while former clerk-collectors were in office.

It was also pointed out that the new well was 220 feet deep, and that not much flow of water had been reached. There was talk of beginning a new well at another point on the Water farm just west of town.

Scoop's Column

Benefits of Gadding About

It's funny about the discovery of America. Several people did it without planning to and without realizing what they had done. There was the Norse sea captain, Herjulsen, who was blown far out of his course in 986 A. D., and came quite unwilling upon Newfound land and Labrador.

Columbus himself was looking for a new route to the Orient and only happened upon the New World because it blocked his course.

Then there is the name America bestowed in honor of a man who didn't come over until five years after Columbus and who seems to have been credited by early geographers with more than he actually accomplished. Those early visitors searched for new routes to India, they searched for gold, one sought a fountain of youth, and so on.

There is this to be said for all of them—if they had stayed at home and not searched for anything at all, two rich continents would have remained undiscovered and the adventurers themselves unknown.

On a smaller scale: It's funny about the discovery of Garrett county. You go somewhere without much planning and come upon such beautiful and unusual sights that you wonder why you hadn't discovered them before. You resolve to know more about Garrett county.

Of course you aren't discovering a part of the county that hasn't been discovered before. But you are discovering something that is new to your own self, and such a discovery is of untold good.

Such a discovery was a trip through Districts Numbers 12 and 4 last Sunday over the Bittinger, Dry Run and Savage River roadways. It may look commonplace to those residing there, but to those never seeing it before, it is a revelation. Beautiful mountain views from the top, and lovely scenery all the way down the slopes and from the valleys, looking up. The autumn leaves helped, of course.

It's worth a trip. You can get there by Bittinger, by Glendale bridge, or possibly from Swanton towards Grantsville, and from Bloomington up through the Savage River valley. The site of the Savage River dam can be viewed, although there isn't much to it yet, except some cut brush.

Recently a tall truck struck the stoplight at Third and Alder streets.

"Look at the 'juice' running out of there," said a school boy as the water, which had leaked in about the light, began to drip through an opening. I wonder could he have thought the 'juice' was electricity?

There isn't any doubt but that the trimming the Oakland High soccer team administered to Kitzmiller did the latter team some good.

No matter how good a team really is, when there is a feeling that all other teams are inferior and that there is nothing to worry about, then there is real danger of a trouncing taking place. Overconfidence is something to steer away from, both by players and instructors.

Yet there isn't any doubt, either, that Ktizmiller soccer teams are year after year the best in the county. The Kitzmiller boys live, sleep and practically eat soccer during the season. The little kids play it most of the time and they know something about it when they get to high school. It's the practice that makes the great difference, notwithstanding the fact that coaches play their part.

Practicing and having one's heart in the game are almost necessary for excellence in any sport.

A Little Perplexing

Most anyone who has seen the World's Fair and has gone into the Russian building, wonders about the United States government allowing Russia to exhibit and flaunt such propaganda about communism.

The Russian building is simply full of communistic propaganda and naturally a lot of it is absorbed by the Fair visitors.

However it is our own opinion that suppression would help the communistic cause instead of hold it down. America was developed by people who came from other countries to get away from persecution, suppression, and such like. People in America have the right of free speech, religious liberty, etc., and to attempt to suppress knowledge of communism or some other ism, or to try to persecute those who believe in it, would tend to make the United States as higoted and narrow minded as the countries from which our ancestors fled.

As long as the actual overthrow of the government is not planned they should have the right of exhibition. The more light that is shed on the organization of communism or naziism or any other ism, the more people will believe that the American way is the best way. The spotlight on isms will be their downfall.

Some American people may never see the light, but the majority of the American people are not so dumb. They like their liberty too well.

Reading a book the other night I came across a statement that declared the Poplar was the most feminine of all trees. I don't believe it. The weeping willow reminds me most of the "clinging vine" type. My better half thought the white burch looked pretty feminine, and scoffed at my weeping willow tree idea.

I may be wrong as it's the first time I ever thought about a tree being feminine. If such be the case, the oak is certainly masculine. But maybe you have your own ideas on this subject that would make interesting reading for others. If so, let's hear about them.

The Half Price Stores

Oakland, Maryland

Thursday, October 19th.

Dear Customer:

Last week we mailed you our new Fall and Winter Catalogue. We hope you received it, for it contains hundreds of your right-away needs at prices that will mean great savings to you.

Market prices are advancing by leaps and bounds, due to the European situation. Cotton, wool, rubber and leather goods are among the commodities affected worse. These, in turn, are the great staples that comprise practically all of your clothing needs. Certain manufactured goods in these lines are up as much as 30%; others are impossible to obtain at any price.

All this paints a rather gloomy picture. However, what we wish to emphasize is this: we bought our supply of winter merchandise early, long before the price rise began. Our stores are filled to capicity--our warehouses are stocked to overflowing. We guarentee that so long as our present supply lasts, which on some items will be for several months, on others the entire winter, we will not raise our prices, regardless of replacement values. In other words, we have done our utmost to protect you against any rise in living costs until such a time when you will also benefit from the higher prices that will be paid to you for your products.

We refer you once again to the catologue we have mailed you. Read it carefully, for every item represents the best value that can be obtained for the price. If you did not receive our catalogue, or have mislaid it, another may be had for the asking at any of our stores. For your own protection, buy now while our stocks are complete.

Sincerely yours,

HALLOWE'EN GROWS UP

Since Hallowe'en has "grown up," police chiefs write "No depredations" and "No property damage" on their records with amazing frequency following the night's celebrations. Even flat tires, the removal of steps from residences and public buildings, and shattered street lamps, faint echoes from the "good old days," are on the way out. But don't imagine, asserts an article in a recent magazine, that modern youngsters have less rascality in them than on Hallowe'en nights of yore. It is rather that these energies are being better directed.

"The boisterous old spirit is still there, but municipal organizations and social and civic clubs of grown-ups have led it into ball parks, armories, moving picture theatres, and to the main streets of the town, as in Oakland, where a street carnival of fun and entertainment is provided for both young and old and where the spirit of the "witches" is given over to gayety, rather than to destruction of property. The police like the idea, so do the householders, but best of all, the kids like it.

Hallowe'en night programs differ from town to town, but few towns, if any, seem to have a better program than Oakland has provided for the past number of years. A mammoth mummers' parade is staged early in the evening, which is fun for the participants and lots more fun for the on-lookers. After the parade, dancing and other forms of entertainment go on until the younger folks are most too tired to carry out a program of destruction, and go home and go to bed.

And so it goes. There's just as much energy used, just as much noise made, and just as many spooks haunting the streets, but no one gets hurt, the front gate is safe, and everybody has a lot of fun.

Paragraph Opinions . . .

On Carnivals

While on the subject of celebrations, it would be a treat sometime to have a carnival in town minus all the concessions where the citizen doesn't have a chance.

Many times people who look as if they didn't have quite enough to eat, will spend their few dimes in the hope that the wheels of fortune will stop on the right number. But they stop on the wrong numbers a lot more often than on the right ones, for various reasons.

Locally run concessions, good, clean shows, and the usual number of rides and amusements, would be much more satisfactory for everybody concerned, seems to us.

There's really no logical reason why "skin games" should be invited into a community for the sole purpose of fleecing a lot of innocent people, and the sponsoring organization get a percentage of the receipts. Many times, possibly, the sponsoring organization is fleeced of its proper share.

The custom of having carnivals has gone on for years and no reflection upon the sponsoring organizations is intended. But wouldn't it be nice to have something different the next time?

This Writer is Favorable To Highways Built and Maintained By the County.

To the Editor of The Republican.

During a recent trip over more than one hundred miles of Garrett county's lateral roads, I ultimately concluded that county owned road building and general improvement equipment is definitely a valuable asset to our county, both from a constructive and economic standpoint.

The initial outstanding feature of this much denounced machinery is its supplementary assistance in speeding up WPA projects. Not only are the projects' progress increased to a maximum, but by machine-power grading and the distribution of crushed stone from county owned crushers, the completed road is perceptibly more uniform and durable too, thereby reducing maintenance costs to a minimum degree.

Compressed air drills, owned by the county, eliminates hand drilling on most projects, thus enabling WPA employees assigned to this particular job, to engage in other tasks. These drills contribute directly, as do all other units of Garrett's equipment, to the project's progress, far these power drills sink holes in the hardest rock dozens of times faster than would be possible with even the sharpest of hand drills.

This machinery also aids the sponsors (county) by drawing WPA rental fees applicable to county sponsoring expenditures, that otherwise would be a direct outlay of cash. Summarizing tersely, the machinery gives the taxpayers in the locality in which it is operating in cooperation with WPA and elsewhere, better roads, quicker, cheaper.

Everyone's opinion, of course, will not coincide with my own, nevertheless I firmly believe that if WPA continues and the county's equipment is permitted to function unrestrained, virtually every important secondary road will eventually be reconditioned and oiled. I believe, too, that this is the goal that our County Commissioners are conscientiously endeavoring to attain—the oiling, finally, of every heavily traveled lateral road—and I candidly hope they reach their goal—undefeated.

OAKLAND BOOTERS SCORE VICTORY OVER KITZMILLER

Take Fast Game Here 8-0 Last Friday For First Win Since 1931

Coach Thomas Baucom's Oakland High booters defeated Kitzmiller High 8-0 at Oakland last Friday to give the local school its first soccer victory over Kitzmiller since 1931.

Kitzmiller may still carry off honers in the southern division of the county high school league, depending on the outcome with Kempton this week. Kitzmiller defeated Oakland 6-1 earlier in the season.

Oakland, with two victories, one defeat and one tie for its complete league card, is holding a one-point lead over Kitzmiller, which has won two of three starts, but the Kitzmiller kickers can deadlock Oakland by tying Kempton. A Kitzmiller victory over Kempton would give Kitzmiller the division crown by a single point. Kempton was defeated 14-2 in the first meeting of the two schools. Oakland also won from Kempton 10-3 in one meeting and the other resulted in a scoreless tie.

Wolfe missed a penalty kick in the first period of last Friday's game but booted a second penalty try to give Oakland a 1-0 lead at the half. Bolden and Mason booted field goals in the third period and Wolfe's penalty goal and a second goal by Mason in the third period turned the game into a rout.

The girls' fieldball teams of Oakland, Kempton, and Kitzmiller are running a close race for the southern division honors. Oakland's completed card shows two victories, one defeat and one tie, defeating Kempton 12-0 and 12-10, tieing Kitzmiller 6-6 after bowing to that foe 8-4. Kempton downed Kitzmiller 12-2 in the first meeting. A Kempton victory over Kitzmiller or a tie will give the title to Oakland.

Accident High's soccer team seems sure to take the northern division title from Friendsville and Grantsville, while Friendsville fieldball team appears to be leading.

Work On Savage River Dam Is Expected To Start This Week

The Commission itself will continue its headquarters in the Liberty Trust Building at Cumberland where F. A. Wolfhope, auditor, will be stationed.

Services next Sunday at Gnegy and Red House churches at the usual time. In the sermon, the pastor will endeavor to show why it seems so difficult for Christian believers to be sure of the correct answer to the question suggested by the Epistle for the Day: "What is God's will?"

St. Paul felt very sure about God's will, what the Lord and Giver of life expected of him, and could be counted on to do for him in the days to come. Never did Paul consult fortune-tellers and witches, palmists and tealeaf readers, or others who find it so easy to fool worried men and women. "Blessed Assurance!" The blind Fanny Crosby sang it into the hearts of multitudes during her lifetime. Paul cherished a joyous Christian experience because he was careful to avoid the common faults of those who become anxious and fearful about the future.

LOOKING FORWARD

By FRANKLYN WALTMAN

Publicity Director, Republican National Committee

(This is the second of several articles in which Mr. Waltman gives his impressions of a recent trip across the country).

Generally speaking, the farmers of the United States are in revolt against President Roosevelt and the New Deal. There is nothing violent about their attitude. On the contrary, it is a quiet but deep-seated resentment which bespeaks a resolute determiuation to get rid of an Administration that has done irreparable harm to the agricultural community.

Results of last November's elections clearly indicated that Mr. Roosevelt and the New Deal had lost the support of a majority of the farmers. This was true in Kansas, Iowa, down-state Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Wyoming, Idaho and the Dakotas, an area constituting America's bread basket.

The sentiment which last November spelled out Republican victories in those states has not changed. If anything, hostility to the New Deal has become greater. At least, according to all accounts, it has been far more outspoken this summer than it was a year ago.

Low Farm Prices

What are the reasons for this hostility in rural sections toward the New Deal? Primarily, the low level of farm prices is at the bottom of dissatisfaction with the New Deal. This is just another way of saying that the New Deal has failed to solve agriculture's problem. Despite the billions of dollars paid out by the New Deal in various forms of agricultural subsidies, the grim fact remains that farm prices now are around their 1933 levels.

The feeling among farmers generally seems to be that they have been worse off under the New Deal than in the previous six-year period, despite farm subsidies. Statisties on farm income of the Department of Agriculture bear out this contention. Farmers say that if they could go back to the price levels of the twenties, they would gladly forego hand-outs from the Government.

"Of course, I take the A.A.A. checks but I know it is wrong and that we are getting nowhere," is a common complaint heard from farmers throughout the bread-basket States. Incidentally many farmers apparenttly resent the New Deal efforts to make them wards of the Government. They insist in conversation that they desire only a fair price for their products and do not wish to be treated as privileged beneficiaries of the Federal Treasury.

Futility of A.A.A. Shown

The futility of New Deal efforts to control farm prices and production by acreage restriction is obvious on all sides in the farm belt. Driving from Lincoln to Omaha, Nebraska, in a temperature of 106, with a hot wind swaying the tasseling corn, we realized how puny were the efforts of men to dictate the yield of the earth.

Yet man himself refuses to be regimented by the Washington theorists, who seem to think that the yield of an acre of corn is always the same. Farmers have learned to plant their rows of corn closer together since acreage restriction commenced. Those close to railroads now make a greater use of fertilizer. Those more distant cannot afford it, so they are penalized by the New Deal program.

But the greatest boon of all, under an acreage reduction program, is the use of hybrid seed, which it is reported will increase the yield of an acre of corn by 15 to 25 busels. Many farmers refer to this seed as "high-bred" corn. The fact that Secretary Henry A. Wallace is widely reputed to have a financial interest in a company producing such seeds causes expression of doubts as to his sincerity. It appears to be another New Deal example of not letting your right hand know what your left hand does!

Other Reasons For Hostlity

Failure of the New Deal farm program to work, however, is not the only reason why farmers are sour on the Roosevelt Administration. Industrious, thrifty and frugal by nature, farmers are aghast over New Deal activities in the field of spending, relief and labor relations.

Most farmers see red when WPA is mentioned. They do not object to government relief for those genuinely in distress, but they believe that the WPA in many instances has been made a racket for boondoggling, radicals and those who wish to get out of working. With so much unemployment in the country they cannot understand why it is so difficult for them to get farm help. As for the WPA protest against the 130-hour work-month requirement, most farmers just explode, pointing out that their work-month is twice that long.

Moreover, farmers are becoming spending and debt conscious. They cannot understand how the Federal Government is going to pay out. Already they complain that taxes take whatever small amounts of cash they receive. Not many farmers pay the Federal income taxes, but they have become aware they pay substantial amounts to the Federal Treasury in hidden taxes. State and county taxes are increasing, primarily because of new undertakings initiated by the New Deal in Washington and farmers pay these taxes.

These are the things one hears talking with the dirt farmers of the country. These are the reasons why the farmers are in revolt against the Roosevelt Administration. One hears also a great deal about good neighbor policies which should start at home. But more about this next week.

GRANTSVILLE

Propose Cemetery Organization

An unexpected fund from a homecoming picnic back in 1919 may be used in establishing a cemetery organization for the Grantsville community. A group of local veterans met Friday night in the fire department headquarters for the purpose of seeing if by cooperation this goal could be attained. Cemetery organizations in other places are to be looked into with a view to establishing the best kind here, under the veterans' sponsorship, and one that will meet all legal requirements. Charles O. Keller was appointed to sound out the present picnic fund committee and put the proposition up to them.

Officers elected at Friday night's meeting were: President, A. Claude Stanton; vice president, Fay L. Miller, and secretary-treasurer, George W. Diefenbach. Others present were Noah Frickey, George Simpson, Dr. T. O. Broadwater, N. U. Broadwater and L. B. Schaefer.

In cooperation with J. Alfred Fisher, Jr., chairman, Fire Prevention and Inspection committee, of the Maryland State Firemen's Association, of Annapolis, through the County Board of Education, which brought the matter to the attention of the local school, a Fire Prevention Week essay contest was conducted in the high school by Miss Mabel Schlossnagle, English instructor. Ninety students from the Freshman I-A and IIB sections and the Sophomore II-B class submitted essays on the subject, "Fire Prevention in the Home." Piecrust

Few creations of the kitchen are pointed to with such pride—or on occasion viewed with such alarm—as pastry. For when pastry is good it is very good indeed, but when it is bad it can be practically inedible.

As long as tastes vary there can never be one formula for piecrust that suits all. But a crust that is medium rich will please most of the pie eaters most of the time. For a double crust pie, measure out 1½ cups of sifted flour, from 5 to 6 tablespoons of fat; ¾ to 1 teaspoon of salt, and about 2½ tablespoons of water.

Piecrust may be mixed either with all the ingredients cold, or it may be mixed by the boiling water method. The above proportions have been worked out for the first method—the one used by a majority of cooks.

First step in mixing by this method is to cut the solid fat into the flour and salt in order to divide the fat into small particles, to coat these particles with flour. Use a pastry cutter for this, or a fork, a couple of knives, or the fingertips. But when doing mixing with the fingertips, work quickly so the fat will not get too soft with the warmth of the fingers. Have the fat cold to begin with.

Continue to cut the fat into the flour until the mixture has a granular appearance, with the size of the grains about the same as those in coarse corn meal. Then begin to add the final ingredient, water.

Only a small amount of water is "enough" for a piecrust. A little more than enough, or a little less can make the difference between good and poor pastry. Too much water makes the crust tough. Too little water results in a crumbly, heavy crust.

Add the cold water, a little at a time, by sprinkling it over the surface of the flour and fat mixture. Combine each dampened part into dough, then push this aside and add water to the rest of the fat and flour, a portion at a time, until the mixture becomes a stiff dough.

Roll out a little more than half the dough on a lightly floured board. When it is large enough to line a pie-pan, fold it in half and slide it onto the pan. An easy way see if the dough is large enough for the pan, is to turn the pan upside down and judge by that. Pat the dough lightly to get rid of air bubbles that may have formed between the crust and the pan. If the crust is to be baked before the filling goes into it, prick the dough every two or three inches.

When the crust is baked first, many women like to put it on the outside of the piepan, so it cannot shrink out of shape. Similarly, tart shells may be baked on the outside of muffin pans. About tthe minutes in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) is enough to brown either lightly.

Custard type pies, made with a pre-baked crust, need about 25 minutes in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for cooking, to set the custard. Fruit pies with a pre-baked crust need from 25 to 30 minutes in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees to 400 degrees F.) Double-crust fuit pies without the crust baked first need about 35 minutes in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) or a little longer if the fruit is one that doesn't cook tender in that time.

If more dough is made up ahead of time than can be used at once, it may be kept over a day or two in the refrigerator. It will be easier to roll out if it is taken out of the refrigerator a little ahead of time to let it "warm up" a bit.

DIARY OF THE WAR

Condensed For Readers Of The Republican

FRIDAY—The French dynamited Rhine River bridges at three places. The Nazis prepared to unleash her might on foes. A British vessel was sunk by a German sub.

SATURDAY — Lindbergh favored Mr. Hoover's plan for ban on arms to belligerent nations. A British warship, costing ten millions, was sent to the bottom with 830 of 1200 of the crew missing. Three German submarines were reported sunk. The lull in military activity on the western front continued.

SUNDAY—After a second conference with Russian officials the Finnish delegation left Moscow. It was believed Russia had asked for concessions which the Finns do not feel they can grant. Turkey and Russia signed a pact providing for protection of Russian interests in the Black Sea and the Dardanelles. Russia in turn was not to fight along with Germany. It was reported there were two million Germans on the Western front.

MONDAY—Britain concentrated on U-boat hunt. Three more allied merchant ships were sunk by Germans. Fog and rain checked activity on Western front.

TUESDAY—German bombers raided British naval base near Edinburg, Scotland, hit one cruiser; four German planes were brought down. Germans reportedly drove the French back on the Western front and occupied French soil for first time; appeared to be beginning of general attack. In Washington administration leaders agreed to strike the 90-day credit provisions from the neutrality bill. Negotiations still continued between Russia, Finland and Turkey.

WEDNESDAY—German planes twice raided Scapa Flow base on Britain's fleet, damaging one ship; four German planes were shot down. The French reported sharp infantry engagements on western front with no change in positions. Heads of northern countries, Norway, Finland, Sweden, etc., prepare for important conference on European troubles. The Turks refuse to agree to Russian terms, negotiations break up and minister leaves for home. It was disclosed that the British Royal Oak had been sunk while at anchor in Scapa Flow Bay. They also estimated that between one-fourth and one-third of Germany's submarines had been destroyed since the war began. Thirteen were sunk, five seriously damaged and possibly others damaged.

THURSDAY—President Roosevelt barred belligerant submarines from United States ports and territorial waters to protect peace, commerce and security. In Britain they were claiming victory over German planes. In Berlin they were decorating the heroes who sank the British battleship. In Turkey they expected to sign a mutual assistance pact with Britain and France in a day or two. The German envoy left for home.

HUNTERS BEING ASKED TO BE CAREFUL IN FORESTS

State Game Warden Issues Instructions Not To Shoot Near CCC Camps

An appeal is being made at this time by E. Lee LeCompte, State Game Warden, to hunters throughout the state to be careful where they shoot, as there are several CCC camps located in Garrett county and the young men of these camps are out in the woods much of the time.

Hunters are being asked not to shoot toward a CCC camp or in the vicinity where men are working, and are being especially warned to look before shooting. Superintendents of all CCC camps have received word from headquarters to post warning signs about one-half mile in all directions surrounding said camps and where men are working.

Cooperation is also asked to prevent the "red menace" of fire from destroying the forest areas. Dropping matches or emptying a pipe or throwing a lighted cigar or cigaret or the ground may cause a fire unless the person is sure that the fire is out. Preventing forest fires will preserve wildlife and covers and food on which wildlife must depend.

The upland game season opened here on November 1 when rabbits, pheasants, quail, ruffed grouse, wild turkey and woodcock, and squirrel may be hunted. Over 350 licenses have been issued thus far from the office of the clerk of the Circuit Court, which is several hundred less than the same period last year. The season will close November 30.

In other counties the upland game season does not open until November 15. The deer season this year runs five days, opening the first Monday in December.

Additional Information Concerning First Well Drilling At Accident

C. F. Kimmell, of Owensburg, Ky., who had first-hand knowledge of the drilling of the first well at Accident, writes the following account to The Republican, which corrects some of the statements made in the article appearing in the issue of October 5 of The Republican:

I note your statement regarding the first well drilled at Accident, which I wish to correct. This well was commenced in the fall of 1920 and was drilled to a total depth of 5386 feet, and we expected at that time to reach the Oriskany sand at approximately six thousand feet, but on account of the loss of tools in the hole at that depth we were unable to proceed further. The leases at that time were acquired through the efforts of J. W. Kimmell, my brother, at my request and the well was financed through my friends and associates in Pittsburgh, namely, Norwood Johnson, R. W. Hannan, Charles B. Hall, John Beck, and myself.

The well was drilled by Clint McCall, contractor, of Pittsburgh.

These statements are made for the benefit and information of those who are now interested and others who may become interested in the development in that vicinity.

ONE little thing will illustrate the unsparing care we're spending to make this 1940 Buick the best car we've ever built.

Take the springs — not simply the great soft-action spirals that cushion the car, but even the valve springs.

After they're shaped and tempered and finished there's likely to be here and there a tiny scratch on the surface of the steel.

Such a scratch conceivably might start a fracture. So we shot-blast our springs — to heal such tiny scratches, "peening" the surface in miniature like hammered silver.

All through this massive, powerful, beautiful car you'll find special precaution like that.

For example, we used to balance by weight all sets of parts in our tornadic Dynaflash straight-eight engine, to cancel out even a hint of "rough."

We do that still, but now we do more. On special machines we electrically balance this great engine to micropoised perfection after assembly, paring metal if need be to smooth its velocity to velvet.

Seat angles, pedal positions, shock absorber travel-are, brake areas, control tensions — every detail comes under special study.

When the experimental models had done their stuff on the General Motors proving ground, we turned 'em over to sharpshooters to punish, over thousands of miles of bad roads and good.

Out of it all comes an automobile we're mighty proud to offer — an unbeatable travelmate you will be thrilled to own.

Come drive it — see how excitingly close steel and rubber and glass can come to being alive!

PRIZE LIST COMPLETE FOR HALLOWE'EN FESTIVITIES

Ninety Prizes, Including $30 In Cash To Be Given Masqueraders Tuesday Night

PARADE STARTS AT SEVEN

With a list of more than 90 prizes, including more than $30 in cash to be distributed next Tuesday evening during the annual Hallowe'en festivities in Oakland, everything seems to be in readiness for a mammoth Hallowe'en parade and the merrymaking on the main streets of the town, which will follow the parde.

Merchants and other business and professional men again cooperated with members of the Oakland fire department in continuing the custom in having an attractive prize list for those participating in the mummers' procession and attending the masquerade dance later in the Manhattan Hotel. With the exception of last year, merchants have contributed prizes for the past eight or nine years.

This year, however, prizes are to be awarded at the discretion of the judges for any unusual or attractive costume, group, etc., or outstanding attraction. This is being done so that those who have something of merit will be rewarded for their efforts. $5 will be awarded to the largest group; $3 for second. There will also be prizes for bands participating.

Parade At Seven O'Clock

The parade is scheduled to begin at seven o'clock, and those taking part are to assemble on Oak street, Alder street, east of Fourth street and intermediate sections of Fourth and Fifth streets, around 6:30 o'clock. The line of parade will include the downtown section, as in former years, dishanding on Second street where the prizes will be awarded. There are also to be several awards at the dance.

All festivities will take place on Second street, between Green street and the railroad crossing, which will be roped off. Oakland's Hallowe'en celebration usually attracts five hundred or more to take part in the parade and many hundreds more to watch the fun and merrymaking.

Howard Naylor Is New Scoutmaster of Troop 1

Howard Naylor, a former Eagle Scout of Oakland Troop No. 1, and now established in Oakland in the A. D. Naylor and Company hardware and implement store, was named Scoutmaster of Troop 1 at a meeting of the troop committee last Thursday evening in the office of Dr. W. W. Grant, chairman.

Mr. Naylor was graduated from West Virginia Wesleyan College, in Buckhannon in June. He has retained his interest in scouting since he left the troop to attend college and since his appointment has already made plans for fall and winter meetings of the troop.

A Hallowe'en party with the Girl Scouts as guests has been arranged for Friday evening.

Mr. Naylor succeeds Howard C Riggs as Scoutmaster. Mr. Riggs resigned two weeks ago, after having been in charge of the troop for about a year.

ABSENCE OF DIPHTHERIA DOESN'T MEAN SECURITY

Menace Of Disease Always Present; Children Should Get Toxoid

Dr. H. R. DuPuy, county health officer, declared this morning that a rumor that one of the children in the Oakland Elementary school has diphtheria was entirely unfounded as far as his department knew. Repeated laboratory tests have shown only the presence of the germ for scarlet fever, he stated.

Dr. DuPuy said there had been no reported cases of diphtheria in Garrett county for the year 1939. "This should not lull us into any feeling of security," he pointed out. "The menace of diphtheria is always present and the onset of winter makes it even more serious. Our present low rate of diphtheria is probably due to the number of children who have been immunized against this disease with toxoid. This vaccine should be given to every child of nine months of age and everyone should know how to obtain it."

Dr. DuPuy also pointed out that it takes at least a month for this immunity to develon after the child has received the vaccine, and that giving toxoid after a child is exposed to diphtheria was useless, as the child would have the disease before his immunity could rise enough to prevent it. "Now is the time for every youngster to have his toxoid if he has not already had it," Dr. DuPuy concluded.

POCKETBOOKS FOUND IN D ISCARDED CLOTHING OF LATE JESSE LORAW HAD $1,400; ABOUT TO BE BURNED

Fifty-Four Claim Relationship At Orphans' Court Hearing On Tuesday Morning

FINDER IS BARRED FROM PARTICIPATION IN FUND

An old pair of pantaloons, about to be thrown away and burned, were resurrected from the out-of-the-way place in which they had been deposited and in preparing to wash them, two pocketbooks or billfolds were discovered in secret pockets in the legs of the pantaloons, which contained the sum total of $1,100 in gold certificates and other bills of medium denominations, and the finder probably will not receive a cent for her discovery and honesty in turning the money over to the administrator of the dead man's estate.

This was the experience of Mrs. Sylvia Stewart, East Oakland.

On March 24, Jesse Loraw, 78, who had been living somewhat like a hermit at Crellin, became paralyzed. No one closely related seemed willing to want to take the responsibility of caring for him, so Mrs. Stewart, a niece by marriage, had him brought to her home in Oakland. He died the following day.

His trousers were thrown in an out-of-the-way place. In the weeks that followed E. Ray Jones, Oakland attorney, qualified as administrator of the man's estate, which apparently consisted of only about $400 in bank. The claims of relatives were few.

Just the other day Mrs. Stewart prepared to destroy the trousers by burning them, but thought perhaps if they were washed she might use them to advantage by making them over for some of her children.

Then came the surprise.

Mrs. Stewart discovered the pocketbooks—one in each leg of the garment—one carefully bound with cord; the other tied between two strips of leather. Without opening the pocketbooks she took them to the office of Mr. Jones where they were opened and the money revealed.

There was a hearing in the Orphans' Court on Tuesday, and fifty-four persons claimed relationship to the dead man, according to the record in the office of the register of wills in Oakland. A few of these will probably be disqualified becuase of the lack of proof of relationship. Mrs. Stewart, who is a niece of the dead man by marriage, will not figure in the distribution of the money, but her children will receive their father's share of the fund.

At the time of his death there were listed as surviving relatives four half-brothers and one half-sister. Those who knew Mr. Loraw stated that his wife died several years ago in apparent poverty and that Mr. Loraw had evidently gone hungry upon numerous occasions. He was a retired mill worker of the Crellin community.

How long he had carried this small fortune around with him sewed in his trousers can only be surmised.

Robert Rudy's swimming merit badge was approved and Lewis Naylor and Robert Stevenson qualified for the rank of Life Scout, the next rank under that of an Eagle.

MOTOR VEHICLE TAXES WERE DUE OCTOBER 1ST

State Ruling Is Made By Attorney General's Office In Baltimore

Deputy Attorney General William L. Henderson has ruled that with three exceptions, taxes on motor vehicles in that State will become "due and owing" on October 1 of each year.

The ruling as given to John M. Green, treasurer of Anne Arundel county, who inquired if a new act of the General Assembly requires the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles to refuse to issue 1940 license plates unless the 1940 taxes on motor vehicles have been paid.

The new law prohibits the Commissioner from issuing the plates unless taxes "due and owing" are paid, while the old law specified "due and in arrears."

Henderson held that "due and owing" means the time when interest begins to accrue. "It would seem that the expression 'due and payable' would have been used if it had been the intention to adopt January 1 as the deadline," Henderson said.

Exceptions from the ruling are Baltimore City, Baltimore county and Anne Arundel county. In Baltimore City the taxes are "due and owing July 1; ia Baltimore county, June 1, and Anne Arundel county, April 1.

The automobile tax books for 1939 taxes has not yet been compiled, and therefore the treasurer has not been able to send out any automobile tax bills.

Swanton Man Injured In Mine Work Near Barton

Floyd Bittinger, 47, Swanton, was injured Monday morning at the Miller Coal mine, near Barton.

It was understood the injured man was in the act of starting a fire in the forge at the mine when an explosion occurred. It was thought the explosion was caused by several dynamite caps in the fire pit. It was not known how they came to be there.

Bittinger was taken to Reeve's clinic, Westernport, where Dr. Raymond Reeves treated him for injuries to the arms, chest, leg and about the face and eyes. He was taken to his home after receiving treatment.

Thunder Storms Experienced

Garrett county escaped the violent wind and rain storms that swept thru parts of the state near Baltimore, during the week, but did experience a number of thunder storms, Friday, Saturday and early Wednesday morning.

As a result the temperature has been lowered, but the expected cold weather that usually follows thunder storms at this time of the year, has been missing. There was hail in some sections but no damage was caused.

Archbishop Curley Pays A Surprise Visit To Oakland

An unheralded visit was paid to Oakland Tuesday by the Most Rev. Michael J. Curley, D.D., Archbishop of Baltimore-Washington. He paid a short visit to the Parochial school and after speaking for a few minutes with the students during the noon hour he declared a half-day holiday. He then spent a short time in St. Peter's church, but missed Rev. Fr. W. F. Sauer, pastor, who was in Baltimore on business.

The archbishop then continued his journey to Cumberland where he spent the night.

Over Half Million Approved For Sewing Projects In State

Expenditure of more than half a million dollars in the operation of sewing rooms throughout Maryland to provide clothing and other materials for needy persons has been approved by President Roosevelt.

The expenditure, totalling $656,266, would be made from work projects of WPA officials. All of the sewing rooms would be required to produce articles required by needy persons but to do so in such a manaer as would not interfere with private business.

The sewing project in Oakland opened again this week.

Transferring Game Wardens Is New Policy of State Department

Transfer of Richard S. Browning, deputy game warden of Garrett county, to Allegany county, and Joseph A. Minke, of Allegany county, to Garrett county, is in line with the new state wide policy adopted by the state conservation commission at its last meeting, according to Fulcher P. Smith, commission member, of Cumberland.

"We feel that it will improve the service and be of benefit both to the public and to the wardens if they are shifted about occasionally. Under the new policy even our best wardens will be shifted around. When a man stays year after year in a community he is bound to get the ill will of some groups which will try to hinder his work." Mr. Smith said Browning's and Minke's transfer is one of seven or eight planned in the state. The transfer orders are to be issued by E. Lee LeCompte, state game warden. Mr. Browning began his duties in Allegany county this week. Mr. Minke has located in Grantsville where he will make his headquarters.

CARNATION MILK COMPANY PLANS FOR STATION HERE

Would Develop Dairy Industry And Give Farmers Additional Income; Survey To Be Made

WOULD BE PART OF BIG PROGRAM OF EXPANSION

Prospects of a milk receiving station for the Carnation Company being established in Oakland, which would develop the dairy industry in Garrett county and give farmers an additional regular income, seemed particularly bright following a meeting of about forty farmers and business men in the City Hall, Oakland, last night.

The proposed station is merely part of a large expansion program being conducted by the Carnation company, and the results of surveys now being conducted and to be conducted within the next two weeks will determine whether or not the company will go ahead in this section.

The plans call for the erection of a condensing plant at Clarksburg, W. Va., at a cost of $250,000, with two receiving stations, one at Cameron, W. Va., and the other at Oakland at costs of about $25,000. The Oakland station would be center for Preston county, W. Va., Somerset county, Pa., and Garrett county.

To Make Survey

Oakland business men and farmers attending last night's meeting enthusiastically agreed to make a survey among farmers to determine the number of cows milked in 1939, the number they contemplate milking in 1910, and the number they would milk, if they had an unlimited market for their product. Other questions sought the information as to the distance of farms from all-weather roads, and whether the farmers would give the company at least a 60-day trial on the sale of their milk beginning within 30 days after the station is ready to operate, and similar data. The questionaire to be presented to the farmers is not a contract, for the company requires no contracts, but is to give the company a basis on which to make a decision.

The plan was outlined last night by L. S. Hartley, agricultural agent of the B. and O. railroad, and Vern P. Melhuish, field representative for the Carnation company. Mr. Melhuish declared his company was looking over the field because his company was expanding and that the territory here looked promising. "We are entering the field as an additional market and are not trying to tear down any business already established," Mr. Melhuish said. "We want farmers to increase their herds to supply an increased demand. We wouldn't be interested at all if we felt that the milk supply now available wouldn't be increased by farmers, who desire increased earnings."

Committee Named

At another meeting this morning an Oakland business men's committee was named to include H. C. Riggs, F. C. Kley, Emroy Bolden, L. M. Fraley, Julius Renninger, Paul B. Naylor, Delbert Davis, Alva Gortner, H. C. Sincell, Raymond Houck, and I. R. Rudy. Farmers meetings are to be held within the next week and the exact date and time will be announced within the next few days. Meetings are to be held at Accident, Oakland, Red House, Friendsville, Bittinger, Grantsville, White Church and Swanton, and John H. Carter, county agent, will assist the business men's committee in any way he can in making the survey.

Mr. Melhuish estimated last night that the prospect of 10,000 pounds of milk for the first few days after the receiving station would be open would be satisfactory, with the hope that it would increase to 25,000 pounds daily the first year, and 50,000 pounds daily the second year. John H. Carter, county agent, said there were 9,000 cows in the county now, two years old and over, that the territory would support many more, and the number could be more than doubled if farmers were assured of a permanent outlet for their milk supply.

A large corps of volunteer workers started out Wednesday at Clarksburg to conduct a swift survey of all farmers in their territory to determine the potential supply of milk for the condensery there.

The company would collect milk daily, paying farmers twice monthly, and that all the farmers need supply are milk cans, a strainer and a place for cooling their milk. The company does ask for clean, sweet milk, but does not require a city inspection. Carnation company is now paying $1.40 per 100 pounds for 3½ percent milk, it was stated. This price is subject to change, based on the Chicago butter market. The price, however, will always be a third more than the sour cream market.

The Carnation company has 56 plants in the United States and two in Canada, and another one is opening next month in North Carolina.

Those present at last night's meeting gave 100 percent approval of the plan and offered their help in the survey. It is hoped as many farmers as possible will attend these meetings to simplify the completion of the survey. The results of the latter will be announced when completed.

Buckwheat Cakes

Ever since about 1931 I have observed that a number of women have a peculiar attitude when it comes to making buckwheat cakes. In spite of the desires of the male portion of the household, many housewives find excuses of some sort to drop cakes from the menu and substitute eggs and cereal. Occasionally, when the demand gets perisitent enough, there will be cakes made from a prepared mixture, but mostly it takes the threat of a good "tanning" or the brandishing of the axe, to get buckwheat cakes made.

At a time like that the woman's heart is never in her baking and the results are usually as follows:

Cakes not brown.
Cakes too soggy.
Cakes stick to griddle.
Cakes too thick or too thin.

And as a result, the remaining batter goes out the window, the housewife hides in the closet and the male drives off to a friendly neighbor's home where the man in some mysterious manner has got the upper hand and has his buckwheat regular—and good ones too. These filling stations, however, are too few and far between.

There have been many remedies suggested. Legislatures might pass laws providing penalties for not making them when the buckwheat is as available as it is in Garrett county. Jail sentences preferred over fines, as a fine would eventually come from the man of the house anyway.

Someone suggested last year that a chart be placed on the kitchen wall and the housewife given a gold star every morning there was buckwheat cakes—with a smile. Another suggested having a flagpole on the house and running up a suitable banner each time the cakes were "just right". But gold stars didn't have much attraction since we were off the gold standard, and the flagpole idea didn't seem to create any rivalry among the women, as they all apparently belonged to the Amalgamated Society for the Suppression of heavy laden stomachs.

A former resident of the buskwheat country wrote last year, "When I was a youngster buckwheat pancakes were a regular fare from the time we put on red flannel underwear until the time we took it off. But in all the years since I went away from home buckwheat cakes have been too infrequently a part of my fare."

Judging from other remarks it seems that this determination against buckwheat cakes is just a modern affliction, just like those things women call hats that they now wear on certain parts of their heads. Or maybe the women think that in order to have buckwheat cakes they must wear red flannel underwear, but such is not the case as the boss editor has buckwheat cakes a lot of times and never yet have I even suspicioned that he red flanneled his way through the winter.

It is just barely possible that the modern determination against buckwheat is because of the fact that once one starts having buckwheat cakes she must keep it up day after day so that the "starter" remains fresh. A daily supply of buckwheat cakes over a week's or month's period may be a little hard on the stomach lining, I'll admit, so I am suggesting a remedy this week that may revolutionize the buckwheat industry, reduce divorce hereabouts and bring estranged couples back into each others arms.

What is needed in each section is a "community starter" where any taxpayer could come any evening and get his starter fresh for the next morning's cakes. Or better still have someone make a survey of the approximate amount of batter needed each morning, and make up the entire batch in a community kettle. Then the citizen could get his crock full each morning he wanted cakes.

The Civie club once sponsored the placing of a public horse trough. Later it was changed to a drinking fountain. Maybe it, or the town council, or the Rotary club, of the Knights of Buckwheat could sponsor the project. Or maybe the WPA, since they sponsor most anything anyone asks them to.

A plan such as this ought to eliminate many objections of having buckwheat cakes. Give this a try and if the cakes still stick to the griddle this time try throwing the wife out the window, and give the batter a good "beating".

If that doesn't work, you'd better learn to like eggs.

STATISTICS TO CONSIDER

The Washington county (Md.) statisticians, from whom the writer of "Down the Spillway" in the Baltimore Sun got his information several weeks ago which led him to say that "Garrett County was decadent; that its mines and forests being depleted, it couldn't support its population," should not concern themselves any longer with worry about Garrett county—they should begin to worry a little about their own county.

The statisticians down there evidently never figured that Garrett county had any agricultural land. Imagine their surprise then, when they learned (if they have learned) that Garrett county's beef cattle were winners over Washington county beef cattle last week at the Hagerstown Fair, for the second consecutive year, and that all of those entered from this county placed in the blue ribbon class.

If it's statistics one wants, here are a few listed by the University of Maryland Extension Service in relation to the other 22 counties of the State:

3rd in acreage and 2nd in yield in potatoes.

12th in egg production.

7th in number of cows—9,129.

2nd in number of sheep—13,000.

9th in number of farms.

If that isn't enough, Garrett county produces one-tenth of all maple sugar produced in the United States.

It raises first-class buckwheat.

Its climate is unexcelled and its recreational possibilities are unlimited.

Garrett county's soil ranks with the best in the State.

No statistics of course are available about the comparison of people in the counties, but its certain that Garrett countians will stand well above the average in any way they might be compared.

No Change In Tax Rate

The Town Council, meeting in special session Wednesday night, set the tax rate for the 1939-10 taxes at 80 cents per $100, the same as the previous year. MT. LAKE PARK

Somehow we always breathe a sigh of relief in Mountain Lake Park when Hallowe'en is over. Not that there is ever anything very terrible happens or that witches and the like, but it's just a sorta nervous feeling. Last year things were peaceful and quiet. A few tick-tackers here and there; some chairs hung on trees and garbage cans moved a mile away from their rightful location. And so this season we are hoping it will be no worse. After all it is a night to celebrate, even as Bobby Burns does lay down Hallowe'en pranks at the doors of the unenlightened people. All we can say is that there must be a powerful lot of those folks.

The Park Improvement Club and town officials want to thank the people of the Park for their cooperation in keeping Crystal Springs and its surroundings clean. Without this cooperation there would be ilttle use to beautify. If we all keep this in mind not only as regards the spring, but all over the Park it will be worth the time and trouble of all those responsible for this work.

Better be careful where you cut down trees. Be sure it's on your own property or that you have permission if it is not. The Association has given notice that there must be no trespassing on their property and the town feels the same way. Heretofore there has been little or no attention paid as to whose trees were cut or where. Now it's different and it is a pretty good law. Too many trees are being cut in the Park. Our trees are a big asset to the Park.

Remember when we said that all the housewives were going to the cider mills? Well, today two very nice ladies, Mrs. Mary May and Mrs. A. V. Schaefer, had taken a load of Grimes Golden and another apple of the sweet variety to the mill. When they returned they brought us a jug of the prettiest vintage you ever saw and the taste was even prettier. Well, maybe we will get some place yet with this column. First, it was flowers; now its cider. Wonder what would be our next best bet to praise or talk about.

Open House At The Parsonage

Sunday afternoon from four to six, Rev. Garrett Evans and Mrs. Evans held open house at the Methodist parsonage. The home was attractively decorated with autumn leaves and other fall foliage. A table of lovely appointments in the dining room was in charge of several hostesses. Mrs. W. Blake Love poured tea and Mrs. E. L. Cannon served coffee. Cake was served also by those assisting: Mrs. B. F. Selby, of Oakland; Mrs. Dorothy Hamill, Miss Nell Lee and Mrs. Edgar Smith were the aides. Close to eighty guests were received by Rev. and Mrs. Evans.

The many friends of Jack O'Donnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward O'Donnell, who is a student at Antioch College, will be interested to learn that he has been sent to the department store of Woodward and Lothrop, Washington, for ten weeks of service work in the store. This is a requirement of the college which is a cooperative school. Mr. O'Donnell's parents are residents of Washington.

Preparations are going forward for the big turkey dinner to be held on Thursday, November 2, at the Methodist church.

The Missionary society of the Methodist church will meet on Friday afternoon at 2:30 with Mrs. W. B. Love.

Britain, France and Turkey were mapping a program for defense in the near East. A German raiding plane was shot down off the Scottish coast.

TUESDAY—An American ship was captured by Germans and taken to Russian port, cargo said to have been declared contraband. British report three German submarines sunk by planes and warships; two British merchantmen were sunk by Germans with fourteen men lost. The French revealed sharp patrol fighting on the Western Front, ending five-day calm. Diplomats see better relations between Italy, France and Britain as result of Balkan nations bloc. SAVE-A-LIFE CAMPAIGN BEING CONDUCTED HERE

Annual Inspection Of Automobiles Got Under Way Yesterday; To Continue Until Dec. 15

1200 STATIONS IN STATE

The annual save-a-life automobile inspection campaign in Maryland got under way yesterday. The inspection is made for faulty brakes, lights, steering or other mechanical defects, and will continue until December 15.

During the past eleven years there has always been a fifteen-day extension period granted to persons who have failed to comply with this law, but Motor Commissioner W. Lee Elgin has decided that the extension in the past has just meant that a certain group of people put this safety measure off until the very last minute. This year there will be no extension of time.

Approximately twelve hundred inspection stations are located throughout the State to make examination of cars and trucks, and a number of them are in Garrett county.

"Maryland's highway fatalities rank among the highest in the country," the Commissioner declared. "This condition is to be deplored. I cannot impress too strongly upon all owners the importance of a stringent campaign."

It will be impossible to secure new license plates unless motorists can show proof when making application for them that they have fully complied with the rules of inspection.

Last year more than 65,000 owners in Maryland failed to have their automobiles inspected by the time the campaign and inspection period had expired. Several thousand of these were summoned into the office of the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles to explain their delinquency.

Mr. Elgin pointed out that the campaign was designed to protect the careful motorist and to force thoughtless ones to protect themselves.

The examination is to concentrate upon brakes, lights horn, steering mechanism, windshield wipers, mirrors, tires and windshields, and any automobile or truck found unsafe or with a mechanical defect must be put in safe condition before an official inspection sticker will be attached on the machine.

The number of inspection stations has been decreased this year, as several stations that passed out stickers without any examinations being made, have been taken from the list, according to Mr. Elgin.

203 Are Examined In Two-Day Orthopedic Clinic In Oakland

Two hundred three patients were examined last Wednesday and Thursday during the semi-annual orthopedic clinic, conducted in the Health Office, Court House, Oakland, by Dr. George O. Eaton, Baltimore bone specialist. Dr. Eaton has been Dr. George E. Bennett's assistant for a number of this year's and last year's clinics and last week handled the entire local examinations.

Ninety-nine were examined on the first day and 104 on the last day of the clinic. Sixty patients were new cases, none of them considered of a serious nature. Dr. Eaton recommended for hospitalization six adults and ten children.

The orthopedic clinics are held under the direction of the Maryland League for Crippled Children and the organization is nssisted here by the orthopedic committee of the Oakland Civic Club.

Those connected wtih the local health department and the orthopedic staff members were guests of the Civic Club at luncheon on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Harry White.

The program marks the annual Achievement Day and Maryland's part in the program is from 12:45 to 1:15. Miss Dorothy Emerson, Girls' Club Agent, will talk with the two blue ribbon style revue girls, Miss DiGuistino and Miss Mildred Oursler, of Anne Arundel county. E. G. Jenkins, Boys' Club Agent, will talk of 4-H achievements with George Lechlider, of Montgomery county.

Future Farmers Arrange Annual Father-Son Banquet For Friday

The fourteenth annual father and son banquet of the Oakland Chapter Future Farmers of America, will be held in the Oakland High school auditorium, on Friday evening, November 3, at 7:30 o'clock.

Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of the University of Maryland, had been expecting to address the gathering but recent events prevent his attendance, and he is sending a speaker from the University of Marylnad.

The dinner will be served by the Home Economics department under the direction of Miss Martha Hamstead and Miss Palma Lucente, instructors. About 130 people are expected.

ANNUAL RED CROSS ROLL CALL BEGINS NOVEMBER 11

Some Community Chairmen Are Named By County Chairman

A number of roll call chairmen who will serve in various communities during the Red Cross Roll Call, which gets under way on Armistice Day, Saturday, November 11, were appointed this week by Mrs. Paul B. Naylor, the county chairman, as follows:

Deer Park, Mrs. Walters; Hoyes, Mrs. W. W. DeWitt; Friendsville, Mrs. Foster Speicher; Selbysport, Miss Inez Friend; Grantsville, Miss Ethel Broadwater; Gormania, Miss Ann Dilgard; Mt. Lake Park, Mrs. Jennie Richardson; Loch Lynn, Mrs. G. L. Sweitzer; Vindex, Mrs. Lester M. Adams; Kitzmiller, Joseph Sollars.

Only two have been appointed in Oakland thus far: Mrs. Frederick A. Thayer, in charge of Oak street; Mrs. Franklin E. Rathbun, the Hill section.

The chairman announced that Red Cross Sunday would be observed in the churches on November 12.

A letter from the national headquarters points out that with Europe at war an entirely different light is placed on the coming roll call. Last April delegates to the national convention in Washington voted for an increase of a million new members as a measure of preparedness for emergency. The letter continues, "That emergency is now here in spite of all our hopes and prayers for peace. The added responsibilities placed on the Red Cross because of the war in Europe—and they have already assumed sizeable proportions and give every indication of becoming greater—make it imperative that a maximum number of people in the United States become Red Cross members."

Health Coordinating Council Holds Initial Meeting

The first meeting of the Garrett County Public Health Coordinating Council was held in the Court House at four o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Those present included Miss Mildred Barton, Agriculture and Home Economics Service; Mr. F. E. Rathbun, Garrett County Board of Education; Mrs. Arthur Naylor, Oakland Parent-Teachers' Association; Miss Gladys Aronhalt, Garrett County Welfare Board; Mr. W. W. Dawson, Oakland Rotary Club; Mrs. Helen Baumgartner, Women's Civic Club; Mrs. E. Z. Tower, Garrett County Chapter American Red Cross; Mrs. Vernie R. Smouse, Business and Professional Women's Club.

The County Health Officer was unanimously elected to be permanent chairman. Dr. E. I. Baumgartner was nominated and elected to represent the physicinns.

A great deal of interest was exhibited by those present and many recommendations were made to the Health Officer. The next meeting will be held at 4 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, December 12.

Winter Visited Here On Tuesday And Left Calling Card

A steady snowfall for about four hours on Tuesday morning threatened to give Garrett county a "white" Hallowe'en, but an afternoon rain caused the snow to disappear, although the weather remained disagreeable and near the freezing point.

It was the first real snow of the season, and about two inches fell here, more being reported in the vicinity of Keyser's Ridge. A few snowflakes were seen in the air on Saturday, October 28, but hardly enough to be noticed.

Sunday was clear and cold with a temperature of 21 degrees being recorded.

ART EXHIBIT ARRANGED FOR NOVEMBER 6, 7 AND 8

Will Be Conducted In The Oakland High School Auditorium

The third annual Garrett County Art Exhibit will be held November 6, 7 and 8 at the Oakland High school auditorium. The exhibit will be open from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m. on Monday and Tuesday, November 6 and 7, and from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. on Wednesday, November 8.

The exhibition will not be centered around painting and drawing alone, but will include a number of crafts common in Garrett county. Many colorful rugs and quilts will be displayed. Furniture built in Garrett county homes will also be an important part of the exhibition. Other crafts represented will be wood carving, sculpture, pottery, and crochet work.

Art in the schools of Garrett county was established in 1937 in the Oakland High and Elementary schools. Since that time, art courses have been added to the curricula of the high schools of Grantsville, Friendsville, and Accident. The annual art exhibition affords a means of displaying the talent and the progress being made by the students of Garrett county.

The first exhibition of county art was held in 1937 at the Episcopal Parish house in Oakland. Work by school children formed the bulk of the first art show. In 1938, the exhibition was again held in the Parish house. More interest and cooperation were shown that year, and the exhibition was a greater success. In 1939, the exhibit promises to be not only more representative than former exhibitions, but also more interesting because of a wider range of arts and crafts which it will include.

3000 MARYLAND TEACHERS URGED TO DEFEND TRUTH

Many Garrett County Instructors Attend Meeting In Baltimore

School teachers were pictured as American's safeguard of Democracy at the meeting of the State Teachers' Association, held last Friday and Saturday in Baltimore, and the three thousand who attended were urged to hold fast to their freedom to teach the truth.

"It is the misuse and lack of proper education of the principles of democracy that has opened the doors to present-day dictators," said Wendell E. Dunn, president of the association. "It is impossible to separate democracy and education as they are at once the result of each other."

Last Friday the teachers had general meetings and conference sessions with their annual business meeting Saturday. Dr. Charles H. Judd, director of the National Youth Administration's educational program, said, "We have in this country what no other civilized country in the world has— a unit school system. The unit system, recognizing no class distinctions, is the expression of this country's democrary.

"The freedom of thought has been one of the fundamental results of the American education system and without freedom of thought and freedom to teach the truth there can be no democracy or liberty."

Many Garrett county teachers, both elementary and high, attended the meeting and a number of the schools in the county were closed last Friday.

Teachers' Association Names Two County Committees

Frank J. Getty, president of the Garrett County Teachers' Association, who is also principal of the Grantsville public schools, has announced the appointment of the following committees as authorized by the association:

Historical committee — Marshall Brown, chairman, Oakland High school; Miss Gladys Hamill, principal Shallmar school; Merle Frantz, assistant teacher, Friendsville Elementary school.. This committee will serve as a means of receiving and collecting various items that bear upon the history of Garrett county, its families, institutions, and early beginnings.

A second committee was nppointed on Educational Associations, consisting of Miss Alverta Dillon, chairman, assistant teacher, Oakland High school; O. P. Jones, principal Kitzmiller High school; Mrs. Fern Epstein, assistant teacher Grantsville Elementary school.

This committee is to handle questions of affiliation of teachers of the county with Nationnl, State, and local Educational Organizations.

RAIN AND COLD PREVENT LARGE PARADE TUESDAY

About 200 Brave Weather To Take Part In Festivities

Although inclement weather prevented the usual interest in the annual Hallowe'en celebration and parade sponsored by the Oakland Fire Department, about two hundred people hraved the cold to appear in the procession and carry off the ninety prizes which had been donated by business and professional men of the community.

The parade did not get under way until about 8 o'clock. Both the Oakland Band and the Mt. Lake-Loch Lynn Band participated and furnished marching music for the merrymakers. All paraded to the section of Second street where the judges had congregated and cards were presented to the prize winners as they marched along. Judges were given more leeway this year and gave prizes to deserving ones, regardless of their costume. In former years prizes had been awarded for certain pre-arranged characters.

The celebration, arranged as an outlet for those boisterous children and young people who might otherwise turn into vandals for the evening, evidently had its effect, as there appeared to be hardly any soaping of windows in the business section, and no reports of any destruction of property have been made. In some secluded sections there was window marking and in one instance colored chalk marks covered some recently painted white shingles.

REV. TRIMBLE TO REMAIN AS ST. MAITBEW'S RECTOR

Reconsiders Resignation; Church to Use Presbyterian Property

Rev. David C. Trimble, rector of St. Matthew's Episcopal Parish, who resigned several weeks ago to accept a charge in Texas, effective October 22, has reconsidered his action and will remain here to continue his work among the people at Oakland, Deer Park, Altamont and Swanton.

Arrangements have been made with the trustees of the Presbyterian church for use of the property this winter by the Episcopal congregation, for all church services.

The interior will undergo some redecorating and renovating and the furnace will have to be repaired before services begin. The Presbyterian church organ, which is now in the Parish house, will be moved back to the church when the improvements are completed.

There have been no regular services in the Presbyterian church since the summer of 1938.

Vindex Miner Loses Compensation Award In Court Decision

A trial in the Circuit Court at Cumberland on Tuesday reversed the decision of the State Accident Commission and a Vindex miner lost a compensation award.

On the claim that he had lost six weeks from work because of a broken ankle sustained when he slipped and fell while walking to work last December, J. E. Gregory, miner for the Manor Coal Company at Vindex, Garrett county, had been awarded compensation payments amounting to $78 by the State Industrial Accident Commission on April 28.

Associate Judge William A. Huster ruled that not sufficient legal evidence had been advanced by Gregory and his counsel, E. J. Ryan, to warrant imposition of compensation payments on the Manor Coal Company.

Grantsville And Accident Tie In Soccer Game Played Here

Grantsville and Accident high school soccer teams played an extra-period game in Oakland yesterday afternoon in an effort to determine the winner in the northern division of the county, but the game ended in a 4-4 tie.

The two teams were tied for the championship after their regular season of play. Accident scored first in the second period. Grantsville tied the score in the third and took a two-point lead in the fourth period. In the last helf minute of the game Accident tied the score. The teams played an extra period but were unable to break the deadlock. The teams will play again at Grantsville Friday afternoon. The winner will meet Kitzmiller, winning team of the southern division.

Famous Baseball Players Here To Do Some Hunting

Perhaps a lot of people wonder what baseball players do in the winter time. Garrett county people know what at least two of them are doing today and did yesterday—they go hunting.

For several years Robert "Lefty" Grove, native of Lonaconing, has been coming to Garrett county to hunt.

Now another famous baseball star is added to the list. He is Charlie Keller, of Frederick, Md., who was termed the "hero" of the 1939 World Series.

Both Grove and Keller came to Oakland yesterday to get into the woods on the first day of the hunting season, and are registered at a local hotel. Keller is a graduate of the University of Maryland and is playing with the New York Yankees. Grove, a former player for the world's champion Philadelphia Athletics several years ago, now is playing with Boston.

MANY TAKE TO WOODS AS HUNTING SEASON OPENS

Turkeys, Rabbits And Quail Appear To Be Plentiful In County

Garrett county woodlands were filled with hunters yesterday as the hunting season opened. Game Warden Joseph A. Minke has predicted that it will be "the best season in many years."

Game appears to be plentiful in both Garrett and Allegany counties this year, with the possible exception of squirrel. Three Oakland hunters were back in town before noon yesterday with wild turkeys that had been shot on Snaggy Mountain. The sportsmen were Carl W. Frazee, Joseph Hinebaugh and J. W. Glotfelty.

Rabbits, quail and turkey have been released in this county by the State Game Warden in recent months and are all considered to be plentiful. Squirrels, however, apparently have never recovered from the hard winter of 1935-36, and it was largely on this account that the State Game Commission banned an early squirrel hunting season in Garrett county this year.

Game Wardens held a series of meetings in the two counties of Garrett and Allegany to become better acquainted with their duties and to cooperate in the proper protection of game and enforcement of the game laws. Each of the two counties have two full-time salaried wardens on duty during the season this year. In Garrett county will be Mr. Minke, recently transferred from Allegany, and Raymond D. Houck, Oakland, named a special warden for two months. Their activities will be supplemented by those of volunteer wardens.

Weather conditions here were favorable upon the opening day. Tuesday's snow had disappeared and the day was cold and clear.

A. G. Ross, Clerk of the Circuit Court, said that the number of people obtaining hunting licenses had greatly decreased over the previous year. Less than 1,000 resident licenses had been issued, 5 State-wide and six non-resident permits. Last year more than 2,500 licenses were issued. The deer hunting season in December may and probably will induce more people to apply for licenses, it was stated.

The season on small game will remain open until November 30. The usual regulations prevail as to time of hunting and bag limits. Hunting is permitted only from sun-up to sundown, and daily bag limits are listed: Rabbit, squirrel and quail, six; male English, Mongolian and Mutant pheasant, two—not over six per season; wild turkey, one—not over four per season.

Hunter Is Fined

An over-anxious or over-zealous hunter, Thomas McKenzie, of Finzel, was accorded a hearing before Trial Magistrate Charles S. Zeller in Grantsville, yesterday.

Mr. McKenzie went hunting Monday and just as he bagged a red squirrel Deputy Game Warden Theodore Theorig appeared on the scene and arrested him, charging him with hunting out of season.

At the hearing before Magistrate McKenzie was fined $25 and costs, which made the hunt an expensive one —and he didn't get the squirrel to keep.

Mrs. Russell Brown left Oakland last Friday, going to Baltimore that day and on Sunday continued on to Boston where she is with her sister, Miss Kathrine Conley, who remain quite ill.

MEETINGS TO DETERMINE AVAILABLE MILK SUPPLY

Farmers Being Presented Questionare Which Will Give Milk Company Basis For Decision

MAY BUILD PLANT HERE

Three meetings last night, three meetings tonight, and two meetings tomorrow throughout the county will determine whether or not the farmers are desirous of having an additional and a permanent market for their milk supply. The survey is being conducted by a group of business men of Oakland so that a specific report can be made to the Carnation Company which is contemplating the construction of a milk receiving station here.

Meetings were held last night at Ryan's Glade grange hall, Accident High school, Red House school, and Oakland High school. Tonight the meetings are to be held at the Swanton school, Sunnyside Grange Hall and Friendsville High school, and tomorrow evening, November 3, they will be held at the Bittinger school and the Grantsville school. All meetings are at 7:30 p. m.

The plan was explained last week by Vern P. Melhuish, field representative for the Carnation Company. The proposed receiving station here, which would be at least a $25,000 structure, is merely part of an expansion program being conducted. If the surveys now being conducted are favorable, there is to be a condensing plant at Clarksburg, W. Va. The Oakland station would be center for Preston county, W. Va., Somerset county, Pa., and Garrett county.

A preliminary report in Clarksburg showed farmers in that section willing to double their herds if they were assured a regular outlet for their milk supply. A partial survey showed that 930 Harrison county farmers milked 4,072 cows in 1939 and were willing to add 3,995 cows during 1940. Seven hundred and forty expressed willingness to give the condensery a 60-day trial within 30 days after it begins operation. The condensery would require a daily supply of 50,000 to 60,000 pounds of milk to begin operations there.

Mr. Melhuish stated last week the receiving station here would need a daily supply of at least 10,000 pounds of milk to begin operations.

The questionaire being presented to the farmers is not a contract, for the company requires no contracts, but is to give the company a basis upon which to make a decision.

FATBER AND SON FORM LAW PARTNERSHIP HERE

Announcement Of Jones And Jones Is Made In This Paper

Ernest Ray Jones, former Secretary of State under the administration of Governor Harry W. Nice, and his son, Lewis R. Jones, are announcing in today's issue of The Republican the formation of a partnership for the general practice of law in the courts of Maryland.

The firm will be known as Jones and Jones, and offices will be maintained in the First National Bank Building.

The junior member of the firm was graduated from the Maryland Law School, Baltimore, in June of this year and passed the Maryland Bar examination later with the highest rating of the entire class. He was admitted to the practice of law before the Maryland Court of Appeals in October, and since that time has been in his father's office here. He was just recently married and is residing on Oak street.

The elder member of the firm has been engaged in the practice of law in Oakland for a number of years. Besides having served as Secretary of State, Mr. Jones served in Garrett county as State's Attorney. He is quite well known throughout this entire area.

Mrs. Arthur Cogley returned to her home here on Tuesday night after having been in a Baltimore hospital for observation, and since her return she has been dangerously ill. Since early this morning an inhalator of the local fire department has been employed from time to time in an effort to keep her alive.

The Taylor tinmill in Cumberland is preparing to reopen after a shutdown of more than two years.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D.
Dean of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for November 5

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

RIGHTEOUSNESS IN THE KINGDOM

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 5:17-20, 38-45; 6:1-4.
GOLDEN TEXT—Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect.—Matthew 5:48.

"Righteousness in the kingdom," the title of our lesson, properly relates its teaching to the kingdom of the Messiah which is to come on the earth, and to the condition which shall then prevail. At the same time we agree with Dr. James M. Gray that "it would be wrong to press this too far and to say that the Sermon on the Mount has no application whatever to the Christian church or the time in which we live, for God is the same through all dispensations and the underlying principles of His government never change."

Certainly it is true that if all of the men and all of the nations of the earth were on this Armistice Sunday true followers of Christ and ready to carry out the teachings of this lesson, there would no longer be any possibility of war. This means that the best peace propaganda is the sending of missionaries and teachers to all the earth to win men to Christ.

Our lesson should be studied and taught with great care lest we confuse morality with Christianity and make it appear that men are justified before God by their good works rather than by their faith in Christ.

I. Christ Fulfills the Law (5:17-20).

The law of God is eternal, never to be abrogated, never set aside. Christ Himself, although we might properly say that He was in reality the Law-giver and thus had power and authority over the law, indicated His purpose in coming to be that of giving the law its full meaning, not of destroying it. One could wish that those who profess to be His servants might have the same measure of regard for God's law. If they did, they obviously would not be so ready to ignore it, so quick to change it or explain it away, and far more ready to accept with their Master every "jot and tittle," that is, even the minutest detail of His Word.

Recognizing Christ as the fulfillment of the law should prepare one to manifest obedience to every moral precept through His grace and by His strength. Certainly it should not lead anyone to lawlessness or carelessness regarding details of the daily walk. Fellowship with the Saviour should be revealed in consistent living (v. 20).

II. Christ Explains the Law (5: 38-45).

Look at verses 21 to 37. The spirit of murder is anger (vv. 21, 22). A lustful look is adultery (vv. 27-30), and it is better to be blind than to be guilty of it. Divorce is linked very plainly with adultery (vv. 31, 32). Swearing is forbidden (vv. 33-37). Thus Christ strips outward conformity to the law of its apparent virtue and reveals that with God it is the spirit that gives meaning to the act.

He goes on to make plain that God alone is wise enough to take vengeance, that we ought never to retaliate with evil for evil. Note that verse 39 probably refers to an insult rather than to physical violence; that in verse 40 it is a question of a difference of opinion in which the other man feels that he has a legal right to your coat; and that here, as in verses 41 and 42, it is not a matter of letting a wicked or scheming person defraud you of your rights or property, but rather of doing what is required of you in an ungrudging spirit and of being generous with others who are in need. In Christ we are to be like our heavenly Father and love our enemies (vv. 43-45).

III. Christ Illustrates the Law (6: 1-4).

Possibly it would be more appropriate for us to say that Christ here illustrates the right and the wrong way of fulfilling the law. How very clear He makes it that the one who, while ostensibly doing the will of God, actually is seeking the recognition and glory of men has received his full reward, for men have applauded his act of generosity. The transaction is complete and God has nothing to do with it at all. On the other hand, the one who gives in the spirit of Christ, not wanting men to know of his faithful stewardship (v. 4), and in fact making no reckoning of it himself (v. 3), may be certain that he has a heavenly Father who takes careful account of the loving deeds of His children and who will reward him, both in this world and in the world to come.

Memories of Happy Days

Why is it that the memory of some days in the past, unmarked by any striking event, always come to us like the breath of spring? It may be that on those days, in reward for some forgotten act, God drew us close to Him, and that we absorbed something of His eternal peace and happiness.

Scoop's Column

BY Scoop Himself

Since the World War, Great Britain's national debt increased only two billion dollars up to the end of last year.

In the nine years since depression struck the United States the national debt has increased more than twenty-five billions of dollars.

No nation in the world has ever been so prodigal as we in spending what we have not earned, and worst of all the debt problem grows more menacing every day.

Obviously the politicians will spend as long as the voters agree. The solution must come from public rebellion against wasteful spending. There must be an end to the insane delusion that we can get something for nothing.

President Roosevelt and those like Mr. Wallace who are in favor of continuing the present Chief Executive in office indefinitely are now being pointed out as "third termites."

Although no organization has yet stepped forward with any offer to sponsor a community "buckwheat starter," yet my column last week had its good points. It even brought me a gift of buckwheat cakes on Friday morning, fully prepared except for the addition of soda and warm water. The thoughtful lady was Mrs. Harold H. Harned, and I called her right after breakfast to speak my piece of sincere appreciation.

People around here keep wondering whether or not the U. S. Postoffice Department is financially embarrassed. The mailbox, corner of Second and Green streets, which was "blown up" by a firecracker on the Fourth, has never been replaced, and that is one of the busiest corners in town. Even after extracting a fine of $150 each from the offenders in Federal Court several weeks ago, there is still no sign of said mailbox.

And while wondering about mailboxes, etc., the proposed postoffice building comes to mind. What has happened there? Is it to be held up until after the election next November, or are they just waiting for winter before they start construction work?

A Big Discovery

A woman in the lower end of the county was in the office the other day and we got to talking about discoveries. One thing led to another and she finally confessed that several years ago she had discovered how to make six dozen lamp chimneys out of twelve old bottles. I expressed amazement, almost unbelief, so she told the following:

"One day when I was rummaging around in my cellar I found one dozen champagne bottles going to waste, and it was such a pity to see them going to waste. I took a look at them and I saw they were all in good condition, except they were full of champagne water. Putting the twelve bottles to one side, I went into the back yard where there was a grapevine, and from the grapevine I took one of those long curly tendrils. A friend of mine happened to be connected with a steel company, and I sent him the long curly tendril from the grapevine and I said, 'Will you make me a duplicate in tempered steel?' This he was glad to do.

"In a few days I received my imitation of the grapevine. On the upper end of this, and crosswise, it was no trick at all to affix a clothespin. I then pressed the sharp point of the lower end of the steel tendril into the cork of one of the champagne bottles and twisted the tendril around. Then, by pulling sharply upward on the clothespin and at the same time holding the bottle tightly between my knees, which I had covered with resin to prevent the bottle from slipping, I drew out the cork.

"I laid the cork to one side and emptied the contents of the bottle down the drain, except one small tumblerful, which I drank.

"I then removed the cork from another bottle and emptied the contents down the drain, except one small tumblerful, which I also drank.

"I then removed the cork from another bottle and emptied the contents down the drain, except a small tumblerful, which I drank.

I then removed another bottle from the cork and emptied the drain down the contents, except a small tumblerful, which I drank.

"I then removed—another drain from the contents—and—and—emptied the small cork down the tumblerful, except a bottle—which I drank.

"I then bottled another small remove—from the tumbler—except a small corkful—which I drained—and contentsed the drank down the bottle.

"I then tankled a bump from "nother dottle an'—I mean I dunkled a tump from 'nother copple—you see, my friend, I mean I drankled a kump—I mean I cackled a—I mean I conkled—I—I—well, anyhow, I did it to t' all those twelve bottles.

"The bottles were now all empty, and I steadied the house with one hand and counted the bottles with the other. There were twenty-seven left out of the dozen! Then I got a scrub brush and a pail of water to clean the bottles, but to my surprise I found I could not get the brush into the neck of the bottles. I therefore turned the twenty-seven bottles wrong side out and scrubbed them well, and turned them right side out again.

"By this time the house was revolving rapidly, and I sat on the floor and counted the bottles as they went by. There were sixty-four of them.

"I climbed to the kitchen table and produced out of the drawer the can opener, on the hind legs of which was a glass cutter. I crept back carefully to the bottles and seated myself in the center of them and them going around me continuously. By pretending indifference, and springing at them when they were off guard, I was able to catch them one at a time. When I had thus caught a bottle I held it firmly down, by lying on it, and with the glass cutter I cut off the bottom and the neck of it. These I put to one side and what remained of the bottle made an excellent lamp chimney.

"When I counted them I found I had seventy-two!"

NEW OPPORTUNITIES—

The prospect for an additional outlet for milk here, which would provide farmers with a regular income, appears to be one of the best opportunities this section has had for a long time.

This is based of course on the assumption that the milk supply in this section will increase and that existing dairy businesses will continue to get their deserved share.

The belief that this proposition is Garrett county's opportunity is baced on several reasons.

The Carnation Company is asking absolutely nothing from the town or the farmers. If it establishes a milk receiving station here it will buy its own property, construct its own plant. Many times there have been rumors of industries being established here but always there was an obligation to be met. Either the town had to furnish a site, a plant, or purchase stock. There are no such obligations with the Carnation company.

The company requires no contract with the farmers. It asks for a fair trial, which makes it necessary that the company satisfy the farmers if it expects to get their milk. And it is certain the company will try hard to satisfy the farmers, else it wouldn't spend $25,000 in construction of a plant in this vicinity.

Furthermore, it is the aim of the company to improve the herds in this area so that the milk produced in this county will be more than doubled. The survey now being made will determine whether or not the farmers are anxious to have a regular and steady dairy business, with a check coming to them every two weeks in addition to whatever enterprises they may already be engaged in. If farmers brought 25,000 lbs. of milk to the station daily, it would mean a quarter of a million dollars increase in the farm income. If it increased to 50,000 lbs. daily, it would mean a half a million additional farm income, basing the figures on the $1.40 the company now pays for 3½ percent milk. The opportunity is practically unlimited, and the fact that the dairy herds would increase would mean that existing businesses would continue to receive all the milk they wanted.

For Oakland business men it would mean increased sales and a more prosperous town. It would mean the same thing for business men all over the area.

Good business, good towns, a comfortable income for ambitious farmers—add those to the advantages we already have in this section—and the place couldn't be beat.

THE HAIR-CUT YARDSTICK

To strip away the veneer and camouflage of governmental bookkooping is the first step in achieving genuine economy.

The mayor of Fort Wayne, Indiana, makes various municipal costs so plain that the average citizen can compare them with a haircut, a loaf of bread, or a pack of cigarets. In addressing the annual conference of the National Consumers Tax Commission in New York, he said:

"In Fort Wayne we show that the individual who has a home assessed at $4,000 will pay 42 cents a month for police protection, or the price of a meal; for fire protection 48 cents, less than the price of a haircut—in Fort Wayne; garbage collections 8 cents, less than a Sunday paper; street cleaning 13 cents, less than a gallon of gas; street repair, the price of a pound loaf of bread; for parks and recreation 32 cents, the price of a pound of steak; health department 5 cents, the price of a soft drink; payment on debt 15 cents, the price of a pack of cigarets; other city activities, including pensions and schools, 27 cents, less than a movie ticket."

The total is $1.96 a month for all the services in that city. How many other municipalities can use such yardsticks so favorably? It would be interesting to know how Oakland stacks up in its cost of operation, comparing the cost in a concrete way with what we pay for daily commodities. Maybe some statistically minded citizen would like to figure that problem.

YOU PAY TAXES—

Do you earn $30 a week or $1,500 a year?

Then, providing you don't own an automobile, radio, or telephone you pay $183 a year in taxes.

If you have a car, radio and telephone you pay $200 a year in taxes, so the statisticians tell us. According to a Boston University professor if you spend $564 for food you pay $43.96 taxes; if $192 for clothing, then $13.17 for taxes; if $327 for shelter, then $93.42 for taxes; if $75 for fuel-light, then $7.99 for taxes; if $62.72 for house furnishings, then $3.57 for taxes, and so on.

Polls have shown that a quarter of the people in the United States are under the mistaken impression that they don't pay taxes. That is largely because they don't pay any income tax. They do, however, pay plenty of taxes in HIDDEN taxes. Every time you buy, you pay something in hidden taxes. Government money is raised in taxes. What the government spends comes out of your pocket. Reckless government spending is a waste of your money. The national debt is not just a couple of words that mean nothing. It's a debt that will have to be paid in taxes from your pockets or your children's pockets.

Stop reckless spending and taxes will go down.

He reads his newspaper and knows that what it says is not concocted by a bureau, but an honest, untrammeled effort to present the truth.

He has never had a gas mask on.

He has never been in a bombproof shelter.

He adheres to a political party to the extent that he desires—the dominant one, if that be his choice, but with the distinct reservation that he may criticize any of its policies with all the vigor which to him seems proper—any other, as his convictions dictate, even, if it be his decision, one which holds that the theory of government of the country is wrong and should be scrapped.

He does not believe, if his party is out of power, that the only way in which it can come into power is thru a bloody revolution.

He thinks of his neighbors across international borders; of those to the north as though they were across a state line, rather than as foreigners; of those to the south more as strangers, as they speake a language different from his, and with the knowledge that there are now matters of difference between his government and theirs, but of neither with an expectancy of war.

He worships God in the fashion of his choice, without let.

His children are with him in his home, neither removed to a place of greater safety, if young, nor, if older, ordered to serve the state with sacrifice of limb or life.

He should struggle to preserve his Americanism with its priceless privileges.

CHILDREN ARE TOLD OF 3 "R'S" TO MOUTH HEALTH

Observance Of Rules Gives Them Chance To Escape Discomforts

Children brought up according to the three R's of mouth health, have a good chance to escape the discomforts and accompanying ill-health that come from dental disorders, according to Dr. Richard C. Leonard, chief of the Division of Oral Hygiene of the Maryland State Departmetent of Health.

"This season of the year, when the children are getting adjusted to school routine, is a particularly appropriate time," Dr. Leonard said, "to give special thought to the physical as well as the mental aspects of a child's development. The child who is physically fit makes much better progress in school than does the boy or girl who is below par. Parents can help to keep their children fit by carefully following the rules of mouth health in bringing up the children.

"The three R's," he continued, "of course, are not 'reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic,' but are 'right' foods; 'real' cleansing and 'regular' office visits, which are as imporatnt to mouth health as the old three R's to mental development.

"The teeth and other mouth tissues depend for their original structural strength and their continued resistnce to ill-health on the quality and quantity of building materials made available in the foods one eats. The first set (baby) teeth obtain their materials from the mother before a child's birth. The permanent set may depend on the diet of both the mother and the child itself. Consequently, the diets of both should be rich in calcium, phosphoros and in those vitamins that seem to affect mouth tissues. That is, there must be the "right" food in the diet for strong decay-resisting teeth.

"'Real' cleansing means twice-a-day, thorough brushing of the teeth, with effort to reach every tooth surface, and, finally, the equally thorough flushing of the mouth with some mild antiseptic liquid. The germs that play the part of tooth destroyers in the disease known as dental decay are more active in unclean mouths. Real cleansing will help to prevent their activity.

"But it is unwise to place complete dependence for dental health on the first two R's. So regular dental office visits should be made if only to assure one's self that the mouth is healthy. These visits permit your family dentists to discover defects when they are small and to correct them before much damage is done. Naturally these corrections are much more easily made than those that have long gone unattended.

"Children of two years of age are not too young to start dental office visits. From then on regular visits will be good insurance of continued dental health."

State Spends $28,000 Daily For Relief Purposes

Maryland spent more than $28,000 daily on its welfare program during the 1939 fiscal year, having disbursed the sum of $10,167,168.

The cost of maintaing those on relief ran about $596,000 above the 1938 total, it was estimated by J. Milton Patterson, director of the State Welfare Department that in 1940 the figure would jump to $11,000,000 for old age pensions, blind aid, aid to dependent children, direct relief and other services.

Of the total spent Baltimore City got more than six and one-half millions. Local governments contributed $3,677,518 for welfare purposes, the State, $3,422,898, and the Federal Government, $3,066,751. Expenditures in Garrett county reached $147,608. Food valued at $1,010,025 was distributed in Maryland during the year by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation.

Not Enough Maryland Turkeys For Marylanders

Marylanders eat more turkeys than are raised on Maryland farms, the Experimen tStation of the University of Maryland has reported.

A survey made by University workers shows that the entire State produces about the same number of turkeys that was consumed in Baltimore alone in the marketing year 1937-38. Other areas in Maryland also consumed a large quantity of turkeys.

The survey disclosed also that only about fifteen percent of the turkey receipts in Baltimore came from Maryland during the season. Information for the report was obtained by personal interviews and questionaires from 191 turkey growers.

Gardening Suggestions

This time of year many flower lovers are asking questions about their annuals and perennials. Mr. W. R Ballard, Extension Horticulturists, gives us the following suggestions about storing dahlias and transplanting perennials.

Carrying Dahlias Over Winter

After the frost kills the dahlia tops, they should be cut off just above the surface of the ground. Many growers prefer to leave the roots in the ground for a few days before digging but freezing should not be allowed to injure the crowns. The spading fork is a good tool for lifting the roots. If there are many plants, two men with a fork on either side can do a better job. Avoid breaking the connection between tuber and crown. Some growers separate the crowns in the fall so they can be handled easier in storage. It is thought, too, that this method develops buds on each division better than when they are divided in the spring.

It is very improtant to provide suitable storage conditions. If the air in the storage quarters is too dry, the tubers will shrivel, while too much moisture will cause rot. Large growers sometimes place the clumps on shelves and examine them at intervals during the winter, spraying those that seem to be drying out. For a few roots packing in dry sand gives excellent results.

Transplanting Perennials

October is an excellent month for transplanting perennials. Usually the soil is well supplied with moisture at this time of the year and gone are the excessively high temperatures of mid-summer. There is still time for plants to get somewhat established before heavy freezing weather. If transplanting is delayed to the latter part of the month, it is better to move plants from pots or with a good ball of earth about the roots. If there is danger of heaving, a light mulch of some coarse material such as straw, tobacco stems or pine boughs will appreciably aid in preventing such troubles.

Perennial borders generally need a going over once a year. Plants have died and need renewing or types have proved unsatisfactory and are to be replaced by more adaptable kinds. New varieties or species are to be tried and gifts from garden friends must find a place. Many perennials need dividing every three or four years or sometimes oftener.

Occasionally it may be desirable to change the color scheme of the border, or the soil has become so depleted that it may be necessary to take up the plants, fertilize the soil and replant.

Perennials started from seed in the spring, transplanted to nursery rows and given good culture, should be in excellent shape for removing to the hardy border at this time of the year. All these operations may go along hand in hand with the annual fall clean-up of the garden.

Although the hawk made no move to take his spite out on any member of the staff, they decided they'd rather measure the odd-sized eggs that hens in this section lay, and hereafter draw the line on measuring live eagles, hawks, or buzzards. On second thought they also include wild cats.

GARRETT COUNTY FAMILY HEADS PAY $35,022 IN TAXES

The Amount is Hidden, However. And Folks Don't Know About It

Families in Garrett county pay an estimated $35,022 in hidden taxes annually through their purchases of food, a National Consumers Tax Commission survey showed recently.

"Nearly eight per cent of the total food bill represents shifted taxes buried in the price of every purchase," the report stated. "These unseen levies, for example, take 11 per cent of butter costs; 6½ per cent of bread costs; 10½ per cent of sliced bacon, and 14½ per cent of the cost of coffee."

The report was made public through Mrs. Harry L. Harcum, of Salisbury, Maryland, national commitee member, who leads NCTC study groups in Maryland in the educational crusade against "unnecessary consumer-penalizing taxes." The report added:

"Chief offenders, and those that fall most heavily on lower income families, are hiden taxes. These are levied originally against the producer, manufacturer, shipper and distributor. Unable to absorb the load, each must pass on a share of its taxes and the consumer ultimately pays them, usually without knowing it."

The commission, in whose non-partisan crusade groups in approximately 5,100 communities have launched tax study programs, said the hidden tax figure does not include the many other hidden and direct taxes families here have to pay.

The food tax estimate was computed from NCTC averages based on last available U. S. Bureau of the Census figures which placed 1935 food sales in the county at $449,000. Government estimates of total sales in the country last year approximate the total in the 1935 study, the NCTC said.

CCC Holy Name Society Has An Emergency Fund

A new feature of the Holy Name Society in the CCC camps in the county is the building of an "emergency loan fund." Each member of the society contributes a small sum each pay day and when an emergency arises such as a sudden call home, a member can borrow transportation of expense money from the fund, to be returned to the treasurer when he returns to camp. From time to time the money is used to purchase pins and other insignia, or to defray expenses for a Communion breakfast, such as is now being planned in Oakland on Sunday, December 10.

More than 700 members of the Western Maryland units of the Holy Name Society took part in a parade and services at Frostburg on Sunday. The address was delivered by Rev. Patrick J. Bradley, pastor of St. Michael's church, Frostburg.

ADVOCATE BETTER HEALTH FOR MARYLAND'S BABIES

Department of Health Gives Statistics On Births and Deaths

The first nine months of 1939 were very favorable to the newcomers born in Maryland. From January 1 to September 30, inclusive, of this year, 21,412 births and 1,056 deaths under one year of age were recorded by the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Department of Health. During the corresponding period of 1938, more births were registered—21,855—but this was offset by 1,252 infant deaths.

To put it differently, 49 babies out of each thousand babies born alive in Maryland during the first nine months of 1939, found life too strenuous to survive. During the corresponding period of 1938, 57 babies out of each thousand born alive succumbed to the hazards of infancy.

Babies, like grown-ups, are susceptible to certain diseases. Those responsible for most of the sickness and the deaths among the youngest citizens are usually listed by health authorities in three main groups, each of which is being steadily combated through specially planned measures.

The list as outlined by Dr. J. H. M. Knox, Jr., Chief of the Bureau of Child Hygiene of the Maryland State Department of Health, follows:

Number one includes syphilis, other conditions responsible for the premature arrival of the newcomers or that are equally unfavorable for safe arrival and dependable health. This group is responsible for over half of the infant deaths.

Number two includes the digestive diseases, notably the diarrheal and intestinal diseases, and Number three is made up of the respiratory diseases—colds, bronchitis, the pneumonias—and certain other infectious diseases that spread quickly from child to child, such as whooping cough, measles and scarlet fever.

"To combat Number 1," Dd. Kno said, "you can't wait until the babies arrive. You have to begin much earlier, with care of the mother as soon as the baby is expected. Care of both mother and baby, at birth and follow-up medical and nursing-care afterwards, are an absolute necessity for success in cutting down the deaths in this group. All through the State, centers have been established where the mothers may receive advice and care of this sort.

Numbers 2 and 3 are the preventable diseases that have to be fought after the baby arrives, and that are best combatted through regular medical and nursing supervision. These diseases are with us all the year round, but we think especially of two seasonal worries—the much dreaded summer xcomplaint of the warm months and the colds and pneumonias of the rest of the year, the winter complaint of the colder months. There have been marked improvements in both of these this year.

"The best safeguard against all of the preventable diseases is through the regular medical supervision of the individual baby by the family doctor or through the services available in connection with the child health conferences in each county. Complete information about all of these services for mothers and babies can be obtained from the county health staff."

409. No person shall be eligible to the office of Mayor unless he shall have attained the age of thirty years, and shall have resided two years next preceding his election in said town, and shall be a freeholder in said town of Oakland. The Mayor elected at any regular election shall hold office for two years from the first Monday in April next after his election and until after his successor is elected and qualified. Should a vacancy occur in the office of Mayor by reason of removal from town, removal from office, death, resignation or otherwise, the president of the council shall perform all the duties of Mayor and act as such until the next general election of the Mayor and Council. Willful neglect of duty or misbehavior in office on the part of the Mayor is hereby declared a misdemeanor, and on conviction before a Justice of the Peace or in the Circuit Court for Garrett County, he shall be removed from office by the Justice of the Peace or Judge who shall sit in the case, and any person who shall be convicted and removed from the office of Mayor as aforesaid, shall be disqualified from holding any office in said corporation. He shall have general supervision of the town, see that the ordinances are enforced, and from time to time report to the Town Council such matters as may in his judgment require the attention of the Town Council. No ordinance shall be valid without his approval unless the same be passed over his veto by a vote of four members of the Council, nor shall any order or resolution for the payment of money out of the town treasury be valid without his approval in writing. He shall during his official term hold no other corporation office, nor shall he be interested in any contract to which the said corporation is a party or when the money for any contract is to be paid out of the corporation treasury. CHAPTER 91.

AN ACT to repeal and re-enact with amendments Section 407 of Article 12 of the Code of Public Local Laws of Maryland (1930 Edition), title "Garrett County", sub-title "Oakland", and to add two new sections to said Article, said new sections to be known as Sections 407A and 407B and to follow immediately after Section 407, relating to the registration of voters in the town of Oakland.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That Section 407 of Article 12 of the Code of Public Local Laws of Maryland (1930 Edition), title "Garrett County", sub-title "Oakland", be and it is hereby repealed and re-enacted with amendments and that two new sections be and they are hereby added to said Article, said new sections to be known as Sections 407A and 407B, to follow immediately after Section 407 of said Article and all to read as follows:

407. The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland shall cause to be maintained a registration of the legal and qualified voters residing within the corporate limits of the Town of Oakland; said registration shall specify the residence of the voters on each street, lane and alley and such further information as the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland may consider necessary to show their qualifications as such voters as provided by Section 406, and such registration shall be essential to the right to vote at any election held under the Charter of the Town of Oakland. The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland shall on the first Monday of September, 1939, appoint two persons, being citizens of the Town of Oakland and qualified to vote therein, to act as officers of said registration, and they shall sit for the purpose of registering voters at the Council Chamber in said town, or at such other place as may be designated by the Mayor and Town Council, on the first Tuesday in October, 1939. They shall sit not less than nine (9) hours and ten days' public notice of the said sitting shall be given prior thereto by advertisement by way of hand bills posted in not less than ten public places within the corporate limits of the Town of Oakland, or by advertisement in at least one weekly newspaper published in said town. And if necessary in the opinion of the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland the officers of registration shall sit for such additional day or days as are designated by the said Mayor and Town Council for the purpose of continuing said registration, the public notice of registration so stating. After causing the registration of the duly qualified voters they shall return the said list to the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland. Before the said officers of registration shall sit for this purpose they shall go before a Justice of the Peace for Garrett County and make oath in due form of law that they will only permit the registration of such persons as are entitled under the provisions of Section 406 to be registered as voters of the Town of Oakland.

407A. On the first Monday in January in every year thereafter the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland shall appoint two qualified voters of the Town of Oakland to act as officers of registration, and they shall sit on the last Monday in January for the purpose of registering additional qualified voters upon the lists maintained by the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland and for the purpose of revision, ten days' notice of the same having been given and all other provisions in Section 406 of this Act applicable hereto complied with. It shall be the duty of such registration officers in addition to registering voters, to examine and check over the registration lists, and they shall make a list of those who, in their opinion, may be disqualified thereon as voters, and they shall deliver such list to the Clerk of the Town who shall forthwith send written notice by mail to all persons whose names are so given to him, notifying them to be and appear before the Mayor and Town Council on the next succeeding revision day to show cause, if any they have, why their names should not be stricken from the lists of qualified voters of the Town of Oakland, and the said Clerk shall certify to the Mayor and Town Council under oath the fact that such notices were mailed and the time thereof. For the purpose of revising such registration lists and striking therefrom the names of those no longer qualified to vote in said Town, the Mayor and Town Council shall sit one evening, between the hours of 7:30 P. M. and 10:00 P. M., known as Revision Day, to be selected by the said Mayor and Town Council, and which shall be not less than five days prior to the election. Notice of the same shall be given at the same time and manner as notice of the preceding registration sitting. It will be the duty of the Mayor and Town Council on such evening to strike from the lists all those to whom notice has been mailed by the Clerk as ordered, who do not appear before them at that time and show cause why their names should not be stricken off the lists of qualified voters or who have not otherwise shown to them their qualifications as qualified voters, provided such notice has been mailed by the Clerk at least ten days before Revision Day. Any person feeling aggrieved by the action of the registration officials or the Mayor and Town Council shall have the right to an appeal to the Circuit Court for Garrett County.

407B. Whenever in the opinion of the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland a new general registration of all the qualified voters of said town is desirable, then the advertisement and notice of registration provided to be given in this Act shall clearly state the fact that all qualified voters are required to again register, whereupon the old registration lists shall be voided. At all other times after the general 1939 registration, the registration on the last Monday in January in each election year shall be for the purpose of registering only additional qualified voters upon the lists maintained by the said Mayor and Town Council and for the purposes of revision. But whenever a general registration of voters is held under this section in an election year, the officers of registration, in addition to sitting for this purpose on the last Monday in January, shall sit for such additional day or days as are designated by the said Mayor and Town Council and specified in such public notice.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That this Act shall take effect June 1, 1939.

Approved May 3, 1939.

PRESIDENT SETS NOV. 23 AS DAY OF THANKSGIVING

Roosevelt In Proclamation Calls Upon People To Give Thanks United States Is At Peace

IS ONE WEEK EARLIER

President Roosevelt has proclaimed November 23 as Thanksgiving Day and called upon the people to give thanks that the United States is at peace with all countries in a world of turmoil.

The proclamation fixed Thanksgiving for the third Thursday of November, one week earlier than the traditional fourth Thursday on which the holiday had been celebrated in recent years.

Mr. Roosevelt had previously announced that he also will proclaim Thanksgiving in 1940 on the third Thursday of the month.

The proclamation:

"I, Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States of America do hereby designate Thursday, the 23rd of November, 1939, as a day of general thanksgiving.

"More than three centuries ago at the season of the gathering of the harvest, the Pilgrims humbly paused in their work and gave thanks to God for the preservation of their community and for the abundant yield of the soil. A century and a half later, after the new nation had been formed, and the charter of government, the Constitution of the Republic, had received the assent of the states, President Washington and his successors invited the people of the nation to lay down their tasks one day in the year and give thanks for the blessings that had been granted them by Divine Providence.

"It is fitting that we should continue this hallowed custom and select a day in 1939 to be dedicated to reverent thoughts of thanksgiving.

"Our nation has gone steadily forward in the application of democratic processes to economic and social problems. We have faced the spectres of business depression, of unemployment, and of widespread agricultural distress, and our positive efforts to alleviate these conditions have met with heartening results.

"We have also been permitted to see the fruition of measurer which we have undertaken in the realms of health, social welfare, and the conservation of resources. As a nation we are deeply greatful that in a world of turmoil we are at peace with all countries, and we especially rejoice in the strengthened bonds of our friendship with the other peoples of the Western Hemisphere.

"Let us, on the day set aside for this purpose, give thanks to the Ruler of the universe for the strength which He has vouchsafed us to carry on our daily labors and for the hope that lives within us of the coming of a day when peace and the productive activities of peace shall reign on every continent.

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

"Done at the City of Washington, this 31st day of October, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and thirty-nine and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and sixty-fourth.

(Signed)

Franklin D. Roosevelt."

FIRST THINGS FIRST

LOOKING FORWARD

By FRANKLYN WALTMAN

Publicity Director, Republican National Committee

(This is the third of a series by Mr. Waltman in which he gives his impressions of a recent trip across the country).

One group of Americans who feel a burning resentment against the New Deal—and properly so—are the cattle and dairy men. This is obvious to anyone visiting even for a few hours in such States as Nebraska, Wyoming, Montana, California, Wisconsin or Minnesota.

President Roosevelt's recent disparaging remarks about the quality of American canned beef—when he undertook to justify the purchase of the Argentine product for the Navy—apparently brought this resentment to the boiling point in the cattle and dairy country.

Livestock organizations in State after State angrily adopted resolutions denouncing the President's words and action. Admittedly the amount of canned beef imported from Argentina and other South American countries has not been large—compared with this country's total beef consumption, though such imports last year totaled 78,000,000 pounds. The American cattle industry, it is explained, could stand such imports without going broke.

Why Cattlement Burned

But, it is added, the thing that burned up the cattle raisers was the fact that the President of the United States used the White House sounding board—maintained with their tax money—to disparage an American product, and, in effect, urge the country to patronize Argentine beef on the ground that it was both better and cheaper. Likewise the Presidential words hurt the more because of the knowledge that the Argentine product is served in various CCC camps, even in the heart of the American cattle country.

Talking with these American cattlemen, one gets the impression that there are more grievances behind their ire than Mr. Roosevelt's disparagement of the American steer. It seems they previously suffered much and these words only set off the resentment already in their hearts and minds.

For instance, a great deal of grumbling about the detrimental effects of the so-called reciprocal trade agreement program is heard in cattle and dairy sections—indeed from all livestockmen. They seem particularly aroused over the Canadian agreement, which, they contend, admits sufficient imports into this country under reduced tariffs to depress or hold down the American prices.

Cattle Imports Doubled

Official figures of the Commerce Department indicate some ground for this feeling. For instance, in the first six months of last year cattle imports into the United States totaled 242,584 head, valued at $4,087,205. In the same six months of this year imports totaled 486,497 head of cattle valued at $11,688,106.

Let us look at those figures for a moment. In the first six months of this year more cattle were imported than in the entire twelve months of last year, when the total officially was reported as 424,022. In the 12 months of 1937, a year of large imports, 494,945 head of cattle were imported—only about 8,000 more than in the six months of this year. In the entire year of 1929 - the boom year of prosperity—492,603 head of cattle were imported.

Commerce Department figures on cattle imports have been published only for the first six months of this year and they have not yet been broken down by countries. But it is clear that a substantial part of these imports came from Canada. For instance, the Commissioner of Customs reports, as this is being written, that Canada has virtually filled its quota of 100,000 head of cattle weighing under 200 pounds. He further reported that during July and August 42,930 head of cattle weighing more than 700 pounds were received in this country from Canada—with 7,461 head of the same type from other countries.

Huge Increase In Wool Imports

And, while we are dealing with the official figures on imports, the reason for the dissatisfaction among the sheep raisers can be found in the fact that during the first six months of this year wool imports totaled 116,801,000 pounds, compared with 25,415,500 pounds in the same period of last year.

It is no use to tell American cattlemen, in face of this situation, that such imports do not harm them, as the New Deal theorists explain. They insist that such a heavy increase in the importation of cattle has a depressing effect on prices—that it is depriving them of a market which rightfully belongs to them.

And now, they are confronted with another long threatened danger, namely, increased cattle and beef imports from Argentina. Heaping fuel on the fires of anger stirred up by the Argentine canned beef episode, the State Department has announced it is negotiating a so-called reciprocal trade treaty with the Buenos Aires Government.

In view of what happened in the negotiation of the Canadian agreement, the cattle and dairy men now fear the worst in the proposed Argentine agreement. They know the decision will be made behind closed doors and that, in all probability, their representatives in Congres will have little to say about it—at least they have had little influence on previous agreements made.

Dissatisfaction with the New Deal on the part of the cattle and dairy interests was clearly demonstrated in the election last year in Wyoming, Wisconsin and Minnesota. Less clearly it was demonstrated in other States. Instead of allaying that dissatisfaction, the New Dealers have increased it. In short, the cattle and dairy producers have become tired of being made the goat in a good neighbor policy of dubious value.

MILK SUPPLY SURVEY IS ACCORDED GOOD RESPONSE

Farmers Indicate They Would Increase Herds More Than Half If Additional Markets Were Available

SURVEY IS INCOMPLETE

Enthusiastic response from farmers who attended meetings to determine the available milk supply in this area, with the possibility of the Carnation Company establishing a milk receiving station here was reported by the Oakland business men who are sponsoring the survey.

Meetings were held last week at Ryan's Glade, Accident, Oakland, at Swanton, Sunnyside, Friendsville, Bittinger and Grantsville, and in almost every instance there was a large turnout of farmers of those neighborhoods. Figures received from the farmers up to this time show that those reporting were milking 1309 dairy cows at the present time, and that they would be willing and anxious to increase their herds by 874 cows, providing there was an additional and permanent market available.

Members of vocational departments of high schools throughout the county are cooperating with the business men in completing the survey. All farmers who did not attend the meetings will be called upon and given a questionaire to fill out which would give the business men a basis for a report to be made to the Carnation Company as to the approximate amount of milk available here. That there would be many more cows added to the 1309 already reported seemed assured, as indicated by a card received at The Republican office a day or two ago.

The card in question was from a farmer in the community east of Grantsville. He stated: "I have not been at the meeting in regard to milk for the Carnation Company, but we milk around 50 cows now and expect to have 70 by next summer. Please tell the proper fellows that I would at least send some milk."

A number of the business men's committee were assembled this morning in the office of the West Maryland Power company, and were enthusiastic about the response thus far. They were planning for meetings in the Aurora and Eglon sections within the next few days.

There have been no reports yet from Preston or Somerset counties, but farmers in this territory will come under the survey as the intended receiving station here would be the center for the three counties.

The formal canvessing of farmers in Harrison county, W. Va., was completed. Over 1,100 questionaires had been returned and practically all farmers promised to cooperate, indicating they would almost double their herds when and if the plant begins operations there. The condensery, if built, would cost $250,000. The proposed building here would cost $25,000.

The prospects of a milk receiving station here was learned just two weeks ago when several preliminary meetings were held in Oakland with business men and farmers attending. At that time the plan was outlined by L. S. Hartley, agricultural agent of the B. and O. railroad, and Vern P. Melhuish, field representative for the Carnation company. Mr. Melhuish was particular in pointing out that they were planning to enter the field as an additional market and not as a competitor of any market that was already established. "We want farmers to increase their herds to supply an increased demand. We wouldn't be interested at all if we felt that the milk supply now available wouldn't be increased by farmers who desire increased earnings."

Estate Sold At Auction

The Garrett county estate of the late F. F. Nicola, of Pittsburgh, was sold at public auction last Saturday afternoon, to partially satisfy claims of his creditors.

The estate consists of about 5,000 acres much of which is heavily planted in young pine trees, and includes a home, Rock Lodge, which is one of the show places of this section. The real estate sold for $13,500, and the furniture for $3,250. The entire property was purchased by the Block brothers, of Wheeling, W. Va., manufacturers of Mail Pouch chewing tobacco.

It will now be up to the Circuit Court here to decide which creditors will share in the sum derived from the sale. Two Pittsburgh banks are said to have judgments against the estate of several hundred thousand dollars. His liabilities were more than two million dollars. Mr. Nicola originally made his wealth in real estate around the Schenley Park section of Pittsburgh. His Rock Lodge home was burned a number of years ago but was rebuilt on the original foundation.

"The Cove" Getting Telephone Service In Near Future

"Telephone Service for the Cove", is the title of an article appearing in the November issue of "The Transmitter," official publication of the C. and P. Telephone company.

The article states that surprisingly the community has been without telephone service these many years, and that the sixteen families there depend upon motor vehicle or other transportation to reach Accident or Keyser's Ridge to make telephone calls.

Russell Pancake, manager of the area, secured approvals of nine of the sixteen families and made plans for the construction of a line to serve the Cove. This line is to be completed shortly. Those employed on construction are Taft Oursler, foreman; Frank Moreland, William Greenwell, and Thurman Moore.

Six Inch Snowfall Over Week-end Presented Beautiful Picture

Snow, to a depth of five or six inches, covered Garrett county last Saturday evening and Sunday. The temperature remained around the freezing point and the wet snow clung to trees and buildings, presenting a beautiful picture that will be duplicated only a few times this winter.

Snow plows were called into service to keep the ronds open and clear of slush.

While Garrett county was getting its share, the Shenandoah valley wns literally "snowed under" with 15 to 20 inches which paralyzed traffic in that area.

INDICTMENTS RETURNED AGAINST COMMISSIONERS

Grand Jury In Special Session Monday, Finds Three Indictments Against Each Member Of The Local Board

TOTALS ELEVEN COUNTS

The September Term Grand Jury, called back in special session on Monday, found indictments against the three County Commissioners of Garrett county, G. Blaine Giessman, Cheston H. Browning, and Paul M. Friend. The indictments charge "malfeasance in office," N. C. Fraley, State's Attorney, stnted. If found guilty of the offense the County Commissioners would be ousted from office.

The bond was set by Chief Judge D. Lindley Sloan at $3,000 for each Commissioner. Warrants for their arrest were issued to Sheriff J. W. Owens, on Tuesday morning and the necessary bond was furnished in each case the same day.

There were three indictments against each Commissioner, as a result of alleged infractions of laws passed at the 1939 Legislature, Mr. Fraley stated. Two indictments charge that the County Commissioners purchased some culvert pipe upon two different occasions, in violation of the 1939 law requiring them to advertise for bids for any purchases made for more than $300. The indictments charged that the purchases were for $1,240 and for $661.50. The third indictment charged the County Commissioners with writing county orders upon the contingent fund levy in violation of Senate bill 306, passed at the last session. There were nine counts in this indictment for specific orders as follows:

To H. P. Stuck as administrator for W. E. Giessman estate, $355.00; three orders to Orus M. King, for road labor, $285.32, $291.25, and $474.76; two orders to Benny Epstein, attorney, for $75.00 and $73.50; one to the Alban Tractor company for road drills and machinery parts, $266.07; to Stanley Fike, bulldozer operator, $115; and to the Welfare Board, $1,034.68.

Both Mr. Giessman and Mr. Browning were in their offices Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday this week conducting the business of the regular semi-monthly session. Mr. Friend was at his home recuperating from a recent operation.

Both Mr. Giessman and Mr. Browning asserted that the County Commissioners' office, under the present board, had been conducting the business of paying county orders and purchasing supplies the snme as in previous years, and that they had been advised by their attorneys to issue orders from the contingent fund levy, the same as had been done by previous boards.

"We have done nothing intentionally to violate any laws, Mr. Giessman said, "and we feel that our case will be properly viewed by jurors and people when the case comes before the court in December." The petit jurors are being called to report for Monday, December 4.

Mr. Giessman continued, "We feel that all the 1939 laws regarding the conduct of this office were passed as 'spite' laws, the same as much other legislation of Senator Friend, and that it is unfair to enact laws which regulate payments of moneys in June or July, when the annual levy for the county is mnde in January."

The county levy this year was made in January and laws affecting the distribution of funds were passed late in the Legislative session and were not approved hy the Governor until in April and May.

Mr. Giessman pointed out as an example the magistrate law, which made it mnndatory for the County Commissioners to pay salaries of magistrates and constables, when there had been no provision made for such an item when the levy was made, as the new law was not passed until several months later.

Mr. Browning said they had attempted to carry on the county's business properly in spite of a certain group that had been attempting to have them ousted for inefficiency, and they had tried to carry out the spirit of the laws, regardless of why they were passed.

The $300.00 maximum purchase law without asking for hids, which he said had been passed to keep them from purchasing more road machinery. He said they had received prices on cul-

SECOND WEEK'S CONTEST WINNER IS MRS. IDA LEE

Submits Recipe For Mother's Brown Bread—Her Recipe Will Be Placed In National Contest

TWO MORE WEEKS REMAIN

A new Brer Rabbit Molasses Recipe book will be mailed to every contestant in the contest now being conducted. Will you get yours?

Many housewives are taking advantage of the opportunity to win a national prize of a year's supply of groceries, $500.00 worth, or $500.00 in cash, or the local weekly prizes of $1.00 or cans of molasses. The cookbook will be sent even if you don't win any of these prizes.

The contest, which is running locally in The Republican, has two more weeks to go. For this week of the contest the judges have selected Mrs. Ida M. Lee, of Mt. Lake Park, as winner. Mrs. Lee's recipe for "Mother's Brown Bread" was chosen from among sixteen recipes.

Here is Mrs. Lee's recipe:

Soak 1½ cups stale white bread, broken in pieces, in 2 cups of cold water overnight. In the morning rub thru a colander and add ¾ cup of "Brer Rabbit" molasses and 1½ cups each of rye meal, granulated corn meal and Graham flour, mixed, and sifted with 3 teaspoons soda, and ½ teaspoon salt; then add 1½ cups cold water. Stir until well mixed. Fill buttered one-pound baking powder boxes 2-3 full, cover and steam two hours.

The cover should be buttered before placing on mold, and then tied down with string, otherwise the bread in rising might force off lid. For steaming, place mold on a trivet in kettle containing boiling water, allowing water to come up halfway around mold, cover closely, adding, as needed, more boiling water.

Very economical and a rare treat.

Mrs. Lee will be awarded $1.00 for her recipe and her recipe is automatically entered in the molasses contest to compete for grand national prize.

Four runners-up in the second week's contest will each receive a can of Brer Rabbit Molasses. These winners are Mrs. John M. Robey, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Joshua H. Turner, Avilton; Mrs. William Fitzwater, of Swanton; and Mrs. C. Ray Taylor, of Mt. Lake Park.

Rules of the contest may be learned by reading stories in previous issues or reading the advertisement in this week's issue. The third contest closes November 11, and the fourth contest closes November 19.

Recipes are being judged for originality, practicalness, and good results. Miss Clementine Paddleford, food editor of the Christian Herald, Mildred Jesslund and Arline Rolland will judge the recipes sent in to the national contest.

OUR BUDDIES

America we love you, the home of the brave and true,
The Stars and Stripes, the red, white and blue.
Again we come to another day when we bow our heads in prayer
Thanking God for our boys and Armistice Day.

We pay tribute to a grave of an unknown soldier; yet he may be yours or mine—he is some mother's boy, and some daddy's, too; he may be someone's sweetheart—a husband or a brother dear.

We love those boys who so bravely marched away in khaki clad and gallantly fought for our U. S. A.. Buddies in khaki, we love you because you were loyal, staunch and true.

We pray our Heavenly Father for peace that your boys and mine will never be called to war. It's you, buddy boys, who knnw the heartaches, strife and sorrow—the battleery of No Man's Land.

While all is still and silent, we hear the bugle blowing the sound of taps. With tear-dimmed eyes and a heavy heart memory calls us back to bygone days: we think of Flanders' Fields where poppies grow. But to us it's where love grows, for the bloom and youth of America sleep there. Oh, Buddy! My Buddy! Yours and mine.

Today we have a shining emblem of patriotic devotion holding out the dove of peace, good will and comradeship to all—American Legion. You Legionaires we owe our all to you; you are mighty, staunch and true. We love you Buddies.

Blest be the tie that binds your love and friendship. May God grant you power to grow into an army of love, friendship and kindness.

You Buddies, you pals so true, Legionaires and Buddy boys, may you ever be protected and guided by the shining stars that wave in our flag—the beautiful Red, White and Blue.

DIARY OF THE WAR

WEEK-END ACTIVITIES—Norway interned the German crew of City of Flint and turned vessel over to Americans, under rules of international law. Congress approved the embargo repeal and adjourned. Cash and carry sales became legal Saturday. Negotiations between Finland and Russia continued with no concrete result. Action on the western front was confined to scouting and local artillery fire.

President Roosevelt barred American ships from ports of European belligerants. A French freighter and Norweigan steamer were sunk. A British plane was said to have scored a hit upon a German submarine. A dozen German planes successfully conducted a reconnaissance flight over French territory.

MONDAY—Norway rejected Germany's demand that the City of Flint be held. Negotiations between Russia and Finland were at a standstill awaiting new instructions to the Finnish delegaion. Both Germany and England announced more intensive warfare at sea. A Grfeek freighter was sunk in the English channel following two explosions.

TUESDAY—The French claimed nine German planes were shot down during an air battle over the western front. Patrol and artillery action was general along the hundred mile northern flank. Russia rebuked the United States for repealing the arms ambargo. Britain is confident that convoys can take U. S. arms across the ocean safely. Sweden's economic life was being imperiled by Nazi mines in the North Sea.

WEDNESDAY—Belgium and Holland offered their services in order to obtain peace. A battle between British light warships and German planes resulted in no damage. French have twice repulsed a German attempt to take a French frontier city. French still holding positions around Forbach.

THURSDAY—Hitler escaped unhurt in apparent attempt on life in Munich as blast wrecks beer hall shortly after he left unexpectedly. Hitler announced Germany ready for five-year war. In London Churchill reports success against German U-boats and sea raiders. French report German thrusts on three Western front sectors repulsed.

GRANTSVILLE

Local Booters Cop Northern Title

Grantsville's high soccer team was the victor over Accident by the score of 3-0 in the second play-off contest Friday afternoon on the local field, and thus gain the right to encounter Kitzmiller high, southern section champions, for the county crown.

Grantsville and Accident had played a 4-4 deadlock Wednesday at Oakland after two five-minute extra periods. Friday's triumph gave the local team the northern division championship.

After a scoreless first period, Elmer Lewis sent Grantsville ahead with a field goal three minutes before the half. These two evenly matched teams fought another scoreless period the third frame, and after five minutes of play in the final quarter Milton Railey converted a corner kick into a one pointer when he made a goal with his head. Robert Folk, Grantsville goalie, defended his team admirably.

The weather man had on his usual fall raiment, and although the air was chilly the afternoon sun shone down upon the field, which was in ideal condition. It was a perfect day for the game.

Patrons Invited To School

ARMISTICE DAY

SOMETHING THAT OUR CHILDREN SHOULD KNOW . .

Twenty five years ago began a war to "make the world safe for democracy." Twenty two years ago this nation entered that war and helped the right to be victorious. Twenty one years ago that war concluded and its final message was so powerful that all who lived through it said "There can't be another war! We've learned our lesson." This is 1939 and once again Europe is war-torn. But the angel of peace spreads her wings protectively over America. Our children should know how sacred is our democracy . . . how firmly we must cling to and secure our place as a nation at peace for all time.

THE HALF PRICE STORES

Oakland, Md. "We Buy For Cash And Sell For Less" Kingwood, W. Va.

Petersburg, Moorefield, Franklin, Parsons, W. Va.

THE HALF PRICE STORES CELEBRATE EIGHT YEARS OF STEADY GROWTH AND EXPANSION–1931 TO 1939

From Small Beginning, Organization Now Composed of Six Stores, With Plans Made For Early Expansion

LARGE STOCK FOR HOME AND FAMILY IS NOW HANDLED

Just eight years ago, in November, 1931, the first Half Price Store was opened in Oakland, Maryland, with a limited assortment of clothing and dry goods.

Many of our present Oakland customers will undoubtedly remember that first store room a small crowded space measuring only 20 feet in width and 25 feet in depth. However, from the opening day, gratifying customer response strengthened our determination that we had hit upon the right idea of stocking what people needed, at prices that they could afford to pay. Almost from the start, expansion began, as the addition of new lines demanded more space. Finally in the fall of 1934, after many enlargements, we moved into our present location. This building also houses the large warehouse, which serves as the central supply depot to which all merchandise for our other stores is received and from which it is re-distributed by our own trucks.

Rapid Expansion

In June, 1934, our first branch was opened in Petersburg, W. Va., followed by additional locations in August, 1935, at Parsons, W. Va.; in November, 1935, at Moorefield, W. Va.; in February, 1937, at Kingwood, W. Va., and in January, 1938, at Franklin, W. Va. With the opening of each new unit enthusiastic response by customers paved the way for the next. Negotiations are under way at present for several new locations in various towns and further expansion is to take place in the near future.

From that small beginning eight years ago a great institution has arisen, and the reputation of The Half Price Stores for greater values has been spread throughout the sections where they are located. All this has taken painstaking work and constant effort on the part of our managers, buyers, supervisors and general personnel, who were ever on the look-out for great economics in their field that could be passed on to our customers.

At first most of our merchandise had to be purchased from wholesalers, due to the small quantities bought. As time went on, and greater amounts of each item could be handled, more and more orders were placed direct with the manufacturer, thus eliminating the middleman's profit. Now the process has progressed even further, with the great bulk of our goods coming direct from the maker and much of it is being made according to our own specifications.

Fair Pricing Policy

Fair pricing of merchandise has been our policy from the beginning. Our business depends on a large volume of sales at a very low profit on each item. It will continue this way, for we feel that we are rendering a great service to the buying public by enabling you to buy more and better merchandise in proportion to your income than you could at the usual higher prices. In addition, our aim is to have in stock what you want, when you want it. Complete assortments of sizes, styles and colors are always on hand for your inspection, and a large force of salespeople is always present in every one of our stores to serve you.

In looking back over the eight years we feel justly proud of the accomplishments of our organization, its growth and expansion. We wish to thank every one of our customers for their patronage and our employees for their loyalty and effort. We also hope that the next few years will see more and greater of our stores serving your needs in every section.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS . . . . . .

By FRANK R. KENT

Politics Will Be Back

Washington, Nov. 7.

The regular session of Congress, now less than two months off, will be far different from the special session recently ended. In the latter, politics was adjourned while the neutrality fight was on; in the next session, politics will dominate from the start.

That is inevitable in any session preceding a Presidential campaign. It is forced by the facts that the Presidential primaries, beginning in March, run through until June and that the session itself runs right up to the dates of the nominating conventions. In the coming session the political flavor will be greatly heightened. For this there are several reasons. One is because it is the end of the sitting President's second term, which opens the field for a convention struggle in the majority party. Recognition that a President is not only entitled to one renomination but can secure it no matter how great the party discontent is so general that the second nomination is always conceded. The reverse is true when he is finishing a second term. Then, no matter how great the President's popularity, it is traditional that he retire and it is quite certain that any effort for a third nomination would meet determined resistance.

That is why, despite third-term sentiment for Mr. Roosevelt (similar to that which existed for Mr. Coolidge in 1928 and for other two-term Presidents who preceded Coolidge), there are at the moment various Democratic figures looming up and a number of States which are preparing to put forward favorite sons. Some of these are making active campaigns. Some are simply "receptive". In the Senate itself there is Vice-President Garner, Senator Wheeler, of Montana; Senator Clark, of Missouri; and Senator Tydings, of Maryland. Outside the Senate there are Secretary Hull, Mr. Farley, Mr. McNutt and Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, who, to the mortification of his colleagues, is being mentioned both for the Presidential and Vice-Presidential nominations. Four years ago no name was spoken except that of Mr. Roosevelt; this time the woods are full of candidates and the session will be given over to political jockeying.

This is as true of the Republicans as of the Democrats. For example, in the Senate, the Republicans have three avowed candidates—Taft, of Ohio; Vandenberg, of Michigan, and Bridges, of New Hampshire. Outside the Senate District Attorney Dewey is the outstanding Republican aspirant. Blanketed by the outbreak of war and the embargo debate, his friends expect him to forge again to the front. Clearly, the politics of the coming session will be more intense than usual. It is true that the Roosevelt jobholders, the "inner circle" advisers and some of his relatives who hate the idea of relinquishing the power which their White House connection confers, will keep the third-term movement alive so long as they can.

As fast as one thing happens to flatten them out something comes along to restore their optimism. Last week their "Western conference" was scuttled by Labor Leader Lewis, but this week the Gallup poll declares eighty-three per cent of the Democrats want Mr. Roosevelt again. Promptly they rebound. But, neither the Lewis blast nor the Gallup poll affects the fundamentals or changes the conviction of the more discerning that there will be no third nomination; that at some time of his own choosing Mr. Roosevelt will irrevocably take himself out of the race. It is, of course, easy to understand that in addition to the satisfaction of making it clear that his retirement is voluntary and not compulsory, he wants to insure two things—one, that the platform indorse his administration and promise continuation of New Deal policies; second, that the nominee be someone acceptable to him.

Those whose judgment is best are completely convinced that Mr. Roosevelt's mind is set upon achieving those two things, that he is entirely clear-headed about the unfeasibility of a third term and will end the movement when he thinks the time ripe. As to the Gallup poll, three things are being said. One is that there is an increasing skepticism as to the ability of this or any poll week after week to accurately assay the shift in sentiment among 130,000,000 people on every sort of question. A second is that the 83 per cent reported is not in accord with the check of the best political judges in the more important States. A third is that even if the 83 per cent were correct, it still leaves 17 per cent of the Democrats opposed to a third term. Taking the Roosevelt-Landon vote as the yardstick, that would be a sufficient defection to insure defeat in the pivotal States, such as New York, Ohio, Illinois, Connecticut, New Jersey and Massachusetts.

Homemakers' Column

Tea Time

In the last few weeks several homemakers have asked the Home Demonstration Agent to suggest something appropriate, yet different, to serve at tea time. Following are some suggestions:

Cinnamon Sticks

Cut thin slices of bread into oblong strips about three-quarters of an inch thick. Trim off crusts, spread with creamed butter mixture. Dip into mixture of brown sugar and cinnamon into which a little grated orange peel has been added. Serve hot.

Golden Cheese Crusts

Add cayenne to dry ingredients when making biscuit dough. Add cheese after shortening. Roll out ¼ inch thick. Cut into strips about 2 inches by 1 inch. Prick and bake in hot oven at 475 degrees F. about 10 minutes. This mixture may also be cut and baked as small biscuits. Makes 24 small crusts or 4 dozen one-inch biscuits.

Pineapple Fingers

One recipe for rich tea biscuits, ½ cup finely chopped candied pineapple.

Add chopped pineapple to dry ingredients when making rich biscuit dough. Roll out ¼ inch hick. Sprinkle with granulated sugar. Cut into small finger-shaped pieces. Bake as directed. Makes 24.

Afternoon Tea Cakes

One egg, ½ teaspoon vanilla extract, 3 tablespoons shortening, melted; ¼ teaspoon salt, ¾ cup sugar, 1½ teaspoons cream of tarter baking powder ½ cup milk.

Break egg into bowl; add sugar and vanilla; add chocolate melted with shortening. Beat together. Sift flour, baking powder and salt; add alternately with milk to first mixture. Half fill paper baking cups; set each in small muffin pan; bake in moderate oven at 375 degrees F. about 30 minutes. If preferred, bake in small greased cup cake pans. Makes 24.

Cheese-Pepper-Walnut Sandwich

One cream cheese, ½ cup walnut meats, Worcestershire sauce, 1 green pepper, salt and pepper, ½ teaspoon lemon juice.

Chop pepper fine after parboiling it and remove skin and seeds. Then mix all ingredients and spread between slices of white bread.

Heart's Delight

Two cakes cream cheese, ½ pound sweet butter, 2 cups flour, Guava jelly, ¾ cup chopped pecans.

Cream together cheese and butter and work in flour with finger-tips. Chill thoroughly. Roll out thin on a slightly floured board. Spread with jelly and sprinkle with nuts. Roll like a jelly roll. Cut in ½ inch pieces. Place cut side down on greased pan. Bake in a hot oven 400 degrees F. 10 minutes or until they are brown.

PUTTING GOD'S KINGDOM FIRST

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 6:19-24.
GOLDEN TEXT—But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness.—Matthew 6:33.

Said the Robin to the Sparrow:
"I should really like to know
Why these anxious human beings
Rush about and worry so."

Said the Sparrow to the Robin:
"Friend, I think that it must be
That they have no Heavenly Father
Such as cares for you and me."
—Elizabeth Cheney

Most men are rushing about madly. Worry presses them down. They wonder whether life is worthwhile, whether somewhere there is not relief from this nervous tension that is destroying mind and body. Well, there is relief and it consists of but one ingredient. Give God His proper place, the first place in your life, and "all these things" (Matt. 6:33) will take their rightful places. Seeking first the kingdom of God will settle every problem about money, about food and clothing, and about the future.

I. Money (vv. 19-24).

The word in our text is "treasures," and we know that it has a broader meaning than money, but since in our day men seem to translate all values into dollars, we feel free to use that word "money" to express our thoughts.

The treasure is something that one has placed somewhere in order to keep it for himself. It is not a thing gathered for the purpose of using it to serve others or to serve God, but something put away on the shelf to be kept for one's own enjoyment.

There are two places in which a man can lay up treasure, on earth or in heaven; but it is only as he hoards treasure on earth that he becomes selfish. That which he sends on to heaven by his devotion of life and in service to Christ, by his sacrificial giving to the cause of Christ, by his encouragement of those who are witnessing for Christ, all this is done for the glory of God and without hope of reward. How great will be the surprise of some when they come to heaven and find what they have thus laid up for eternity.

Laying up treasures on this earth, on the other hand, leads to covetousness, to enslavement to one's possessions (be they great or small), and to the evils that follow like a train in the wake of a love of money.

II. Food and Clothing (vv. 25-32).

Some who have no great desire to amass riches are nevertheless in constant anxiety about food and raiment for the morrow; in fact, it is true of some who have great riches that they live in fear lest next month or next year or ten years from now they may be in need.

What is the answer of the Lord Jesus? Consider the birds. They are not able to work nor are they able to pray, but God feeds them. Consider the glory of the flowers of the fields, for not even a king can dress himself in such beauty. "Are ye not much better than they?" (v. 26).

"As far as known, no bird ever tried to build more nests than its neighbors; no fox ever fretted because it had only one hole in which to hide; no squirrel ever died of anxiety lest he should not lay up enough nuts for two winters instead of one; and no dog ever lost any sleep over the fact that he did not have enough bones laid aside for his declining years" (Public Health Service).

Proper forethought is good and right for we are intelligent beings, but anxiety about our daily needs is always dishonoring to God.

III. The Future (vv. 33, 34).

Why will we fret ourselves about the future? It is in God's hands, and even if it were in our hands, what could we do about it? Even tomorrow, with its needs and its blessings, with its joy and its sorrows, is not yet here, and when it does come, there will be God's gracious provision for each passing hour.

Unsaved friend, will you not take the Lord Jesus Christ just now as your personal Saviour and let Him solve the problems of your life as you put the kingdom of God first? Christian friend, if you too have been bearing burdens which are not honoring to God, will you not tell Him just now, and put them down at the feet of the Lord Jesus? "Casting all your care upon him; for he careth for you" (I Pet. 5:7), which might properly be translated, "Casting all your worries (or distractions) on Him, for He worrieth about you."

Be Still Then and Know

Only in the sacredness of inward silence does the soul truly meet the secret, hiding God. The strength of resolve, which afterwards shapes life and mixes itself with action, is the fruit of those sacred, solitary moments when we meet God alone. —F. W. Robertson.

PUBLIC LOCAL LAWS

CHAPTER 91.

AN ACT to repeal and re-enact with amendments Section 407 of Article 12 of the Code of Public Local Laws of Maryland (1930 Edition), title "Garrett County", sub-title "Oakland", and to add two new sections to said Article, said new sections to be known as Sections 407A and 407B, and to follow immediately after Section 407, relating to the registration of voters in the town of Oakland.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That Section 407 of Article 12 of the Code of Public Local Laws of Maryland (1930 Edition), title "Garrett County", sub-title "Oakland", be and it is hereby repealed and re-enacted with amendments and that two new sections be and they are hereby added to said Article, said new sections to be known as Sections 407A and 407B, to follow immediately after Section 407 of said Article and all to read as follows:

407. The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland shall cause to be maintained a registration of the legal and qualified voters residing within the corporate limits of the Town of Oakland; said registration shall specify the residence of the voters on each street, lane and alley and such further information as the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland may consider necessary to show their qualifications as such voters as provided by Section 406, and such registration shall be essential to the right to vote at any election held under the Charter of the Town of Oakland. The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland shall on the first Monday of September, 1939, appoint two persons, being citizens of the Town of Oakland and qualified to vote therein, to act as officers of said registration, and they shall sit for the purpose of registering voters at the Council Chamber in said town, or at such other place as may be designated by the Mayor and Town Council, on the first Tuesday in October, 1939. They shall sit not less than nine (9) hours and ten days' public notice of the said sitting shall be given prior thereto by advertisement by way of hand bills posted in not less than ten public places within the corporate limits of the Town of Oakland, or by advertisement in at least one weekly newspaper published in said town. And if necessary in the opinion of the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland the officers of registration shall sit for such additional day or days as are designated by the said Mayor and Town Council for the purpose of continuing said registration, the public notice of registration so stating. After causing the registration of the duly qualified voters they shall return the said list to the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland. Before the said officers of registration shall sit for this purpose they shall go before a Justice of the Peace for Garrett County and make oath in due form of law that they will only permit the registration of such persons as are entitled under the provisions of Section 406 to be registered as voters of the Town of Oakland.

407A. On the first Monday in January in every year thereafter the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland shall appoint two qualified voters of the Town of Oakland to act as officers of registration, and they shall sit on the last Monday in January for the purpose of registering additional qualified voters upon the lists maintained by the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland and for the purpose of revision, ten days' notice of the same having been given and all other provisions in Section 406 of this Act applicable hereto complied with. It shall be the duty of such registration officers in addition to registering voters, to examine and check over the registration lists, and they shall make a list of those who, in their opinion, may be disqualified thereon as voters, and they shall deliver such list to the Clerk of the Town who shall forthwith send written notice by mail to all persons whose names are so given to him, notifying them to be and appear before the Mayor and Town Council on the next succeeding revision day to show cause, if any they have, why their names should not be stricken from the lists of qualified voters of the Town of Oakland, and the said Clerk shall certify to the Mayor and Town Council under oath the fact that such notices were mailed and the time thereof. For the purpose of revising such registration lists and striking therefrom the names of those no longer qualified to vote in said Town, the Mayor and Town Council shall sit one evening, between the hours of 7:30 P. M. and 10:00 P. M., known as Revision Day, to be selected by the said Mayor and Town Council, and which shall be not less than five days prior to the election. Notice of the same shall be given at the same time and manner as notice of the preceding registration sitting. It will be the duty of the Mayor and Town Council on such evening to strike from the lists all those to whom notice has been mailed by the Clerk as ordered, who do not appear before them at that time and show cause why their names should not be stricken off the lists of qualified voters or who have not otherwise shown to them their qualifications as qualified voters, provided such notice has been mailed by the Clerk at least ten days before Revision Day. Any person feeling aggrieved by the action of the registration officials or the Mayor and Town Council shall have the right to an appeal to the Circuit Court for Garrett County.

407B. Whenever in the opinion of the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland a new general registration of all the qualified voters of said town is desirable, then the advertisement and notice of registration provided to be given in this Act shall clearly state the fact that all qualified voters are required to again register, whereupon the old registration lists shall be voided. At all other times after the general 1939 registration, the registration on the last Monday in January in each election year shall be for the purpose of registering only additional qualified voters upon the lists maintained by the said Mayor and Town Council and for the purposes of revision. But whenever a general registration of voters is held under this section in an election year, the officers of registration, in addition to sitting for this purpose on the last Monday in January, shall sit for such additional day or days as are designated by the said Mayor and Town Council and specified in such public notice.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That this Act shall take effect June 1, 1939.

Approved May 3, 1939.

CHAPTER 93.

AN ACT to add three new sections to Article 12 of the Code of Public Local Laws of Maryland (1930 Edition), title "Garrett County", sub-title "Oakland", said new sections to be known as Sections 406A, 406B and 406C to follow immediately after Section 406 of said Article, providing for elections in Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland, and the arranging of an official ballot for the same.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That three new and additional sections be and they are hereby added to Article 12 of the Code of Public Local Laws of Maryland (1930 Edition), title "Garrett County", sub-title "Oakland", said new sections to be known as Sections 406A, 406B and 406C to follow immediately after Section 406 of said Article and to read as follows:

406A. The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, in lieu of any primary election, shall cause to be placed on the official ballot of said town the name of any registered voter of said town who fulfills the qualifications for the office for which he seeks and who delivers to the Clerk of said town ten days before the regular municipal election before the hour of four o'clock P. M., of that day, a petition asking to be placed thereon, setting forth his name, residence, age, whether he is a citizen of the United States and a taxpayer of said town of Oakland and the length of time he has lived in said town of Oakland and the office which he seeks, after also paying the required fee for that particular office. The filing fee for the candidates to the various elective offices shall be as follows: Mayor, $5.00; Treasurer, $5.00, and Councilman, $2.50.

406B. The official ballot, which only can be cast at the election, shall be printed and supplied to the judges of election by the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, and shall contain the names of all the candidates who have properly qualified and paid the required filing fee, as set out in the preceding section, for their particular office, arranged alphabetically under the proper designation of the office for which they are candidates. At said election no ballots shall be accepted or counted by the judges of election except the official ballot, which ballot shall contain a square opposite the name of each candidate, which may be voted by a cross mark in said square opposite the name of the candidate voted for, or the name of the person or persons voted for may be written in the blank space provided with square opposite in which a cross mark must be placed to so vote.

406C. The three judges of election and the two clerks to be appointed under Section 413 of this Article shall keep the polls open from nine o'clock in the morning until six o'clock at night and shall conduct the said election in the same manner in which the judges of election are now directed to conduct elections for State and county officials, as far as may be practicable, after making oath before some Justice of the Peace of Garrett County that they will only permit those to vote whose names appear upon the registration lists as duly qualified voters, and the said judges shall make their returns as to the votes cast and persons elected at said election under hands and seals to the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland and to the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That this Act shall take effect June 1, 1939. Approved May 3, 1939.

Provided, however, that after the expiration of five (5) years from the date of issue, the Mayor and Town Council may, from time to time, upon any anniversary of the date of issue redeem any one or all of said bonds. If less than the whole issue is to be redeemed, said Mayor and Town Council shall proceed to determine by lot which of said bonds are to be redeemed, and when said bond or bonds are thus selected for redemption, the Mayor and Town Council shall give notice to the holder thereof by registered mail, if known, and if the holder is not known, then the Mayor and Town Council shall give notice by advertisement inserted in two newspapers if so many be published in said town, of the number of said bond or bonds selected for redemption, and when and where it is to be paid, and interest shall cease on said called in bonds or bond from and after the date fixed for redemption.

A TIMELY REMINDER

vert pipe from a number of concerns by letter, and that they had taken the lowest price offered.

The present commissioners have had rather a stormy career since their election last November. A citizens' committee attempted last fall without success, to force them to annul a contract for the purchase of approximately $60,000 worth of road machinery. Then early this year, due to a change in the levy date, there was no money from taxes coming into the treasury and they faced the possibility of having federal and state welfare money cut off because they couldn't furnish their share locally. At this time a "Mr. X" showed up at the last minute and loaned them the money, when banks refused to handle any more county orders because the Commissioners found they could not pay interest on them. Finally a law was passed by the legislature enabling them to borrow enough to cover this difficulty and since then no major difficulty had arisen, until the grand jurors were called in September.

They began investigation of alleged violations and recessed until last Monday when they declared their work completed and found the indictments.

Birthday Surprise Party Held

MT. LAKE PARK

There is one thing sure—Santa Claus will not have to go far to get his toys this year for the boys and girls of Mountain Lake. Mr. R. F. Boening is taking care of that. In his spare time he is making toys for the "kiddies." His workshop is in the old Assembly building. Mr. Boening does not have a great deal of spare time, but what he has goes for making lovely toys for children. Seems to us that it might be a good idea to give a great deal of time to this industry. After all real craftsmen in this particular line are scarce and few and in Mr. Boening we do have a real craftsman. Martin's store has a few samples of his work on display and they are worth while.

Queer weather we are having here in Mountain Lake Park. No one can predict what the next day may bring forth. Heavy snow one day and warm the next. Moon and stars bright; the weather balmy. The same night we get thunder, hail and rain, then a bit of snow. It's too much for any poor mortal to "prophetize" just what will come next.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Brown were at Bayard on Friday night to attend the birthday celebration of Mr. Brown's mother, Mrs. A. V. Brown. It was a family gathering of all the children.

Mrs. Gay Hayden and son, Willard, spent Friday in Westernport.

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. White are occupying their new home which they recently purchased.

Mrs. E. L. Winchell, who was extremely ill several days last week, is now improving, but is still quite sick.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Camden were called to Cumberland on Monday by the critical condition of Mrs. Camden's sister-in-law, Mrs. A. L. Murkland, who is a patient at Memorial hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Camden have been in Cumberland for the past week returning home a few days ago. Mrs. Murkland was taken ill while visiting at the Camden home. It was thought she was improving but a turn for the worse came on Sunday night and little hope is held for her recovery.

Nancy Traver Jacobs, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Jacobs was hostess on Saturday afternoon to a number of her little friends celebrating her sixth birthday. Hallowe'en decorations were carried out with candle lights making a lovely setting. Games were played.

Mayor Oscar Hall, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Frank Murphy and Mrs. George Dawson left on Tuesday for Westernport to attend the Convocation of the Episcopal church being held there.

Rev. F. G. Coleman will have charge of the evangelistic services which are being held at the Baptist church in Loch Lynn Heights. The services will continue through until November 19. So far a great number have attended these meetings.

The Neighborhood club met on Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. W. B. Love. Assistant hostesses were Mrs. Gay Hayden and Mrs. Timothy Moon.

SCOOP'S COLUMN

About the most disgusting thing in the news pictures this week was that of Al Jolson embracing Ruby Keeler for a farewell kiss as he left Los Angeles for New York following his wife's filing a suit for divorce. She charges extreme cruelty, yet they parted with tears in their eyes. It is well I am not the judge sitting to decide the case. If I were I'd certainly rule "insufficient grounds." Anybody that makes 'em part with tears in their eyes can't be so extremely cruel.

I overheard a statement last Saturday which certainly seems true. A person said the people who had the money were those in business selling things that people didn't need but evidently wanted. For instance the liquor, tobacco, chewing gum and similar businesses.

In Elkins the Henry Gassaway Davis mansion, costing $200,000 to build, was sold to a group of liquor men for $20,000. Last Saturday Rock Lodge, located in Garrett county, costing probably a hundred thousand dollars, was sold to the owners of the Mail Pouch Tobacco Company, Wheeling, for a little over $45,000.

In these cases and others they apparently have the money to spend—and do it freely.

VISITORS THRILLED WITH TRIP IN GARRETT COUNTY

Members Of Confederation Of Western Maryland Communities Make Week-End Tour To Area

FIND IT "JUST LOVELY"

First hand information about the State's conservation program in this section of Maryland was obtained by a number of representatives of the Confederation of West Maryland Communities in a week-end tour of Garrett county and in addition they were enraptured by the charm of the mountains. Those from Frederick and Washington counties did not know there was so much territory west of them in the same Congressional District.

Frederick county (with the exception of Montgomery county) is the most eastern of the Sixth District and Garrett the most western. Both counties vote for the same member of Congress, yet heretofore Garrett county seemed so far away as the Ohio River.

F. W. Besley, state forester, was host for the week-end tour, and with him in the entertainment were Karl E. Pfeiffer, assistant state forester, and H. C. Buckingham, Cumberland, district forester.

The party arrived early Saturday evening at Swallow Falls CCC camp for dinner. Later the group was entertained at the recreation hall with Maryland movies, explained by Mr. Besley. These pictures showed what Maryland had in natural charm. Mr. Besley stated that Maryland, as the result of CCC aid, was about twenty years ahead of schedule. Forest conservation, game protection, watershed maintenance and recreational promotion were being stressed.

The pictures were an inkling of what was realized by the group when they traversed the by-ways of Garrett county, and saw Swallow Falls, Muddy Creek Falls nad Tolliver Falls in the Swallow Falls camp area; Meadow Mountain CCC camp area, Savage River State forest area, on the verge of which the five-mile lake of the Savage river dam will wash, and the New Germany camp. In going to these places, roads, some newly created were traversed. Garrett, a county of distinctive charm, was voted "just lovely," on a mellow November day.

Guests At Herrington Manor

Most of the members of the party spent Saturday night at Oakland but those who accepted the hospitality of Herrington Manor, west of Oakland, where a large lake is being constructed, felt repaid. The cabins here with their mammoth fireplaces, and all sanitary facilities, were found most inviting. There are now about twenty-five cabins in Garrett recreational centers and it is expected this number will be increased to 50 within two years.

Breakfast was had Sunday at Swallow Falls camp and lunch at Meadow Mountain camp. The visitors returned to their homes Sunday night.

In the party were James H. Gambrill, Jr., president of the Confederation; Mrs. David C. Winebrenner, David C. Winebrenner, III, publisher of the Frederick Citizen and former Secretary of State; Mr. and Mrs. John S. Newman, Parsons Newman, Mr. and Mrs. Holmes D. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Storm, William T. Delaplaine, publisher of the Frederick News-Post, and Mrs. Delaplaine, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley H. Gambrill, Dr. Henry I. Stahr, president of Hood College, and Mrs. Stahr, Dr. Joseph H. Apple, president emeritus, Hood College, and Mrs. Apple, Mr. and Mrs. R. Brad Wolfe, John A. Shires, manager of the Francis Scott Key hotel, and Mrs. Shires, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Kleist, Mr. and Mrs. T. Poole Jones, Mrs. Cyrus Gambrill, G. Mantz Besant, all of Frederick; G. S. Waybright and sons, Harold and Daniel, Thurmont; State Senator C. Clyde Squires, Port Deposit; Madlin Lum, Elkton.

Allegany county was represented by Harold W. Smith, secretary, Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Smith, and Frank Lee Carl, and Washington county by J. Andrew Cohill, of Hancock.

Garrett countians who joined in welcoming the visitors were Claudine M. Friend, postmaster at Friendsville; R. E. Guard and J. W. Holman, of Friendsville; William Miller, Accident; William R. Offutt, W. R. Browning, George M. Browning, Major Enoch B. Garey, Bernard I. Gonder, Franklin E. Rathbun, Joseph E. Harned, F. D. Bittle, Howard Riggs and F. W. B. Taylor, all of Oakland.

The Big Run camp development in the Savage River State Forest which will be touched by the Savage river dam, is only a little over a mile from Bond, on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. Mr. Buckingham announced that the Washington Ski club had arranged for a series of visits to New Germany during the coming winter.

ANNUAL 4-H CLUB DINNER SET FOR FRIDAY EVENING

Dr. Linden S. Dodson, Rural Sociologist, To Be Chief Speaker

The annual 4-H club banquet is to be held in the Methodist church assembly room in Oakland on Friday evening, November 17, at 7:30 o'clock, it was announced from the Extension office at the Court House.

The dinner is held under the joint auspices of John H. Carter, County Agent, and Miss Mildred Barton, the Home Demonstration Agent. About 125 are planning to attend.

Dr. Linden S. Dodson, professor of rural sociology, University of Maryland, will be the principal speaker. Other persons who will appear on the program are Delbert M. Davis, cashier of the First National Bank of Oakland; R. F. Boening, Mt. Lake Park, and Mylo S. Downey, assistant State Boys' club agent.

Last year the banquet was held at Friendsville.

MRS. WEISE SLUGGED AND ROBBED AT GRANTSVILLE

Hotel Manager Is Struck From Behind With Heavy Instrument

Mrs. Robert Weise, of Grantsville, was slugged and robbed about 7:50 o'clock last Thursday evening, November 9, in front of the Victoria hotel, Grantsville, where she resides.

Mrs. Weise is proprietress of the hotel and her husband operates a refreshment parlor a few doors away. While Mr. Weise was out of town on business his wife was looking after his business.

She closed the parlors about dinner time but returned after dinner to dispose of the day's receipts. She put five $5 bills into a small sugar sack and the remainder of the cash she locked in the safe.

Mrs. Weise said she heard a man walking behind her as she walked the short distance back to the hotel but did not look around. As she reached the small passageway between the hotel and residence next door she was struck on the back of the head, evidently with a heavy club or blackjack. As she fell her assailant grabbed the money bag and fled.

No one witnessed the attack. Edward Stowell stopped nearby for gas a few minutes afterwards and the headlights showed Mrs. Weise's unconscious figure on the pavement. He obtained help and she was removed to her home. Dr. N. R. Davis reported she had received a slight concusion and was suffering from shock.

State's Attorney Neil C. Fraley and Sheriff J. W. Owens were notified but no arrests have been made. Mrs. Weise did not even catch a glimpse of her assailant.

DRAMATIC CLUB PLAYS SCHEDULED FOR NOV. 17

Club To Present Two Comedies And One Tragedy

On November seventeenth the Dramatic Club of Oakland High school will present three one-act plays—two hilarious comedies and one tragedy. This production is not to substitute for the regular three-act play that will be presented in March. It is to afford each dramatic student the privilege of appearing in a public production, and at the same alme provide excellent entertainment for many. It will improve the technique of those who have already done so and will teach those who have not. All in all, these plays will be outstanding productions displaying the amateur talent of Oakland high school. The committee appointed selected the following plays:

1. Comin' Round the Mountain, Hill Billy Comedy, by Ned Albert.

Extremely funny. The action takes place in the interior of Judkin's cabin in a remote section of the Ozark Mountains. The furniture that is used is roughly made and consists of soap boxes and kegs, which add much to the atmosphere of the play.

2. The Ghostly Passenger. Mystery Comedy, by Millard Crosby.

3. Auf Wiedershen, Tragedy, by Sada Cowan.

G. O. P. STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE HAS MEETING

Survey Of Congressional Situation In 6th District Is Made

A survey of the Congressional situation in the Sixth District from a Republican standpoint was made Tuesday night at a meeting of members of the State Central Committees of Garrett, Allegany, Frederick, Montgomery and Washington counties held at Hagerstown.

Colonel George Henderson, chairman of the Allegany county committee, presided and called on the various committeemen for expressions of opinion as to the coming campaign and likely candidates.

Colonel Henderson in opening his remarks emphasized that the committees were in no sense trying to pick candidates nor to eliminate anyone from becoming a candidate, but it was the desire to try to keep harmony and to prepare plans for a vigorous campaign with a united party. In addition to reviewing the Congressional situation, the committeemen laid plans for the campaign next year.

Attending the meeting from the county were Julius C. Renninger, the chairman; Henry W. McComas and George D. White, William D. Casteel, other member of the committee, was unable to attend. There were twenty-five present in all. It is planned to hold another meeting in January at a time and place to be announced later.

Although no person indicated he would be a candidate next year, it was intimated that A. Charles Stewart, Allegany county, and Walter Johnson, Montgomery county, former pitcher for the Washington baseball club, were thinking about the possibility of being candidates for the nomination.

ELECTRIC COMPANY NOW AT WORK ON NEW LIGHTS

New Poles Erected; To Increase Lights In Business Section

Preparatory to improvement in the lighting system in the business section of Oakland, the West Maryland Power Company has a crew of men at work this week erecting new poles along and adjacent to Second street.

The improvements were approved recently by the Mayor and Town Council whereby the town gets additional lighting at no additional cost in return for the signing of a twenty-year agreement with the power company.

The poles are forty feet high, with standard 16-foot cross arms, and they will carry new fixtures for the new lighting system.

All lamps on Alder and Second streets will be increased from 400 to 600 candle power and two additional lights will be placed, one adjacent to the Nally building on Second street and one on Liberty street, just off Second street, in front of the Presbyterian church. At the postoffice the lamp will be increased to 400 candle power. New 250 candle power lamps are to be placed on Third street at the Leighton Brothers Garage, in front of the Methodist church and the Parochial school on Oak street. A number of the 100-candle power lamps thruout the town have already been increased to 250 candle power.

Frank Kley, local manager of the West Maryland Company, said the work will probably be completed this week.

Get News In Early For Next Week's Issue

Again it has been proclaimed that the year 1939 is no exception to other years, when it comes to Thanksgiving Day. The time may be changed and all that, but there is still a Day of Thanksgiving, and it falls on Thursday, as has been the custom since President Lincoln issued his proclamation in the year 1863.

Since Thursday is regular publication day of The Republican and experience has shown that justice cannot be done both to the publication and the traditional turkey day, it has been decreed that The Republican next week will be published one day earlier than usual—on Wednesday.

Therefore, advertisers and our county correspondents are requested to submit material to this office one day in advance of their usual time to insure publication.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN, 95, DIES AT HIS HOME NOV. 10

John Sines, one of the two surviving Civil War veterans in Garrett county, died at his home at Sines, near Swallow Falls, on Friday morning, November 10 at five o'clock following an illness of a few weeks. Mr. Sines was found dead in bed by members of his family.

Mr. Sines was born June 7, 1844, at Sang Run, Garrett county, then a part of Allegany county. He was a son of the late William and Eliza Sines. His age was ninety-five years, five months and three days.

Mr. Sines served four years in the Third Maryland Infantry, Company D, along with several others in the same command from this county.

George D. Marley, Deer Park, who is now past 102 years of age, is the only surviving Civil War veteran now in Garrett county.

Mr. Sines had been active throughout his life and by occupation was a farmer in the Swallow Falls section.

Surviving are two children, Walter Sines, Oakland, and Mrs. Edith F. Cross, whose husband recently died at Akron, Ohio, and following his death Mrs. Cross came to the home of her father; also by three brothers, Elijah Sines, Friendsville; A. L. Sines, Oakland, and W. G. Sines, Cannan, West Va.; ten grandchildren, 17 greatgrandchildren and 5 great-greatgrandchildren. Mrs. Sines died eight years ago.

Funeral services were conducted on Sunday afternoon, November 12, at 2:30 o'clock, from Pine Grove church, Rev. Emory Fike, of Eglon, W. Va., officiating. Interment was in the Sines cemetery near Sines.

Miss Monica O'Leary, who has been on the county health staff as a registered nurse for the past two years, has been transferred to Calvert county and began her duties this week at Prince Frederick.

Miss O'Leary's place here is being taken by Miss Anna Shaffer, a native of Pennsylvania, who received her education in Pennsylvania schools and her public health nursing in William and Mary College, Williamsburg, Va. She will reside in Oakland and her territory for work will be in this community.

Dr. H. R. DuPuy, health officer, said yesterday he had assisted the neighboring county of Preston (West Va.) last Saturday. A Terra Alta physician needed diphtheria anti-toxin and was unable to contact his county health officer, so he called the Garrett County Health Office. The needed article was immediately furnished and the patient at last reports is recovering.

SCHOOL BUDGET FOR 1940 IS DISCUSSED BY BOARD

Will Be submitted Later To The County Commissioners—Asks For Minimum of 51 Cents

OTHER MATTERS DISCUSSED

At a meeting of the Board of Education Wednesday afternoon study was made by the Board members of the annual school budget for the coming calendar year of 1940 for submission to the County Commissioners at an early date. The budget for schools will be provided for in the county levy which is to be laid on or before the first day of January.

The budget was prepared by F. E. Rathbun, County Superintendent of Schools, and is in accordance with the revised requirements of the Acts of the General Assembly of Maryland, 1939. A minimum tax rate of 51 cents upon each $100 of assessable valuation of property in the county was included in the budget for current expenses in order for the county to receive the equalization fund from the State. The equalization fund for the year would be approximately $141,603. The amount the County Commissioners would be required to levy for would be $100,273.

Items for capital outlay purposes, or new buildings and equipment, amounting to about $25,400, were also included in the budget for consideration of the County Commissioners. The budget is only tentative and has not yet been presented to the Commissioners.

Teachers Transferred

Superintendent Rathbun also announced transfer of teachers as follows, effective Friday: Mrs. Bertha M. Trost, assistant teacher, Kempton school, due to smaller number of pupils there, to principalship of Fort Hill school near Swanton; Mrs. Delta G. Lohr, principal of Fort Hill school to principal of Jennings school; Miss Velora V. Swauger, principal at Jennings, to assistant teacher in Friendsville elementary. The latter position was made necessary due to the larger number of pupils enrolled there this year.

The Board adopted a resolution that pupils pay for articles made from wood, metal and other materials as built by them in farm and industrial shops in the high schools of the county upon a cost basis.

A resolution was passed, as a result of which only Garrett county high school pupils will be permitted to attend Bayard high school with the tuition being paid by the Board of Education, only after written approval has been given specifically by the Board for such attendance.

J. R. Gooding was appointed trustee of the Kempton school in place of Jack King, resigned. Resignations of Daniel N. Green and James O'Brien, as trustees of the Black Hawk school, were presented and accepted.

All members of the Board, W. W. Dawson, W. W. Savage and Stuart F. Hamill, and F. E. Rathbun, County Superintendent, attended the meeting.

PROGRESS IS REPORTED IN MILK SUPPLY SURVEY

Farmers Not Already Interviewed Will Soon Be Contacted

Progress in the milk supply survey was reported again this week as business men and helpers continued to contact farmers who had failed to attend the scheduled meetings.

Vern P. Melhuish, representative of the Carnation Company, was in Oakland this week and expressed himself as being wellp leased with the progress being made. A list will be completed today of farmers who have not been interviewd and each one will be contacted to learn the number of cows he is now milking and the number he would milk if he was assured a permanent market for the product of his herd.

L. M. Fraley, mayor, reported this morning that the questionaires received from 310 farmers showed 2,000 cows now being milked and that this number would be increased by more than 50 per cent if a receiving station was erected here.

A meeting is scheduled for Friday evening at Eglon, West Va., for farmers of that community. The receiving station here would serve both Preston county, W. Va., and Somerset county, Pa., in addition to Garrett county.

Scoop's Column

By Scoop Himself

Regarding this year's change in the Thanksgiving date, by proclamation of President Roosevelt, a West Virginia merchant advertised the other day with this sign: "Better do your shopping early this year; who knows but what tomorrow may be Christmas!"

Mountain Lake Park's mayor is some fence straddler. He issues a Thanksgiving declaration in which he praises President Roosevelt and Governor O'Conor for making the day on Thursday, November 23, which he declares enables the merchants to have a longer period of Christmas shopping, and then turns right around and insists that he will stand by the traditions of Abraham Lincoln and make Thanksgiving at Mountain Lake Park on Thursday, November 30, because the Park has no specific business that would profit by the extra week intervening prior to Christmas.

The mayor of Richwood, West Va. has decreed that on Thursday, November 23, only roosters shall be eaten in his town on Roosevelt's Thanksgiving, while the real turkey day will be on Thursday, November 30.

When you come right down to the point of the whole matter, it doesn't make any difference when a person gives thanks, just so he does give thanks, and gives thanks to the proper One. "Render unto God the things that are God's," said the Saviour when he was being tested by the Pharisees.

But it does get under our skin the way the President wants to meddle in everything. Business men never hollered before about when Thanksgiving came. They always accepted it when it came and prepared for Christmas when the day was over.

If the truth were out we'd all realize that the President can't stand to be in obscurity. He wants the eternal spotlight, and when he doesn't get it one way he tries another.

He can have his spotlight—but give me—and thousands of others, the right to maintain our orderly manner of living, without busting in on us with crackpot ideas and idiotic changes.

Seems long at the beginning,

The Big Kicks in Not Being Rich

YES, it's nice to have a lot of money to spend. But don't forget there's also plenty of fun to be had "on the way up" to affluence.

There's the satisfaction of achieving something better than you're used to—stepping up, for instance, to this smart, swift, solid Buick after you've been driving run-of-the-mill cars.

Just you feel the silk-smooth surge of its great 107 horsepower miero-poise-balanced straight-eight engine—and you know that all that went before was only preliminary to this big thrill.

You flip the firm, easy gearshift—and the click of its action under your hands says here's the real thing in precision-made mechanisms, not just a stopgap to tide you over.

You roll your steady, even-going, firm-riding way, and the taut, staunch, everywhere-substantial feel of this fine carriage brings a sense of "getting somewhere" as satisfying as your first gilt-edged bond.

You've got action in this honey. You've got style. You've got value, and everybody knows it. You've got life—you'll romp up hills and tame the wide-open spaces and doff your cap to no one on the way.

And there's nothing light, or loose, or tinny, or labored about it anywhere. Here's the sure, steady, take-it-in-stride demeanor of a car that's competent-plus.

Suppose you have to stretch a bit to buy this Buick—well, you'll find that will only make you prize this great eight all the more!

So go look at the car that can mark a milestone in your life. It doesn't cost a thing to find out how little a really good car will stand you delivered.

MRS. DARRELL MARTIN'S RECIPE CHOSEN THIS WEEK

Rural Lady Submits Recipe For Molasses Squares Which will be Placed In National Contest

CONTEST ENDS SATURDAY

Into its third successful week goes the Brer Rabbit Molasses contest while recipes continue to pour in from the housewives of Garrett county and communities extending into adjacent States.

In last week's contest Mrs. Darrell Martin, Route 2, Oakland, was awarded first prize of $1.00 for her recipe for molasses squares. She was selected first by the judges from among twenty-seven recipes, the greatest number in any one week yet turned in.

Not only does Mrs. Martin receive the $1.00 weekly prize, but her recipe is automatically entered in the national contest to compete for the grand national prize of a year's supply of groceries, $500 worth, or $500 in cash.

The four runners-up in last week's contest will each receive a can of Brer Rabbit molasses. These winners are Mrs. John W. Robey, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Carl D. Mayle, Deer Park; Mrs. Nevin Warnick, Grantsville, and Mrs. Olga Elliott, Mountain Lake Park.

Mrs. Martin's winning recipe is as follows:

Molasses Squares

One-half cup sugar, ½ cup butter, 2 eggs, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup Brer Rabbit Molasses, 1¾ cup flour, 1½ cup chopped nut meats, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Cream butter and gradually cream in sugar; add well beaten eggs, then Brer Rabbit molasses; sift and measure flour, add salt and resift. Stir in flour gradually, add vanilla, stir in nut meats; pour ¾ inch thick in well greased shallow pan.

Bake in moderate oven about 15 to 30 minutes. When cooled, cut into squares. Cover with icing if desired. This is a form of cake candy.

There is still time for others to get their contributions in. The fourth and final week's contest closes Saturday and entries must be postmarked before midnight, November 18.

It was noticed that several sending in recipes were using both sides of the paper upon which to write, which is against the rules. Several recipes have been received with no label enclosed. These, of course, cannot be included in the judging. Rules of the contest may be learned by referring to a former issue of The Republican.

MT. LAKE PARK

Last week we mentioned the vast amount of business going out of the community to mail order houses. This week we have heard a great deal of arguing on the Southern and Eastern Cooperatives. The Eastern Coop interested us because it takes in our section here. In Oakland it is the Southern. When we began to find out something about it we just happened to hit those who were "agin" it. The time was too short to get the other side, but perhaps after this is read we shall be forced to hear the others. After all there is always two sides to any question, so here is what we learned from several farmers and dairymen:

Their contention was that for years they have been buying their feed from the local dealers of the county and that they expect to continue to do so, for, said they, "We can buy it cheaper from our own people and the money stays here. The dealers have been good to us and we are satisfied and can see no reason for a change."

There was much more—facts and figures which at the moment we were unable to grasp, but the main thing was that these men all felt they were right. Next week we will try to get the other side, if you are interested.

Marriage

Of interest here is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Nina Gnegy to Mr. Getty Keefer. The ceremony took place at the Methodist parsonage on Thursday evening. Roast Turkey And Savory Stuffing

The wise cook distinguishes herself on Thanksgiving—not by serving dishes that are different—but by cooking the conventional favorites (turkey or other roast poultry, plus stuffing, plus cranberries) well, and seasoning them as tastily as she knows how.

It may not be possible to buy the best turkey on the market, but knowing the earmarks of turkey quality will help in getting the most for whatever there is to spend. Some of these earmarks are a well-rounded body, a well-fleshed breast, a good coating of fat under the skin, few blemishes, and a few pinfeathers. If the turkey is to go direct to table from oven, it is important that it have a good shape, so that it will look well on the table, with no deformities such as a very crooked breast to interfere with carving. Allow 3-4 to 1 pound of turkey for each person. That is, turkey weighed as it is usually sold in retail markets, picked but not drawn, withh ead and feet still on.

Although there are stuffings and stuffings, by far the most common are those with a bread-crum base. Good proportions for such a stuffing are one pint or more of mixed celery, parsley, onion, and any other seasoning desired, 3-4 cup of butter or other good-flavored fat, to every quart of bread crumbs. The best crumbs for a "dry" type of stuffing are made from bread 2 to 3 days old.

Saute the seasoning in the fat, then add the crumbs. Let all get piping hot. Sprinkle the inside of the turkey with salt and fill the body cavity and the loose skin around the neck with this stuffing. Putting the stuffing in hot speeds up the cooking and improves the flavor. Put the stuffing in lightly without packing it, because it will expand during the roasting.

In three brief sentences, the method for roasting plump young turkeys is: Keep the oven temperature moderate all the time the turkey is roasting. Use an open pan with a rack. Add no water.

With pan drippings, melted butter, or other fat baste the turkey at regular intervals, turning it each time. Start turkey breast down, then turn it from side to side and occasionally on its back. Baste and turn small or medium-sized turkeys every half hour. Turn larger turkeys, cooked in a slower oven, about every hour.

From here on, if the bird comes to the table in one piece, the cook has no jurisdiction over the turkey. She can help the carver, however, by putting the turkey on a platter that is large enough to allow a zone of safety all around the edge. She can hold the garnish to a few well-placed springs of parsley. She can set the table so that water glasses are a safe distance from the carving knife: give the carver space to operate, in other words. She can provide a two-tined carving fork and an extra plate for the pieces of meat as the carver removes them from the bird. Men who take pride in their carving will see to it themselves that the knife is razor sharp.

Stance of the carver may be sitting or standing, whichever is most convenient. Some men prefer to stand. The carver also has a choice of the position in which the turkey is set before him. If he has trouble approaching the bird when it is placed broadside with legs toward the right—he may find it easier to work with a bird that is set so that ist legs point directly toward him. Few men have trouble cutting off legs of the turkey, slicing dark meat from it. But the waterloo of many a carver comes when he tries to take off the wing. According to one expert, a good way to overcome this is to remember that the ball and socket joint of the wing is usually farther toward the center of the bird than he thinks. Place the knife about an inch above where the wing joins the body and cut toward the center at an angle of about 45 degrees.

With the wing off, there is a long clean sweep of breast ready to be sliced. For this operation keep the two-tined fork astride the breastbone as it is for removing the wing. Then with the left hand holding the turkey steady slice the breast with a slightly sawing motion down and away from the carver. Remove the slices to a plate with the carving knife.

For "seconds", if one side of the turkey isn't enough to serve the guests around once, carve the other side of the turkey in the same order. Time to begin serving the plates with a spoonful of stuffing, a portion of white and a slice of dark meat is as soon as the first piece of breast is ready.

WARNS OF POISON FOUND ON FRUIT FROM SPRAYING

"Don't run unnecessary risks. Before you bite into that luscious apple, those grapes, or pears, or any of the other fruits so aliuringly displayed on roadside stands, in the stores and markets, wash the fruit thoroughly." This word of cautions comes from Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health. It applies also to fruits served on the table, packed in children's lunch boxes, or used in other ways.

"There is more than a chance," Dr. Riley continued, "that a bit of the poisonous spray used on growing fruit to protect it from insect enemies, will be found on the mature fruit. Vegetables are protected by the same sort of spray, so it is equally important that vegetables be washed with great care before they are cooked. Lettuce and other vegetables served raw, should be washed with equal thoroughness.

"The custom of spraying growing fruits and vegetables with poisonous chemical sprays to protect them against insect pests, has become very general. A great deal of the spray is washed off by the summer rains, but there is always a possibility of a trace of it being left as it does not dissolve readily. Fruits and vegetables go thru a great deal of handling before they finally reach the markets and a thorough washing will get rid of dirt and soil as well as of the chemicals used to bring about perfection in the crops when harvested.

Through special services maintained by the State Department of Health in cooperation with the inspection service of the University of Maryland, and the farmers and orchardists, great care is taken to protect Maryland fruit against damage from the chemicals used in the sprays, and to prevent fruit holding traces of such poisons from reaching State markets.

"Samples of Maryland-grown fruit are collected from representative orchards by the inspection service before the crop is harvested, and are brought to the chemical laboratories of the State Department of Health to be tested for traces of left-over-spray containing arsenic or other poisonous substances. If excess spray residue is found the growers or shippers are notified that it must be removed before the fruit is put on the market. The growers are very cooperative and work readily with us.

"Other States are giving similar service to the growers and consumers in other parts of the country, but in spite of the care that is taken, we hear every now and then of cases of poisoning that have occurred from the use of carelessly handled and unwashed fruits and vegetables.

"Sometimes the best-looking and most attractive vegetables and fruits are those that have been most heavily sprayed. You can't trust to appearances. It is always safest to wash both fruits and vegetables before using."

ARE you willing to make a simple experiment to prove that work goes faster, easier, in a light-conditioned kitchen? Then get a 150-watt Silvered Bowl lamp for the ceiling and see how much fine, glareless, indirect light it gives. Several inexpensive lighting fixtures especially designed for Silvered Bowl lamps are now available.

To have a really light-conditioned kitchen, you should also have good light at each work area. For instance, you should use a 60-watt MAZDA lamp over the sink.

Unless your stove is already equipped with a light, you'll be surprised at the difference a 40-watt MAZDA Lumiline lamp can make.

FINAL RECIPE CONTEST IS WON BY MISS M'LEAN

McHenry Lady Submits Recipe For Upside-Down Apple Ginger Bread; 50 Entries In Week

The Brer Rabbit molasses contest came to a close on Saturday at midnight, the final week's contest attracting more entries than any previous week and totaling three times as many as the first week. There were fifty entries in the final week's contest which was won by Miss Haroleen McLean, of McHenry. Miss McLean has been awarded $1.00 for her recipe for upside-down apple gingerbread.

Not only does Miss McLean receive the $1.00 weekly prize but her recipe is automatically entered in the national contest to compete for the grand national prize of a year's supply of groceries, or $500 in cash. The winners of the other three week's contests have also been entered in the national contest. They are Mrs. Claud Friend, Deer Park; Mrs. Ida Lee, Mt. Lake Park; and Mrs. Darrell Martin, Oakland.

The four runners-up in last week's contest will each receive a can of Brer Rabbit molasses. These winners are Ferne B. Railey, Bittinger; Mrs. Stanley E. Stanton, Grantsville; Mrs. Walter I. Friend, Swanton; and Addie M. Copp, Corinth, W. Va. They had recipes for baked beans and pork chops, mince meat, molasses doughnuts and plum pudding.

Prizes at Office

The $1.00 prizes have been mailed to the winners, and the cans of molasses are at The Republican office, and will be distriubted to the runners-up as they call for them.

Miss McLean's winning recipe is as follows:

Upside-Down Apple Gingerbread

sugar, 1 egg, unbeaten; 1 cup Brer Rabbit molasses, 2½ cups sifted flour, teaspoon baking powder, 1 cup boiling water, ¾ cup brown sugar firmly packed; 2 cups apples thinly sliced.

Combine shortening, salt, spices and soda; add sugar gradually and cream until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat until smooth.

Sprinkle brown sugar on bottom of a 10x10x12 inch pan greased. Arrange apples on sugar and pour batter over all. Bake in moderate oven (350 dgerees, Fahrenheit) 50 to 60 minutes. Serve up-side-down with whipped cream. It is very fragrant, spicy and delicious. Excellent for over the Thanksgiving holidays.

All those who sent recipes will receive a cook book from the Brer Rabbit company. All recipes were mailed to this company yesterday and entrants should expect their books in the near future. In judging the recipes it was necessary to eliminate quite a few because of the absence of the method, length of cooking, temperature, etc., recipes that otherwise might have been winners, had full directions been included.

October Traffic Death Fewer Than Last Year

Traffic crashes continue to take their toll of human lives and suffering on the highways of Maryland. During October there were 30 persons killed and 410 injured in traffic accidents outside of Baltimore City. This was five less persons killed than during October, 1938.

Up to November 1, a total of 236 have been killed compared to 250 for the same period in 1938. Garrett county leads the State for reductions in fatal accidents with a 75 per cent decrease.

Relief Expenditures Swing Upward In October

Relief expenditures, which began to rise last Auguest, continued the upward swing last month, the October report of the State Department of Public Welfare reveals. The increase in costs from September to October, $2,192, was attributed to a $7,298 jump in direct relief expenditures. The total expenditures were kept from mounting even higher last month due to a $7,051 decrease in costs of maintaining the dependent children's program.

The entire program involved the expenditure of $738,694 in October. Garrett county spent $10,248.

Fifty Join Red Cross During Second Week

Fifty new members were reported this week in the Red Cross annual roll call, bringing the total thus far to 110, and the amount of money received to $114.58. Mrs. Frank Spoerlein has been appointed solicitor for Accident.

At a hearing before Magistrate C. F. White they were each found guilty of creating a disturbance and were fined $1 and costs.

A hearing is to be given three persons, Paul Harvey, Carl Harvey and Clarence Paugh on Friday on charges of being drunk and disorderly at Wotring's filling station at the junction of the Mountain Lake Park road and Route 219, a mile east of Oakland last Saturday afternoon. It is alleged that one of the three had broken a glass in the door leading into the building. All three men are out on bail.

Victor Harold Kelly, of near Bnton, on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants, was fined $100 and costs and in default of payment was sent to the Garrett County Jail for thirty days. Kelly was also convicted of reckless driving and sentenced to jail for one day in default of $1 fine and costs. The car which Kelly was driving collided with the automobile of George Williamson, which was parked on Second street in front of the Owen Treacy residence last Saturday night, causing damage of $100 or more. Kelley was given a hearing before Magistrate White on Monday.

Stanley Wiley, of Jennings, will be given a hearing on next Wednesday, November 29, on a charge of maintaining a public nuisance in the town of Jennings and injuriously affecting the life and health of persons in the community. The information upon which Wiley was apprehended was furnished by Dr. H. R. DuPuy, County Health Officer. Wiley, it is alleged, maintains a hog pen near a general store and that the drain from the sty drains into the center of the street.

A number of witnesses were here on Tuesday to testify in the matter, but the trial, at the request of Wiley, was postponed until next week.

ROADS COMMISSION AND COMMISSIONERS CONFER

Both Groups Met Wednesday Morning to Discuss 1940 Plans

Members of the State Roads Commission met with the County Commissioners in the Court room on Wednesday morning to map out a plan of work for 1940, as to new construction, reconstruction and maintenance. Approximately $147,000 is to be made available for all three channels during the next year, and the purpose of the Roads Commission's visit was to outline what was possible under the state set-up, and to offer their cooperation in the county's problems.

The definite plans are to be worked out after the County Commissioners decide upon their course of action.

To Open Seventh Half Price Store About January First

Mr. F. H. Feld, owner of the Half Price Stores in Oakland and in five West Virginia towns, announced this week that he would open his seventh store in Meyersdale, Pa., about January 1, 1940.

He has leased a building in Meyersdale, located on Center street and in the main business section of the town, which is next to the Oakland store in comparison with the floor space.

It was eight years ago, in November, 1931, when the first Half Price Store was opened in Oakland. The business here enlarged and expanded, and in June, 1934, the store's first branch was opened in Petersburg, W. Va., followed by additional locations at Parsons, Moorefield, Kingwood and Franklin, West Va.

Change In Banking Hours Of Local Banks Effective Dec. 1

By advertisement printed in The Republican today, The Garrett National Bank and The First National Bank of Oakland, give notice that beginning December 1 banking hours will be changed, the closing time being set at two o'clock every afternoon of each business day except on Saturday, when the closing time will be 12 o'clock noon as at present. Both banks will open for business at the usual hour--nine o'clock, each morning.

This change has been made necessary by reason of the working of the National Labor Relations law which prohibits a work week of more than forty-two hours.

THANKSGIVING SERVICE 10:00 O'CLOCK THURSDAY

To Be Held In Methodist Church —Business Takes Holiday

Oakland is observing Thanksgiving Day in the traditional manner, with public offices and business establishments closed and a worship service arranged by the churches of town.

The annual union Thanksgiving service will be held in the Methodist church at ten o'clock, when there will be special music by the Methodist choir and a Thanksgiving message by Rev. Minor Sprague, pastor of the church. Other congragations of town participating in the service are the Lutheran and Episcopal.

Schools of the county closed Wednesday afternoon following a Thanksgiving program. They will remain closed until Monday morning, November 27.

Banks will be closed on Thanksgiving Day. Holiday hours will be observed at the postoffice. The general delivery window will be open only from 7:00 to 8:00 a. m., and there will be no city delivery of letters by carriers. The only mail leaving the local office will be by train and star routes.

Most of the business establishments will be closed the entire day.

MORE THAN $11,000 TO BE PAID BY CHRISTMAS CLUBS

More than $11,000 will be sent out from the two Oakland banks on December 1 in Christmas Savings Club checks. The money will be distributed among approximately 250 depositors of the First National Bank and the Garrett National Bank in Oakland.

Cashiers of the local banks stated that this year had shown an increase over the previous year when only $8,500 had been distributed, and that most of those who had started the savings accounts had more nearly completed what they had set out to do. Practically all had paid up accounts.

Throughout the nation over 350 million dollars will be distributed to more than seven million members of the clubs. The total distribution for 1939 is about seven per cent in excess of 1938 and the number of members to receive the checks shows an increase also. The average distribution per member amounts to $48.80, as against $47.00 for 1938.

It is estimated that over 50 per cent of the savings will go for Christmas purchases and the balance toward permanent savings, year-and bills, insurance premiums, taxes, education, travel, charity and mortgage interest.

The Christmas Club Savings feature was established fourteen years ago in this county by the First National Bank of Oakland. The following year it was adopted by the Garrett National Bank.

Christmas Clubs for next year will be started as soon as old checks are mailed out, the first payment being due the first week in December. There are clubs for as little as 25 cents a week. There will be no interest paid on these deposits, but they offer a systematic and regular way of saving money for a time when it is much needed.

Bayard Youth Has Role In Important Play

Charles Kisner, son of Edward C. Kisner, W. Va., has one of leading non-professional productions ever given in the United States of "Johnny Johnson," Paul Green's hilarious anti war satire at Santa Barbara, Calif.

He will appear as Johann Lang, a German soldier who assists Johnny Johnson in his attempt to restore reason to the world by halting the ravages of the World War.

Yonng Kisner is a former student at Bayard high school and was a member of its basketball team. He also took part in school plays and sang over the radio station at Santa Barbara.

Weather Changes

After a week or more of almost ideal fall weather, another sign of approaching winter appeared over Garrett county, dropping ice and sleet and two or three inches of snow.

Snow continued to fall lightly on Wednesday. The sleet was not heavy enough to do much damage. Roads were kept cindered to lessen danger of accidents.

NATURAL GAS STRUCK AT ACCIDENT LAST FRIDAY

Hole Now Down 3770 Feet; Development Company Will Continue Drilling To 7000 Feet

FLOW 40,000 FEET DAILY

Natural gas, in sufficient quantity to supply the residents of the town of Accident, was struck at a depth of 3,770 feet last Friday on the property of Harry Humberson, located on what is locally known as Town Hill, it was announced by Wm. E. Snee, in charge of drilling operations there for the New Penn Development Company.

A test was made by Mr. Snee on Sunday evening which developed the fact that the well was flowing 40,000 cubic feet of gas daily. In areas where gas is common, such an amount would not be considered a highly productive well, but in this county, where this is the first strike of its kind, the result is considered encouraging for those in charge of the operation.

Mr. Snee stated that he would continue to drill to the depth originally intended to reach a lower sand at approximately 7,000 feet in the hope of striking oil. The gas now produced at the well will be harnessed and used for firing the boiler operating the engine at the derrick.

The first well at Accident was drilled to a depth of 3,386 feet in 1920, when the tools were lost in the hole and operations were suspended. Then, not long ago, a number of tests were again made at Accident and the tests evidently appeared satisfactory as a modern well drilling rig was set up there where operations have been continued for several weeks twenty-four hours each day.

The New Penn Development Company has about every acre of ground in the Accident community under option for the mineral rights. The company has kept these options alive by paying certain sums annually to the land owners.

This first indication that there is really gas in the community has given rise to much speculation as to the final outcome, which would undoubtedly mean a prosperous era for a number of found or a much larger supply of gas be brought in.

Drilling of Diversion Tunnel For Savage Dam To Start In Week

A force of WPA workmen from Allegany county have been busy for the past month cleaning away brush and timber preparing for the erection of the Savage river dam, near Bloomington, this county.

George W. Legge, chairman of the Upper Potomac River Commission, said that drilling for the diversion tunnel would start within the next week, but unless there is an unusually mild winter there will be little actual construction before spring.

Owen E. Hitchins and George Warnick, the latter of Bloomington, and Oakland, are also members of the commission to develop the flood control program. Cost of the dam, 185 feet high and 1200 feet long, is estimated at $2,800,000, with $1,800,000, allotted by the WPA. Some 500 workers are to be employed for two years.

The dam is planned as a control of the dry-weather flow of the upper Potomac river to give a uniform water supply year-round for industrial plants, and as an important flood-control measure.

Teachers Paid for October

Checks for October salaries were mailed to school teachers and others connected with the school system on Tuesday. The amount necessary was raised by a county order of $8,258.99, given to the Board of Education by the County Commissioners. This amount, added to other funds already on hand, was sufficient to pay current bills.

The Commissioners stated that the school board was due to get another $23,000 from the county on January 1.

The Commissioners also announced that during the past week they had ordered payment to the banks of Oakland for interest on back county orders, which was authorized by the 1939 legislature. The First National Bank received $2,455.37, while the Garrett National Bank in Oakland received $187.94. This paid interest on back orders up to date, it was stated.

THE WORKS OF THE MESSIAH

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 8:14-27.
GOLDEN TEXT—Jesus of Nazareth . . . went about doing good.—Acts 10:38.

"Does it work?" Modern man is not impressed by a thing simply because great claims are made for it or it is intricately organized. After all, the important thing is, does it really work? Such a test can be carried to an extreme and the finest and richest things of life be thrown aside because they have no utilitarian value. But in general, the question is a good one, and especially is that true as it is applied to religious systems and philosophies of life. These claim to have power to deliver man from his sin and give him peace and rest. What we want to know is, do they actually do it, not only in the day of health and prosperity, but in the hour of death and devastation? The answer is that every one of them has failed and does fail, with the exception of Christianity, which comes "not in word but in power" (I Cor. 4:20). In Christianity is found the only real dynamic for daily living.

I. Personal Needs Satisfied (vv. 14-17).

This entire section of the Gospel of Matthew is concerned with miracles. It is interesting to note how many of these events concern personal needs. There is scant comfort to the needy one to speak to him in generalities about a great God who is ready to help people. When I am in need I want to know whether there is any help for me. Jesus healed Peter's mother in the home, and then He went out and healed multitudes in the throng, but in each case it was a personal interest which He took and a personal healing that was received.

Observe also that He met the need of all whether they were sick in body, mind or spirit. Someone may say, "That is all very well, but that took place when He was here on earth." Well, He is here now, working in and through the power of the Holy Spirit and in and through His children. The Lord Jesus Christ daily satisfies every need of His disciples, and often does so in ways which are miraculous in their sight.

II. Sacrificial Service Exemplified (vv. 18-22).

Following Jesus in discipleship is more than speaking sweet words of devotion or of taking part in the carrying out of some public worship ministry. To really follow Him is to "follow one whose vocation is such that there are incessant demands compelling the renunciation of home and the comforts of a settled life. Only the call of God can make one equal to the demands of such a hazardous life" (Edward E. Anderson).

Observe that even the demands which love may present on behalf of an aged father must not be permitted to stand between the disciple and his Lord. There is no thought of unkindness or lack of consideration here, for as our Lord points out, those who are spiritually dead, although still physically alive, may well be called on to care for the physical needs of an aged parent, even in the hour of death, if the Lord Jesus has work for His disciple to do elsewhere.

There is no thought of neglect of the duties of life, but rather of a placing of the Lord first, whatever else may take the second place. The blight upon many a Christian experience is that almost anything else which is of interest is allowed to take first place and the Lord must take second place if He is given any place at all.

III. Divine Power Demonstrated (vv. 23-27).

There are those in the world who are unable to see the workings of God's power in the spiritual realm because they themselves have not been spiritually born again (I Cor. 2:14). For these the Lord here presented the working of His mighty power in the realm of nature.

Satan, who is "the prince of this world" (John (14:30) had evidently whipped the waves of the sea into a mighty storm, possibly thus hoping to drown Jesus and get rid of his divine adversary, but the Lord Himself speaks in the majesty of His eternal power and we read that "there was a great calm" (v. 26). Even His disciples were strangely astonished that the very "winds and the sea obey Him." Yes, the forces of nature respond to His slightest word. The winds and the sea obey Him. But what is even more wonderful is that the turmoil of a man's soul becomes a great and blessed calm when this holy Lord Jesus speaks the word of peace.

Confused and troubled man or woman who reads these words, will you not now by faith submit yourself to the One who can speak to you, who can meet and satisfy every one of your needs, and who can give you the blessed privilege of sacrificial service on His behalf in a needy world?

Scoop's Column

By Scoop Himself

Mr. Jos. D. Ashby, proprietor of the Caslon Press, Inc., Washington, D. C., and a native of Garrett county, is constantly sending out appropriate verses. At this period of the year he hasn't failed.

TRULY THANKFUL

I'm truly thankful, Father,
for goodly things:
A home to keep, a yellow
bird that sings.

I'm truly thankful for wholesome food, my daily bread:
For peace, for restful nights,
a fresh, clean bed.

I'm truly thankful for autumn
skies and golden grain,
For health, for joy, for strength to start again.

I'm truly thankful, Father,
for goodly things,
A life to give, a grateful heart that sings.

Waste of Time and Words

Mountain Lake's Mayor is very much grieved because his proclamation for Thanksgiving did not appear in this paper except through a resume of it in this column. So he is advertising about it in this week's issue of The Republican.

Now, if our readers are curious they might do as he suggests, but if they do, and then refer to last week's comment in this column, they will find that it took this column only half the words to say what it took the mayor twice as long to say. That, however, is nothing unusual for the mayor. But he is a fine chap, nevertheless.

Not only that, but the readers will be able to see for themselves that our opinion of a week ago is correct—that he sure was straddling the fence, praising Roosevelt and O'Conor and at the same time trying to give Abraham Lincoln all the credit. He should eat rooster on Thanksgiving, no matter upon which date he celebrates.

Good Morals And Gentle Manners

Since people will have more time this week-end to sit around at home and convalesce from an overdose of Thanksgiving turkey, I consider this an apt time to present some excerpts from a book, "Good Morals and Gentle Manners, printed in 1873. Some fundamental parts of the book are as good today as they were then. As for other portions, the readers themselves can be the judges. As for instance:

Chewing Gun

There are good physiological reasons why the incessant chewing of anything is injurious, and it certainly is not in good taste to see persons in school or other public places with their mouths full of gum or wax, and apparently in laborious exercise. Such rumination is very unbecoming on the street, and if observed, would give rise to serious doubts whether the ruminant be a lady or not.

Odors And Perfumes

Some persons are gifted with a very delicate sense of smell, which they gratify by the use of sweet perfume. To enjoy this pleasure, they scent their boxes and bureaus with odors, which are thus imparted to their clothing. But all persons are not alike in this respect; perfumes that are agreeable to some are highly offensive to others. It is not in good taste for any person to use such an excess of perfume that they who pass them on the street, or stand or sit near them, shall observe it, and possibly comment upon it. There may be a suspicion that the musk or other odor is used for the concealment of some scent that is supposed to be less agreeable or reputable.

True politeness would suggest that we shall not be perfumed with cologne or musk, onions or tobacco, the odors of the hen house or the barn.

Lacing

The habit is a general one, and very injurious. The liver, lungs, and powers of the stomach have been brought into a diseased state by this most pernicious habit. Loss of bloom, fixed redness of the nose and irruptions on the skin are among its sad effects. Its most apparent effect is an injured digestion and consequent loss of appetite.

Looking at it merely as its tendency to improve the appearance, nothing can be more absurd. A small waist is rather a deformity than a beauty. To see the shoulders cramped and squeezed together is anything but agreeable. The figures should be easy, well developed, supple. If nature has not made the waist small, compression can not mend her work.

Modesty Of Dress

Good taste and morality require that women adorn themselves in modest apparel, with shame-facedness and sobriety, which means that no manner of dress shall be used which suggests ideas of indelicacy.

If it be considered impolite, as it is, for a gentleman to enter ladies' society, or to sit at table with his coat off, even on a very warm day, it may, for similar reasons be a question whether a lady may appear in a gentleman's presence with no covering upon her neck and shoulders and no sleeves at all.

Familiarity

No girl should permit a boy to be so familiar as to toy with her hands, or play with her rings; to handle her curls, or encircle her waist with his arm. Such impudent intimacy should never be tolerated for a moment. No gentleman will attempt it; no lady will permit it.

Coughing, Spitting At Table

Some persons have so little regard for proprieties of the table as to clear the throat and cough and spit upon the floor before commencing to eat. If it be necessary to blow the nose or clear the throat, it is the duty of a person to leave the table. If there is occasion to remove cherrystones, fish bones, etc., from the mouth, it may be done by using the hand or the napkin, but it is very rude to spit them out upon the plate. To make a noise unnecessarily with the lips in eating may be disagreeable to those sitting near. It is unbecoming to scratch the head or face, or, indeed, to put the hand to the head, nor is it graceful to sit leaning with the elbows upon the table.

55 Youths On NYA Projects In Garrett County

There are fifty-five youths in Garrett county, between 18 and 25, employed on work projects conducted by the National Youth Administration. Seventeen of the number are girls.

Eleven young men are engaged in conservation work and improvement of recreational facilities in Savage River State forest. Others are at work painting the Kitzmiller school, grading and landscaping the grounds. A clerical assistance project furnishes help in school offices at Oakland, Kitzmiller, Grantsville, Accident and in Friendsville and at the Welfare Board office in Oakland.

This work falls outside the scope of ordinary budget allotments and those employed get $14 each month, or about $770 in all. The purpose of the NYA is said to be giving experience to persons so that they may secure positions. There are over 100 such projects in Maryland, employing 3,100 boys and girls between the ages of 18 and 25.

An Indiana jury convicted the General Motors Corporations and three subsidiaries of violating the Sherman anti-trust act.

Thanksgiving

How plump the turkey! How succulent the squash! Spread out the festive board while the table creaks under the weight of all the good things with which it is laden! Meats and sweets; fish and fowl. Vegetables gathered from our own gardens: rich purple grapes in clusters culled from our own arbors. This is the land of plenty—for whose bounty our forbears gave thanks almost three centuries ago! Still a land of plenty, it has ripened into one of the richest in all the world. Today we give thanks that this is the country we call "home": ever lending of its fruitfulness that we may know no want; and passing on to our children the same heritage of a full life—for which those before us so sincerely offered their thanks.

OUR ONLY SALVATION

One of the many things about the New Deal which should give grave concern to every business man, every farmer, every wage earner, every salaried employee and every unemployed individual is its inability to learn from experience.

It is either incapable of understanding plain, simple truths or obstinately perverse in its refusal to admit its errors.

President Roosevelt, last spring said that the way to balance the budget was to raise the national income to $80,000,000,000. Under Secretary of the Treasury Hanes in a recent address in New York repeated substantially the same thing.

This is all the more disturbing because Mr. Hanes in generally conceded to have a firmer grasp on financial and taxation problems than the president.

You and I know, to use a pet phrase of the president, that if you earn $25 a week and spend $30, there are several courses open to you to balance your budget. You may persuade the boss to give you a five-dollar raise. Or you may cut your weekly spending by five dollars.

But suppose the boss won't give you the extra $5. And suppose you can't cut your spending by $5. Then, if you can induce the boss to give you $2.50 more, and you can spend $2.50 less, you can balance your budget that way.

Now, Mr. Hanes says that the boss, that is, the American people, won't give the government a raise. They just won't stand for more taxes.

And he argues that the federal government can't cut its spending.

So he says the only way to get an annual national income of $80,000,000,000 is to stimulate business.

But Mr. Hanes knows only once in our history—in the lush year of 1929—did we have an income of $80,000,000,000. And he ought to know that in view of present and prospective price levels, it will be a long time before we can expect $80,000,000,000 again. For an increase in national income depends not alone upon more business activity but upon higher prices as well.

Of course let's do everything we can to stimulate business.

But that isn't enough in itself to get us where we want to go. We must, at the same time, stop playing the spendthrift with the people's money.

GRANTSVILLE

Initial Use of Church Building

The St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church's new Sunday school room and social center, which was dedicated Tuesday evening, was initiated into use on Wednesday night when nearly 175 members of the Garrett County Farm Bureau met there for their second annual banquet. Wm. Miller, Accident, was toastmaster and Rev. S. D. Sigler, Lutheran pastor, invoked a blessing. The chief address was by John W. Norton, former Senator of Illinois, now with the United States Department of Agriculture, who stressed the importance of co-operation. Greetings were extended by William Winterberg, Mayor, who is president of the local Bureau, and P. C. Turner, Baltimore, president of the State Farm Bureau. Group singing was led by B. H. McCrackin, Frostburg, who was soloist, accompanied by Mrs. McCrackin.

STATE CAMPAIGN STARTS FOR PNEUMONIA CONTROL

The Disease Is Primary Cause of Sickness and Death in the State

Laboratory services and other aids to practicing physicians in the diagnosis and treatment of pneumonia are oustanding features of the intensive campaign for the control of that disease, that has been started by the State Department of Health.

The pneumonias—there are several forms of the disease—have been matters of concern to physicians and health authorities for many years. The disease is a primary cause of sickness and death in the State. It is exceeded, as a cause of death, only by heart disease, cancer, diseases of the kidneys, and cerebral hemorrhage in the white population and by diseases of the heart, tuberculosis, and diseases of the kidneys in the colored.

Newer methods of treatment of the pneumonias, discovered and tried out within the last five years, have resulted in the saving of many lives, and the more recent discovery of certain drugs, has opened the way for even greater benefits.

The plan of campaign being followed by the State Department of Health was arranged with the approval of the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty—the State Medical Society. All practicing physicians in the counties have been notified by Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health, regarding the services that are available and have been asked to cooperate in the campaign. Full instructions with regard to procedure to be followed have been mailed to each physician in active service.

The campaign in each county will be directed, Dr. Riley said, from the office of the County Health Officer. The services of the central and the branch laboratories of the State Department, which are within easy reach of every physician in the counties, are available for examination of sputum and blood, as aids in the diagnosis and treatment of the disease. A supply of the drug used in the treatment of certain forms of the disease will be placed with each health officer, and will be available to physicians for administration to patients who cannot afford to purchase the drug at their own expense.

As the administration of the drug is attended by certain risks, the State Department of Health, through the regional laboratories and through specially trained public health nurses, will provide special follow-up service, to aid in the treatment of the disease, and as a safeguard against dangerous after-effects.

LONGER SCHOOL PERIOD IS SUBJECT OF ADDRESS

F. E. Rathbun, County Superintendent, Explains Problem To Parent-Teachers Association

Mr. F. E. Rathbun, County Superintendent, spoke about the problems of an expanded school program at the meeting of the P.-T. A., November 9. Mr. Rathbun mentioned the fact that a commission of five members, which was provided for at the last session of the General Assembly, was to be appointed by the Governor to study the problem of a longer school period and the problems involved in carrying out such a program. He explained that the public has always demanded better schools and better school programs, but the satisfaction of those demands has led more demands by the thinking people of the community.

He pointed out that changed economic conditions have made necessary an additional year in school to take care of those boys and girls who now graduate from high school at 16 and 17 years of age. Those boys and girls cannot find employment due to the lack of training, economic conditions and because of their youth.

Mr. Rathbun also stressed the fact that the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers has been very active in bringing about a better educational program in Maryland.

At the completion of his talk a bulletin was presented to members of the audience entitled "Suggestions for a Study of the Maryland Educational Program," concerning the contents of which Mr. Rathbun had centered his remarks.

PLANS BEING MADE FOR CHRISTMAS SEAL SALES

Revenue From Sales Maintains Anti-Tuberculosis Campaign In Country

Plans are already being made for the 33rd annual Christmas sale which will begin on December 1st and continue until Christmas Day, it was announced by the Maryland Tuberculosis Association, the official Christmas Seal agency in this state.

The Christmas Seal sale, held every year between Thanksgiving and Christmas, provides the revenue for maintainiing an anti-tuberculosis program in Maryland. More than 20,000,000 Seals are being prepared for mailing throughout the state, the association reported, and these Seals will be contained in approximately 135,000 letters.

Nearly 2,500 other tuberculosis associations and groups are planning similar efforts throughout the United States.

Among the important anti-tuberculosis activities in Maryland, all of which are made possible by the sale of Christmas Seals, are: free chest clinics, the Miracle House, medical research, health education, X-raying, tuberculin testing and a clinic for instructing Negro doctors in tuberculosis diagnosis.

The Maryland association was founded in 1904, the same year as the National Tuberculosis Association. Since it has been in operation the tuberculosis death rate has been reduced from 234.2 per 100,000 people to 68.8 per 100,000. There has also been a great decrease in the number of persons ill with the disease.

William B. Matthews, managing director of the Maryland association, said, "Groups are planning for the Christmas Seal sale throughout the state and everything will be in readiness when the sale commences on the first of December.

"It is within the power of the people to destroy this disease which has caused so much sickness and death, but they must be willing to cooperate with the official agencies." Using Christmas Seals will be a good way to cooperate.

Dr. H. R. DuPuy, health officer, will serve as Christmas Seal chairman in Garrett county.

Our Thanksgiving Message . . .

It would have been impossible for our forefathers to have foreseen the benefits which this nation has derived from their establishment of an annual period of thanksgiving. Unless we stop to consider, we ourselves will not appreciate its full significance.

Our predecessors have done so well by us that we fail to fully understand how much we enjoy today because of their efforts and forethought.

Our nation was established by those who sought freedom; freedom from oppression and freedom to live by what they considered holy principles.

It was fitting, then, that they should express their gratitude to a Supreme Being who had guided them into a promised land of liberty and opportunity. So, a Day of Thanksgiving became a reality and, let us hope, a permanent institution in our fair land.

DIARY OF THE WAR

Condensed For Readers Of The Republican.

FRIDAY—Little action on the Western Front except among patrols. A British tanker was sunk by an armed Nazi merchantman off the African coast.

SATURDAY—Nine leaders of a demonstration by students in Czeckoslovakia were executed by Germany and many others were arrested. The Allied Supreme War Council decided that France and Great Britain would pool their economic resources as well as their man power to strengthen their economic position. German airplanes flew over Allied and neutral countries, but no bombs were dropped.

SUNDAY—Three more Czechs were executed by the Nazis for the student uprising there. Germans claimed three successes in the air, saying their scouting planes flew into France, that British planes were driven from the German naval base, and that a lone German pilot flew across England and back to Germany. In the lull on Western front the French were constructing more emplacements and "digging in." A Dutch liner was sunk with 140 lives lost, by striking a mine.

MONDAY—The British feel they are winning the war by digging in and sitting tight. Some activity reported on western front. Unidentified planes flew over Scotland, no bombs dropped. German and Dutch planes exchanged shots over Dutch territory. The British announced three more ships had been sunk in the North sea, one each for Italy, Britain and Sweden.

TUESDAY—Ten ships had been sunk off the British coast since Saturday, most of them supposed to have struck mines. More activity was noted in aerial activities over battle front. The Hohenzollern family announced it was behind Germany in its present fight.

WEDNESDAY—Britain accused Germany of illegal mine warfare and proclaimed unrestricted sea blockage of German trade. Japanese liner sunk. Three German planes downed on the western front.

B. H. McNemar, Loch Lynn Heights, was taken to a Cumberland Hospital in Bolden's ambulance this (Wednesday) morning, suffering with an attack of appendicitis.

LOOKING FORWARD

By FRANKLYN WALTMAN

Publicity Director, Republican National Committee

(This is the fourth of a series by Mr. Waltman in which he gives his impressions of a recent trip across the country)

Out on the Pacific Coast political discussions center around a single topic—namely, what Harry Bridges and radical labor agitators have done to the commerce and industry of that section of the country. Harry Bridges is singled out for mention by name, because he symbolizes to those on the Pacific Coast the excesses of labor organizations and also the evils of the New Deal.

The Australian-born, alien, leader of the Pacific Coast Longshoreman's organizations, is blamed for most of the labor troubles on the West Coast. His excesses, it is contended, have encouraged other labor groups to excesses. The New Deal, in turn, it is contended, has encouraged Harry Bridges in his activities.

Consequently, out in California, Oregon and Washington, Harry Bridges is very much of a live political issue. The fact that the Federal Government has required him to show cause why he should not be deported as a Communist intent on overthrowing by violence the American form of government has not allayed the resentment against Bridges.

Bridges On Trial

Indeed, it has increased this resentment, since the newspapers in the three Pacific Coast States for several weeks devoted pages of each issue to the printing of testimony in the so-called Bridges "trial". This has fed the discussions. But not many people believe Bridges will be deported.

It is not intended in this place to discuss that question pending the completion of the deportation inquiry. Whether Bridges is a Communist and whether the Communists advocates overthrow of the Government by violence are the questions to be determined in the hearings conducted by James M. Landis. On the answer found to those questions by the Government examiner will rest Bridges' chances to remain in this country. He is entitled to his day in court.

One fact beyond all controversy about Bridges, however, is that he is not an American citizen. Another is that he has been a distinctly disturbing influence for some years now on the Pacific Coast. Still another is that he has operated with the encouragement and good-will of the Roosevelt Administration. For instance, Secretary of Labor Perkins is reliably reported to have referred to Bridges on occasion as "my boy Harry". Certainly, through C. I. O. John L. Lewis, Bridges has had the sympathy of the Roosevelt Administration.

New Deal Support Remarkable

Leaving aside all question of whether Bridges is a Communist, encouragement and support of this labor agitator by the Roosevelt Administration is a rather remarkable thing. Here is a case where an alien has the support of the American Government in harassing American commerce, industry, and shipping.

As a result of Bridges' activities, for example, a large part of the Pacific Coast shipping in recent months has disappeared. Until only a few days ago there were no American flag ships operating between Seattle and the Orient for more than a year. Operators of American ships plying between the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts suspended such service rather than suffer the losses caused them by Bridges' activities.

Nor were the shipping interests the only losers. Business throughout the Pacific Coast States felt the impact of this suspension of shipping. So did farmers who found it more difficult and costly to get their products to markets.

What British Would Do

Does anyone suppose that if John L. Lewis went to England and undertook to organize a strike of the coal miners there that the British Government would give him encouragement? Indeed, no! The British would toss Mr. Lewis right out of the country with the advice to let Englishmen run England's affairs.

Yet we permit a British citizen to head up a supposedly American labor organization and assume a position in which he can do great damage to the country in peace or in war. Bridges has had plenty of time in which to become an American citizen, yet he has spurned that opportunity. For reasons of his own he prefers to retain his Australian citizenship.

Very well, that is his privilege, BUT, this Government should not let him have his cake and eat it, too. If the Federal Government is to regulate and control labor relations, then Congress should enact legislation making it impossible for an alien to hold any position of responsibility in a labor organization, whether he be Bridges, a Communist, or anyone else. Such action would be sound, common sense.

Hitler changes Europe's boundary line
And always has his way,
While F. D. R. gets all worked up
And changes Thanksgiving Day.
Yep, this is an era of changes,
Going at an awful pace,
But in my mind
There is one thing that cannot be erased.
It is the fact that in this peaceful U. S. Nation
We're free, we've liberty despite petty proclamations,
Another thing, we've turkey for every purse and race,
And I'll bet, hy gum, dear F. D. R.,
That you cannot change the taste!

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS . . . . . .

By FRANK R. KENT

Dangerous Power

It is the testimony of the practical men who conduct campaigns in States and cities, who know the ward and precinct game and are under no illusion as to how the great rancid American electorate is influenced, that money plays a more important part in politics today than ever before in American history.

Any candid political manager will agree about that. They know that there are more Corrupt Practices Acts upon the statute books in state and nation than ever before; and that there are State and Federal laws compelling detailed statements (with names) under oath of all moneys received and paid out. But they also know that there are loopholes in these laws and that they are violated with almost the same impunity and frequency as the late unlamented Volstead Act.

This being the case, added interest is given recent publication that the United Mine Workers (which means Mr. John L. Lewis) has just levied a $2 special assessment on its members to raise a fund for "political use." It is estimated that this will amount to about $1,000,000. Its collection through the "check off" will be automatic. Under the closed-shop arrangement it will be taken out of the wages of the miners by the corporations and turned over to the union, which means Mr. Lewis. Wholly aside from other considerations, this is a demonstration of power which no other man in the country is in position to match.

It seems too much power for one man to have. It is a power so completely dictatorial that it is impossible to reconcile it with any degree of liberalism. Yet, no one in the country more frequently refers to himself as a liberal than Mr. Lewis. His autocratic control of the United Mine Workers' Union gives him the power to collect a million dollars—or more if he wants it—from the miners, and the closed shop which he won under the Government-promoted law and with Administration support gives him power to make the employers do the job of collection. And then the money thus acquired gives him a power in politics pretty hard to exaggerate.

In 1936 Mr. Lewis was by far the largest contributor in either party. As is well known, he gave upward of $500,000 of CIO funds to the Democratic campaign. In addition, he financed his so-called Labor's Nonpartisan League and extended financial help to the Good Neighbor League and other political gadgets and accessories used for propaganda purposes. The estimated total was about $600,000, but it may have been more than that because the CIO, not being a corporation, does not come under the Corrupt Practices Acts and thus does not have to make a sworn statement of its receipts and expenditures in politics, such as is required of others.

Now, a year before the next election, Mr. Lewis has moved to collect from the United Mine Workers, without vote by the membership, a million dollars for "political use." He has the power to double this sum in the same way if he decides he wants to. He will be able, of course, to augment it from other CIO unions and to spend it politically as he sees fit. It requires no great stretch of the imagination to appreciate that control for "political use" of money such as this puts Mr. Lewis in position where party leaders and party candidates are willing to go a long way to get his support.

Here is a labor leader who, under the closed shop and with the protection of law, can compel workers to contribute out of their wages to a political movement in which they may or may not believe and can force a corporation to act as his collecting agency for a fund which may be used against its own interests. If this self-collecting device for raising large political funds is to continue unchecked it is not difficult to visualize a time when, as an editorial writer recently pointed out "a few labor and political leaders can control the greatest bank roll ever dreamed of for the promotion of their own policies and ambitions."

The money they are able to use politically, the freedom of their organizations from investigation, the failure of the Corrupt Practices Acts to cover them and the greatly increased cost of campaigns—all these things combine to clothe men like Mr. Lewis with a power not pleasant to contemplate. This new million-dollar political fund would appear sufficient reason to make members of Congress consider whether such unrestricted ability to collect and expend is not a dangerous thing in a democratic country. This would seem a proper time to move toward including labor unions under the Corrupt Practices Acts and making labor leaders amenable to the same legal restrictions, loose and ineffective as they are, imposed upon other people. Probably it won't be done. Congressmen are too used to being bullied by labor leaders. It would take a lot of courage to call a halt on them, but it ought to be called.

SCHOOL SYSTEM IS BLAMED FOR UNEMPLOYMENT IN U.S.

Specialist Charges Business Men "Are Forced To Cease to Employ Men and Women Emerging From Broken-Down Organizations, Despoiled by Political Raiders."

Asserting at Boston last Friday that high school students "know more about cheers than chores", Roger Babson, investment specialist who is known throughout the country for his insight into financial matters affecting the United States, charged that the school system in the United States was "primarily responsible for at least 7,000,000 of the 10,000,000 unemployed" in the nation.

Business men, he declared in a prepared address before the New England Association of School Superintendents, "are forced to cease to employe the young men and women emerging from a broken-down organization which has been despoiled by political raiders."

Babson listed ten factors which he said contributed to unemployment, but added that "the big reason is that young people are being graduated from our schools today as goods are being sold by department stores. Politically minded school committees are giving these children—not what untrained children need—but what misled parents think they want them to have.

"I insist that the growth of our country, which was so marked previously to 1930, was largely the result of the school system preceding 1915 contrarywise, that the poor stock which was graduated since 1930 has largely been due to the decline—since 1915—in character of school committees.

Maintaining that as teacher salaries went up teaching posts became better political plums, the spade-bearded economist contended that school boards had become "political footballs."

"Preceding this transformation era (1900-1915), the old-fashioned economics were taught," Babson continued. "The 'root, hog, or die' attitude was unconsciously put forth. Integrity, industry, thrift, directed by intelligence and courage, was the philosophy of the old-fashioned school. Now, in these New Deal days, the situation is largely changed.

"Hence, the graduates of our high schools are going out with what many of us believe to be false philosophy or no philosophy; certainly with a false economy. x x x Business men, who formerly have been 'customers' of the school by hiring its graduates, no longer can afford to accept worthless goods."

Why America Should Not Join In The European War

Using the above as a subject, some pupils of the local elementary school prepared and submitted brief articles on the subject, two of which were sent The Republican for publication.

The articles follow:

War: A menace to civilization; the futile destruction of lives, property, and the marring of nature.

The aftermath: A barren, desolate and forbidding country—remnants of steel structures and human bodies.

TOWNIE TIBBETS, Grade 6.

America has no reason to join in the war. She has no possessions in Europe and is separated from it by thousands of miles of water. Furthermore, we have nothing against the people of Europe.

If America should join in the war, it would mean people would be separated from their families; children would be evacuated to camps to protect them from being killed by bombs; men and boys would be sent to army training camps and later to Europe.

Can we afford to join in the war? Equipment and ammunition would cost a lot of money. Guns, cannon, torpedoes, submarines, ships, airplanes and other necessary war equipment costs huge sums of money which otherwise could be spent to educate children of the nation.

The price of food soars so high that the average person can afford to buy only a small amount. Therefore, many would suffer because of lack of proper food.

How many minor boys would return home? Certainly less than 100 per cent—none as well or in thie condition in which they left. Poisonous gases were used during the World War which caused much suffering and left many men badly disabled.

What would happen to the cities and country? Cities would be devastated in which had been many masterpieces of art and sculpture; large factories where thousands had been employed, office buildings, homes and places of amusement laid in ruins. All means of transportation would be destroyed. Readily one sees the great waste that would be incurred.

What would the aftermath be? Men would be out of employment; prices of stock, eggs and meat would be very low; the farmer would have no way of making a living; money would be scarce and the whole financial system of our nation would be in grave danger. The depression is still on from the past World War.

I think if America is wise she will remain out of the Europan War, for as you see, "there is all to lose and nothing to gain."

For The Correct Declaration of Thanksgiving Day For

MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK

Read The

Mountain Democrat of November 16,

DR. C. OSCAR HALL, Mayor.

MT. LAKE PARK

Mountain Lake Park people seem to be going to stick to the new Thanksgiving. Vote all those we have talked with, and they were many, are in favor of it this week. The postmaster will observe this date, and not the 30th. However that may be, the turkeys were just as well or today as next month, and that seems to be the biggest part of our Thanksgiving in this day and age. A bit different from the days of the Pilgrim Fathers, so perhaps its just as well to change the day. Anyhow maybe the shades of our forefathers will not feel so badly if it is on another date.

EVERYBODY IN MARYLAND TO HAVE CHANCE TO HELP

Fight On Tuberculosis Helped by Purchase of Christmas Seals

Through the purchase and use of the little tuberculosis seals that will soon be placed on sale, everybody in Maryland will have a chance to help in the fight that is being waged in the State against that disease. The annual nation-wide sale of the seals through which much of the tuberculosis work in this county is financed, will start December 1 and will continue through the Christmas season. The allotment for Maryland will be distributed, as usual, through the State Tuberculosis Association.

In calling attention to the opening of the sale and to the opportunity it gives for everybody to help, Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health, said: "Use of the Christmas seals to raise money for the fight against tuberculosis, started thirty-three years ago, but our fight against the disease, here in Maryland, was well under way by that time. The State has a number of 'firsts' to its credit. We can be proud of all of them, but especially so of our 'first' in tuberculosis. "We had the first tuberculosis exhibit—incidentally that exhibit led to the organization of the National Association. We were the first State to require cases of tuberculosis to be reported to the health authorities, which was done in order that the necessary care could be given to those who had the disease. We were among the first states to have a definitely organized plan of campaign; we were also among the first to establish State sanatoria for the care of those ill with the disease.

"We have been in the thick of the fight from the very beginning. And we can see results. Forty years ago, tuberculosis was the leading cause of death in the State. One death in every seven in the total population was due to that disease. Today, tuberculosis occupies sixth place as a cause of death—heart diseases, diseases of the kidneys and other diseases of the middle and older age groups, occupy the higher places on the list. Today tuberculosis is responsible for one death in seventeen in the total white and colored population. But the fight has not been won and what has been accomplished is a challenge to go on further. The disease still takes too heavy a toll among our people—white and colored. The knowledge we have gained from the side of the problem must be put to some service possible, that we could not have. Part of it has been used for the chest clinics held throughout the counties under the joint direction of the State Department of Health and the State Tuberculosis Association. Some of the funds for the purchase and operation of the x-ray equipment and other supplies that are such important aids in the early diagnosis of the disease, when the chances of help and even of cure are greatest.

"Because they are so inexpensive—just a penny apiece—everybody can buy some of the seals and so can help on the fight against this disease. Let's make this the best year we have ever had."

Not a quiver in a Hoodful

LIFT the bonnet of a 1940 Buick and you'll see a hoodful of power plant whose very dimensions reveal the vast reserve of energy it puts at your command.

But just start this over-size giant—stir this sleeping brute into action, and you find that only the blur of the fan blades betrays its readiness to get up and go!

For you're looking at an engine balanced within limits eight to sixteen times closer than ordinary practice permits.

So precise is Buick's exclusive method of micropoise-balancing after assembly that a misplaced dime's weight on the flywheel rim is enough to reject any engine until that condition has been corrected.

On that score alone this hundred-plus horsepower straight-eight qualifies as the world's one-and-only of its kind.

But in addition to that it's a valve-in-head engine, 10% more efficient, size for size—and it's a Dynaflash valve-in-head, which means it gets more good out of every drop of gas!

The car this great eight powers has plenty else to lay claim to your attention—smart new styling, BuiCoil Springing's "full float" comfort, "finger flick" Handishift transmission, seats in some models that are next thing to five feet wide.

But even if you overlook them and all the rest of its 72 new features—your best buy's still Buick on its power plant alone.

There's not a quiver in a hoodful of ready-to-ramble energy—and nobody will be more pleased to prove it than your nearest Buick dealer!

Not a six but an EIGHT for $895

FEDERAL CENSUS TO GET UNDER WAY JANUARY 2ND

Extensive Plans Being Made to Obtain Most Complete and Full Report in History of Nation

TO ASK MANY QUESTIONS

The Federal government is making preparations for the 1940 census, and it is planned so that its findings will be more comprehensive and complete than any previous enumeration.

In fact preliminary plans through which Oakland and its trade territory can be assured a full and complete report of its population, farm and business resources, just as all other towns and cities of the country, are being made through the Mayors and Councils of all incorporated towns.

In the attempt to make the census the most complete and accurate picture of the community's human and economic resources ever compiled, civic leaders throughout the land are being urged to organize by selecting a general citizens' committee just to stress the census activities and to get people interested in cooperating with the census enumerators when they appear. These committees are to study the questionaires and other material supplied by the census bureau in Washington and to make sure that other people understand them.

Mayor L. M. Fraley announced that such a committee would be appointed here in the near future.

What Is To Be Enumerated

Approximately 132,000,000 people.

33,000,000 dwelling units.

3,000,000 business concerns.

170,000 manufacturing establishments.

7,000,000 farms.

About 12,000 mines and quarries.

Censues of business, manufacturing, mines and quarries will start January 2, 1940 and will require about six months for taking. Censuses of population, agriculture and housing will start April 1, 1940, and will be completed in approximately one month.

There are to be about 560 census districts, corresponding generally to congressional districts, with a district supervisor in charge of each. He will open an office late in December, 1939, or early in January and employ the necessary staff to take the census in his district. The 560 districts have been broken into enumeration districts of which there will be 143,000. About 121,000 enumerators will be used for the population and farm census.

Enumerators, clerks, stenographers, interpreters and other field workers will not be selected until 1940.

The census bureau in Washington has received many inquiries from persons seeking jobs, but the bureau has stated the positions will be filled locally and that applicants should wait until the local office is established and then secure blanks and information at that time. Men and women will be eligible for census work on equal terms. War veterans or their widows are given preference when equally well qualified with others.

To Ask Many Questions

Earlier censuses have been concerned principally with measuring quantitatively the expension of the country in population, territory and resources. But new things will be asked this time.

The population schedule will concern itself with working status, hours worked, unemployment and usual occupations, amout of wages or salary for the past 12 months, migration, degree of education.

In the housing schedule they will ask what type and age of structure, number of rooms, conveniences in home, including radio, mortgage status and home finance.

The great change occuring in agriculture in the last decade will be recorded by the farm census. It will note the important shifts of various crops and classes of livestock, segregation of the kinds of farm labor, principal source of income, new crops, mechanization of farms, etc.

The first census of the United States was taken in 1790, when the total population of the 17 states was 3,929,214. Virginia was the most populous state with 747,610. New York was fourth with 314,020.

The census of 1940 will be the sixteenth. The per square mile population of 1790 was 4.5, and in 1930 it was 41.3. In 1900 the urban population constituted 40 percent and rural population 60 percent. In 1930, urban population had risen to 56.2 and rural had been reduced to 43.8.

DIESEL FREIGHT ENGINE BEING TESTED THRU HERE

New Type Power Tries Efficieney Over Mountain To Grafton

A diesel locomotive built for freight service, now being tested by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, made its second run Tuesday from Cumberland to Grafton and return, pulling a regular load of freight cars.

The locomotive, owned by the manufacturer, is being used on the run over the mountains to check its efficiency with the steam locomotives now in use.

Previous to its test Monday and Tuesday, the engine came in from the west where it had been used in the Willard district.

It left Cumberland at 8:30 a. m. on Tuesday, arriving in Oakland in two hours and fifteen minutes. Results of the tests are not available here. Comparison with the steam locomotives will be made and announcement of the results will come from Baltimore.

SCHOOL BUS DRIVERS ARE ADVISED OF INFRACTIONS

Told They Must Not Take Advantage of Bus Regulations

A warning that school bus drivers must not "take advantage of the school bus law" at the expense of other motorists, has been sent to F. E. Rathbun, County Superintendent of Schools, by W. Lee Elgin, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles.

Elgin said complaints had been received that bus drivers had halted their vehicles on the highways for five minutes or more waiting for children to leave their homes. This results in a delay to motorists who comply with the law requiring them to halt while the buses take on or discharge passengers, he said.

The Commissioner also said some drivers had violated the State law by stopping their buses "at the brow of a hill, opposite a white line, or in the middle of a bad curve." Another complaint was that the bus drivers parked their buses on the highway while they went into a store or ran other errands, thus tying up traffic when it was unnecessary.

Mr. Elgin's letter was copied at the office of the Board of Education and sent to all bus drivers and contractors in the county.

The letter urges the bus drivers to cooperate with the public so that motorists will respect the school bus law.

Hog Pen Condition Is Aired Before Magistrat White

Magistrate Charles F. White has a problem to decide, the outcome of a trial held at his office yesterday in which Stanley Wiley, of Jennings, was charged with maintaining a public nuisance in the form of a hog pen, and injuriously affecting the life and the health of the community.

Wiley's attorney, W. W. Dawson, attempted to show that all hog pens small alike, while Neil C. Fraley, State's Attorney, sought to bring out that Wiley's hog pen was not kept in as neat and clean a manner as hog pens, and especially the Wiley pen, could be kept. Several hog raisers and others were called to the witness stand to testify. Wiley's home and the hog pen are located across the roadway from the Kessner store in Jennings.

Magistrate White reserved his decision in the case and he has three days in which to render a verdict.

Sentence Suspended

At a hearing November 24 before Magistrate White, Paul Harvey and Clarence Paugh were acquitted of the charge of being drunk and disorderly at Wotring's filling station on November 18, and Carl H. Harvey, the third member of the party, was fined $10 and costs. The fine was suspended during the good behavior of the latter.

For being drunk and disorderly, Tony Miller was fined $1 and costs.

Serious Blaze Averted

What might have been a serious blaze was averted about 12:30 Tuesday morning when the Oakland Fire department was called to the home of Lester Harvey, in Loch Lynn, where a workshop was in flames in rear of the building.

Mr. Harvey had been working there Monday evening. The firemen checked the spread of the fire to the adjoining home. Over $200 worth of tools were lost and they were not covered by insurance. The origin of the blaze was not determined.

SPECTACLE FUND GROWS; 32 AIDED DURING THE YEAR

Some Children Would Have Lost Vision Had They Not Been Assisted

As the result of the interest of one woman in Oakland in obtaining funds for eye glasses for children whose parents could not afford to buy them, and through the cooperation of the County Health Department and numerous citizens of the county, a crusade for this purpose has been started for the second consecutive year and is meeting with much success, according to Dr. H. R. DuPuy, health officer. ficer.

About a year ago Mrs. J. J. Ashby sought information from Dr. DuPuy about money available for eye glasses for the children. When she found there was no fund for this purpose she began seeking contributions from various groups and individuals and in the course of a few weeks a total of $221 was raised. Names of these contributors were published in The Republican at that time, the local lodge Knights of Pythias contributing $110.

Through the assistance of the Welfare Board 26 pairs of glasses were given to those who were greatly in need of them. When the fund was exhausted, the American Red Cross carried on the work and at least six persons were furnished glasses through that organization.

Mrs. Ashby and others are again on their crusade for better vision. As a result the following contributions have been made: Knights of Pythias, $100; Eastern Star, $15; anonymous, $5. Joe G. May, who collected $61 last year also made his rounds through the county this year and turned $58 into the fund.

Dr. DuPuy stated that without the glasses some of the children would have lost the vision in at least one eye.

Besley made the announcement yesterday that 2,681 acres of land had been leased to the State Game and Inland Fish Commission of the establishment of nine additional wild life game refuges. Potomac Creek area, near Accident. 200 acres.

DEER HUNTING SEASON WILL OPEN ON MONDAY

Will Remain Open For Five Full Days When Woods Will Probably Be Full of Sportsmen

ONLY ONE PER PERSON

The 1939 fashion note for the well-dressed deer hunter will be the same as in previous years. They will utilize accessories in bright red tones, and include plenty of red here and there on their hunting costumes.

The deer hunting season will open on Monday morning, December 4, and will continue for five full days, ending at sundown Friday, December 8. The 1939 Legislature changed the season to make it begin the first Monday in the month so that Sunday wouldn't interfere and cut the season to four days. The time for hunting deer was formerly December 1 to 5.

The upland game season will end on November 30, and hunters who have been scouring the woods for rabbits, quail, pheasant, turkeys, etc., can begin to concentrate upon the larger game. Many more who do not spend much time with the smaller species of game will get out their rifles in the hope of bringing down a buck. It will be lawful to kill a male deer with two or more points to one antler. The bag limit is one animal per season per person.

The bright red patches of cloth on hunting costumes has been in vogue for a number of years and is considered not only an important factor, but a necessary one in keeping hunting accidents at a minimum. The usual khaki-colored togs are similar to the color of a deer, unless broken by a brilliant red hue, and most hunters sew or pin an inexpensive red cloth on front or back of their jackets. Most of them, too, will wear a red cap or have plenty of red material on their hats so that other hunters will not mistake them for a buck moving thru the woods and blaze away. Hunters are being urged to look and identify their target before they shoot.

Every person killing a deer must within twenty-four hours write to the State Game Warden giving name, address, hunter's license number, county and location where the deer was killed, or to the deputy game wardens in the county, who are Joseph Minke, at Grantsville, and R. D. Houck, in Oakland.

Deer must be hunted through the use of a gun propelling one all-lead or lead-alloy or soft-nosed or expanding bullet or ball at a single discharge. It is unlawful to hunt deer in any manner except through the method of "still hunting." It is unlawful to use dogs. It is unlawful to shoot at a deer while it is taking refuge in or swimming through the waters of any pond, lake or stream.

Several hundred persons are sure to be out in the woods during the five-day period, as approximately 2400 licenses have been issued from the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court in Oakland.

Game wardens and constables have been active within the past month or more attempting to run down cases of alleged violation of the game laws, specifically the killing of deer out of season.

A deer hide wrapped in a paper flour bag was found floating on Deep Creek Lake last Friday near Will o' the Wisp and was reported by the caretaker there to R. D. Houck, who has been investigating in the hope of locating the violator. Other violations have been reported from time to time in the Bear Hill and Jennings sections near Grantsville, but no arrests have been made on account of lack of evidence.

Court to Convene

The regular December term of the Garrett County Circuit Court will convene on Monday, December 4.

The trial of the Garrett County Commissioners, however, will not be heard until Monday, December 11. The Commissioners are under indictment charged with violating laws passed at the general assembly of 1939, and drawing county orders upon the contingent fund.

Saw Mill Boiler Explodes

Otis Kamp narrowly escaped serious injury Tuesday morning when a boiler exploded at the saw mill which he and I. E. Hardesty own jointly. Mr. Kamp was standing near the boiler when the boiler let go and steam and dust were blown into his eyes. No one else was hurt and Mr. Kamp's injuries are not considered very serious.

WINTER SPORTS PARADISE READY AT NEW GERMANY

Skiers, Bobsledders and Skaters Provided For in State Forest

Work on the new winter rendezvous for skiers, bobsledders and skaters in the Savage river State forest at New Germany, has been completed, F. W. Besley, State forester, has announced. All that is needed now is the snow.

The project, a part of the forestry department's program, provides a three-mile ski trail down the side of Meadow Mountain, a toboggan or sled trail down the present Big Run road, and a skating rink on the New Germany lake, six miles from the mountain.

Arrangements are being made for transportation and housing of sport enthusiasts. Running of excursion trains from Baltimore and Washington to Cumberland are being planned, the visitors being transported from there to New Germany by bus. The site is four hours from Washington and five hours from Baltimore.

EPISCOPALS TO WORSHIP IN PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Building Has Been Leased by Vestry—Redecorating Is Completed

The congregation of St. Matthew's Episcopal church will begin worship services in the Garrett Memorial Presbyterian church, starting Sunday morning, December 3, it was announced this morning by Rev. David C. Trimble, rector.

The Presbyterian church property has been leased by St. Matthew's Vestry from the local Presbyterian trustees.

During the past month the Presbyterian church has been redecorated inside and necessary alterations made in the nave and chancel. A sacristy at the back of the nave has been added for the convenience of the clergy and choir. An almost entirely new system of electric wiring has also been installed.

No regular services have been held by the Presbyterians here in over a year, and there has been no resident pastor for almost two years, the last being Rev. W. A. Ashley, of Kingwood, W. Va. Since 1935 the members of the Episcopal church have been worshiping for eight months in the year in the church Parish House, Center street, and in their church building on Fourth street, near the high school, during the summer period. The agreement between both groups is being looked upon as mutually helpful.

Rev. Trimble announced services for Sunday as follows: Holy Communion at 8 a. m., and Holy Communion also at 11 a. m., with sermon by the rector.

Pea Growers Get Partial Payment For Summer Crop

Members of the Cooperative Pea Growers association of Garrett county received partial payment for their crop of peas, at a meeting held in the band hall at Loch Lynn on Monday evening, November 27, in conjunction with those in charge of the Mt. Airy Canning company.

The growers received a payment of $28.00 per ton as partial payment, which represented several thousand dollars distributed in this territory, and were given assurance of another substantial payment to follow shortly.

Previous to this year, growers had received $55.00 per ton for peas, but they agreed this year to plant on a cooperative basis with the company when it was learned that the company did not plan to operate its plant at Mt. Lake Park during 1939. There are about 300 pea growers in the county.

Other matters of minor importance were discussed at the meeting. It was announced that the cannery would be open for distribution of ensilage on Wednesday of each week, instead of three days each week as heretofore.

4-H Club Banquet

The Mountain Lake Park Busy Bee 4-H club was hostess to the Loch Lynn Busy Bee 4-H club at a banquet in the Methodist church at Mountain Lake Park Wednesday evening of this week. Dorothy Brock, president of the Park club, presided. The speakers of the evening were Mrs. Lyle Weeks, local leader of the Loch Lynn club, and Miss Mildred Barton, Home Demonstration Agent. Mrs. Zelda Gnegy and Miss Nell Lee, local leaders of the Mountain Lake club, sponsored the banquet. There were thirty members present.

JAIL AND HOSPITAL FOR BROTHERS WHO HAD FIGHT

SURPRISE ARREST MADE

One man is in a hospital with a knife wound in his side and his brother is in the Garrett County Jail in Oakland following a quarrel Sunday night between two brothers, George Fazenbaker and Louis Fazenbaker, allegedly over a girl in whom both were interested.

George Fazenbaker, 34, is in Miners Hospital, Frostburg, with a severe stab wound in his side. His condition is still serious, having suffered a wound on his left side, which entered the lung cavity between the third and fourth ribs. It is possible that the knife used in inflicting the wound entered his left lung, although that information coming from the hospital, is not definitely stated.

Brother Is Under Arrest

Louis Fazenbaker, brother of the wounded man, is in the Garrett County Jail, charged with the stabbing of his brother. He was arrested late Monday afternoon by Sheriff J. W. Owens and Corporal Thomas Currie of the State Police. He had been at large since on Sunday evening about 7:15, when the fight between the brothers reportedly occurred. Sheriff Owens said the man spent the night in the woods and returned Monday to the home of his grandfather, near Engle's Mill, where the officers surprised him when they appeared.

Formal charges growing out of the stabbing were not preferred, pending the outcome of his brother's condition. Sheriff Owens said he was being held for the time being on a charge of breaking and entering the summer cabin of a Pennsylvanian at Bear Creek, east of Accident, in September, and stealing a quantity of canned goods, clothing, bedclothes and other household goods. The Fazenbakers live along Bear Creek and in the vicinity of the cabin entered.

The Sunday night fight climaxed a party at the home of George Beeman, in the Bear Creek community, in the course of which about three gallons of cider, allegedly to be hard cider, were consumed, the officers reported.

Authorities said they were told that Louis called George outside the house about 7:15 o'clock, and the fight was on. During the exchange of blows and while both belligerents were on the ground, George received the knife wound in his side and Louis fled into the woods.

Friends rushed George to the office of Dr. Brown at Friendsville, where first aid was administered. He was later taken to Miners Hospital in the W. W. Savage ambulance.

Authorities were told that the two brothers were both interested in the same girl, who was a guest at the Beeman party.

Sheriff Owens, Corporal Currie and State's Attorney Neil C. Fraley made an investigation of the affair Sunday night and then interviewed the wounded man on Monday afternoon. Because of the man's condition authorities were permitted to see him only briefly.

Have Prison Records

Sheriff Owens said that both men have prison records. Both were recently released from the Maryland Penitentiary where they had served terms of five years for forgery.

Each of the two men had previously served time for stealing sheep, and Louis had also been sentenced for a car theft, the Sheriff said. George is unmarried, according to the Sheriff, but Louis is married, although he and his wife are estranged.

Amish Settlements Not New In Maryland

The settlement of Amish farmers in southern Maryland, recently announced by a group of Lancaster county, Pa., will give Maryland more than one group of the "plain people" for a half century ago an Amish colony settled in Garrett county and have lived here since. There are three Amish colonies in the Grantsville section, and another group in the Gortner area. The groups have a total population of more than 500 and their particular wearing apparel, their horses and buggies instead of the modern automobile, are a common sight here. Practically all of them are farmers, as are most Amish everywhere.

Scott's Column

If people went by elevation entirely, a chart we received last week would lead to show that District No. 1 is Garrett county and the warmest district in the county, when it comes to heat. But we don't believe such is the case.

A statistical chart shows that District 1 has the best "permit" to Persons for every 100 people residing in the district.

On the other end of the scale District No. 7 has only one place where beer is dispensed, and 2987 people reside in that district. Just [illegible] believe District three is the wettest, neither can we believe that District Seven is the driest.

There are 10 "permits" in the county—one for every 650 people. The National Highway running through the entire length of District Three accounts for the most number there, while Number Seven's proximity to District Fourteen, where there are nine "permits," may account for the small number in District Seven.

As the Frederick county group on the forestry inspection trip to the county several days ago was standing by the new dam built by the CCC across Herrington creek, in the Herrington Manor state forest property, inquiries as to where the creek got that way to be impounded to form a 50-acre lake. It was quite small and could scarcely be seen. Dr. Joseph H. Apple, standing with several friends nearby made a casual observation which was accidentally intended as a serious one, but as soon as uttered it was interpreted otherwise, and became the source of a great deal of amusement on the entire trip. He said "My, this is a small stream. It hardly seems worth it."

At the comment became muted [illegible] this further remark was replied: "There may be some clever things and bars and saverbars on the trip and I think Dr. Apple's remark will prove worthy of the wisdom of a wise sage."

WAGING WAR AGAINST T. B.

A war is now being fought in Maryland. Not a war based upon hatred and greed, as is now being fought in Europe, but a war to save human lives and prevent human suffeing.

It is the fight of man against his ancient and deadly foe—tuberculosis.

The ammunition used in this struggle is provided by the purchase of the little Christmas seals by citizens of this county and State..

Tuberculosis has been in retreat ever since the tuberculosis association began to fight it, in 1904.

From the position of leading cause of death of all diseases in 1912, it has been relegated to seventh place, but it is still the leading cause of death of all diseases between the ages of 15 and 45, the most productive period of life.

Successful as the fight has been, if the efforts to control is are relaxed the death rate will quickly increase. There must be no armistice with tuberculosis. The fight must be continued to the end with no quarter given. Tuberculosis must be wiped out.

Activities of the Tuberculosis Association include diagnostic clinics, the Miracle House at Clairborne, medical research, health education, tuberculin testing and x-raying.

St. John s services as follows: Sunday school at 9:30; worship service at 10:40, and the young people's devotional program at 7:30.

First Sunday in Advent! This should arouse interest in the heart of all true followers of Christ. Advent calls for thoughtful preparation for Christmas. Our human race is more concerned about the real meaning of Christ's coming to earth. Earnest souls thruout the world will listen more attentively to the message of the Prince of Peace. Let us join with the multitudes who honor and adore the Saviour on this very first Sunday of the church year.

God hath visited His people! In the birth of Christ, God came as light to a dark world, as a physician to a sick world; as the messenger of comfort to a sorrowing world, and as the Saviour to the world lost in sin and doomed to death. The Christmas story tells how God imparts to human hearts His gifts of grace and love.

All are interested in the report of offerings made last Sunday. Contributions are now coming in from those who were not present. All bills for painting and improvements must be paid next week. This can be done if all give as the Lord has prospered them.

Homemakers' Column

It has been the privilege of the Home Demonstration Agent to see the recipes entered in the Brer Rabbit contest sponsored by this paper. So many of these recipes were so very good I am sure that any homemaker would delight in having them. The following were submitted by the homemaker as listed:

Shoo-Fly Pie

One-half cup molasses, ½ teaspoon soda dissolved in ¾ cup boiling water, crumbs, ¾ cup flour, 2 tablespoons of shortening, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, 1 egg yolk, beaten; ½ cup brown sugar, 1-8 teaspoon of each—nutmeg, ginger and cloves, ¼ teaspoon salt.

Combine the dry ingredients, working in shortening. Line a pie pan with pastry. Make alternate layers of crumbs and liquid. Top with crumbs and bake in a hot oven until crust edges start to brown. Reduce heat and bake until firm. Serve with whipped cream. Mrs. R. L. Emory.

Heirloom Coffee Cake

Two cups dark brown sugar, 1 cup butter or other shortening, 1 cup molasses, 1 cup strong coffee (made 4 T. coffee to 1 cup water) 1 lb. currants and 1 lb. raisins, or 1 lb. raisins and 1 lb. assorted candied fruit, 1 cup chopped nut meats (hickory or black walnuts preferred, but pecans, English walnuts or peanutes may be substituted in sections where more plentiful) 4 eggs, 1 t. soda, 1 t. cinnamon, 1 t. cloves, 1 t. nutmeg, 4 cups flour. 1 t. baking powder.

Cream the shortening and sugar. Add the well beaten yolks. Beat the mixture to a fluff. Add beaten whites of eggs. Sift flour and spices with baking powder. Add soda to molasses. Stir and combine with batter, alternately with flour and cooled coffee. Lastly fold in the fruit and nuts which have already been thoroughly blended and lightly but thoroughly floured to prevent sinking into batter. Pour batter into paper lined tins. Smooth, leaving the low level of batter near center of pan with the high level of the batter around the outer edge of the pan. Bake at 250 degrees for one hour.

Frosting—Boil 2 cups light brown sugar (or one cup dark brown with 1 cup of granulated) with ½ cup of water until it spins a dry thread. Pour and cool. Fold in chopped nuts if desired or if cake is to be on display whole, arrange nut meats on top of the frosting. Mrs. John M. Robey, Washington, D. C.

Orange Gingerbread

One-half cup shortening, ½ cup of strained orange juice, 1½ cups flour, ½ teaspoon baking soda, ½ cup brown sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 t. cinnamon, 2 well-beaten eggs, ½ cup molasses, ½ teaspoon baking powder, ½ t. allspice.

Cream shortening with sugar; add eggs; mix thoroughly; heat orange juice; add molasses, then add to the creamed mixture; sift flour, measure and sift with salt, baking soda, baking powder and spices; add to first mixture; beat until smooth; pour into well-oiled pan. Bake in slow oven 350 degrees for 25 minutes.

Mrs. Olga Elliott, Mt. Lake Park.

Colonial Pumpkin Pie

One and one-half cups canned or cooked pumpkin, 1 cup brown sugar firmly packed. 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-8 teaspoon allspice, 3 slightly beaten eggs, ½ teaspoon allspice, 3 slightly eggs, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon of rated milk (or other).

Combine pumpkin, brown sugar, salt, molasses and spices and mix well; add eggs and milk; pour mixture into unbaked pie shell; bake in hot oven 425 degrees F. 40 to 45 minuttes. Very nice served hot or cold with wedges of sharp cheese. (This makes a very delicious pumpkin pie).

Mrs. E. E. Sollars, Deer Park.

Sunday School Building Dedicated

The new Sunday school building of St. John's Reformed church was dedicated Tuesday night with appropriate services. The pastor, Rev. Alvin J. Forry, was in charge. Three ministers of the Somerset classis, Evangelical and Reformed church, spoke. The Rev A. M. Wright, pastor of the Salisbury and New Germany churches, chose for his subject, "A program of Christian education"; Rev. Karl H. Beck, pastor of Salem Reformed church, Frostburg, who is a former pastor of the Wilhelm charge here a decade ago and who has been service as a missionary in China, talked on "A program of Christian recreation", and Rev. Harold R. Ash, of Roxbury, Pa, pastor of the Glade charge, spoke on "Making the best use of your church buildings." Special music was rendered by the church choir under the direction of Dr. W. H. Waugaman, with Mrs. B. H. Bender, pianist.

While giving thanks to all for their part in the work, special mention was made of the building committee, composed of John H. Folk, C. O. Bender, and Nevin U. Broadwater, for its untiring effort. The total cost of the building and equipment was about $3,500, excluding $500 donated labor. Over $1,000 was in the building fund before definite plans for the building were made. Donations up until the night of the services totaled $1,100, and with what subscriptions were received Tuesday night leaves an amount still needed of only slightly more than $1,000.

The church building proper was rededicated also at these services because of improvements and refinishing of the interior done some time ago.

Announce Christmas Programs

The Lutheran church has announced dates for its Christmas services. On Sunday night, December 24, the Sunday school will present the annual program. In addition to this regular service, on Christmas night, the choir, under the direction of Mrs. Harold Miller, organist and director, will present a cautata, "The Song of Old", assisted by the male voices from the choir of Salisbury Lutheran church. The old familiar song, "It came upon a midnight clear," is the basis for the musical setting.

Announcement is also made by the Methodist church that its services will be held on Christmas Eve, Sunday night, December 24. "The Holy scenes of Christmas" will be presented by the intermediate class of the church school. Recitations and exercises by ether classes of the church school, and songs hy the choir will also feature. Mrs. D. R. Carder, wife of the pastor, is in charge of the program.

Sigler is conducting devotions on "The Christian Church." A period of recreation follows. The club, open to boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 16, meets once weekly at 6:45 p. m. FSA Leases Improve Farm Conditions

Nicholas L. Zabenco, rural rehibilitation supervisor of the Grantsville headquarters of the Farm Security Administration here which serves Garrett and Allegany counties, has announced that the administration has prepared a flexible farm lease form to encourage improved tenure arrangements and a better feeling between landlord and tenant. Mr. Zabenco declares that the large majority of the Garrett county farm tenants who apply for Farm Security loans have only verbal agreements with their landlords and no assurance that they will remain on the farm more than one year.

The fifth grade of the local elementary school, under the direction of Miss Eva Griffith, teacher, presented an assembly program Wednesday morning in the school auditorium, preceding dismissal for the Thanksgiving holidays. Minke, were present. An order of business similar to that of the county association, was adopted. The matter of petitioning the forestry department to stock the New Germany dam at the Pleasant Valley recreational area with bass, was tabled until December 12.

The Grantsville unit is in favor of the State enacting a law to make the game kill report compulsory, to enable the conservation department to more readily know where to restock game and to better advertise our hunting ground facilities.

It was also called to attention that through the County Sportsmen's association the libraries of the six high schools of Garrett county are receiving the monthly magazine, "The Maryland Conservationist" and the "Pennsylvania Game News," to interest the sports-minded students.

There is talk of organizing trappers and guides in Garrett county. It would better enable this first group in marketing furs, exchanging ideas and experiences, meeting the problems of trapping, etc. The second group, that of organizing guides, would supply an essential need, as many persons come here from Baltimore and other sections of Maryland and out-of-the-state regions who are always looking for someone to conduct hunting parties.

Pennsylvania Amish Families Buy Tract of Land in Maryland

The high cost of fertile acres is forcing some of Pennsylvania's pioneer Amish families to leave the land they have tilled for more than a century and a half.

With characteristic matter-of-factness, seven husbandmen are planning to move their wives, children and possessions to a new settlement in Maryland long before time for spring plowing.

"We are too full, too crowded for the land in Lancaster county," explained the John Stoltzfus, Amish pastor from the village of Bird-in-Hand.

"We can no longer afford to give farms to our children and build new homes and barns for them. Four of my children have no homes yet and I can't help them here, but down there in Maryland I can."

Together with other members of their picturesque sect from Mifflin county, the group has acquired 1,950 acres of "cheap" land in St. Mary's county, Md., forty miles south of Washington, D. C.

Mr. Stoltzfus described it as a land of long-idle farms, some rundown. "We want to see what can be done with that cheap land," he said, adding the hope the move will be "better for my family and my church in a few years."

The peace-loving sect originated in Italy and Switzerland, taking the leadership of Jacob Amen in 1673. Persecution followed as they moved from place to place, seeking good land and tolerance from their neighbors.

Some sailed to Canada—where many still can be found—and settled eventually in this rich farm county of Pennsylvania. Through the years they have retained the peculiar dress and customs of their homeland..

Already an "outpost" has been established at the New Maryland settlement by a member of the group and others plan to move soon after the first of the year.

Pridefully called the "garden spot" hy the frugal, industrious folk, 188 acres of Lancaster county land recently was sold by three Amish men for $44,000. They bought 1,135 acres in Maryland for less than $25.000.

Continuing expansion of industrial activity enabled public employment offices during October to make largest number of job placements with private employers in history of service. Approximately 308,400 openings filled.

OAKLAND WINS OPENING BASKETBALL TILT 39-21

Defeats Fellowsville High—21 Games Are Scheduled

Oakland High school has scheduled twenty-one basketball games for the 1939-40 season, and other games are pending with Romney High and the West Virginia Deaf school at Romney, according to an announcement of Thomas V. Bauscom, coach.

Oakland opened the season last week by defeating Fellowsville High school in the latter's court 39 to 21. Led by Mason, forward, Oakland took a 19-1 lead during the first period and closed with a 14-point spurt in the final canto after leading 25-10. Mason accounted for a dozen points while Coddington, center, gathered four field goals.

Oakland High lost a close game to Terra Alta High school on the latter's court on Tuesday evening, 31 to 27. Oakland took the lead in the first quarter and held until the last few seconds of the third period when the score was tied 16-16. In the final quarter both teams attacked furiously but the Terra Alta offense outscored Oakland 15 to 11. Lyons was high scorer for Oakland with eight points, while Mason and Stewart tallied five each, and Coddington and Wolf four each. Oakland substitutes included Bittinger, Smouse, Browning, Hinebaugh. Watson was high scorer for Terra Alta with 11 points. D. Benson and Jackson scored six points each.

Home and home battles have been carded with Kingwood's "B" varsity, Arthurdale, Central of Lonaconing; Bruce of Westernport; Fellowsville, Bayard, Grantsville, Rowlesburg, Beall of Frostburg; and Elk Garden, and single tussles with Terra Alta and Masontown.

Playing for Oakland were Mason, Browning, Coddington, Wolf, Stewart, and Lyons, who scored 12, 2, 8, 7, 4, and 6 points respectively. Non-scoring substitutes included Bittinger, Smouse, Hesen, Fazzalari, Sisler, Ott, Hinebuagh, Naylor, and Bolden.

Bauscom said that his good supply of reserve material would tend to make Oakland harder to beat this year.

Why The United States Should Not Enter Into The Present European War.

Miss Betty Hamill, student in the local high school, has written the following under the above caption and is sent to The Republican through the office of the County Board of Education with the request that it be given space in these columns.

Miss Hamill's essay follows:

Twenty-two years ago the United States departed from its ancient policy of isolation and cast its lot with that of the democracies. We were fighting, or so we thought, to make the world safe for democracy. Today, with another war being fought in Europe, democracy is again threatened. Our sacrifices had been in vain. Once more we are faced with the same problem. Shall we join Europe in her mad race toward destruction? Most definitely not! Our entrance into the last war was a huge mistake. Let us not make the same mistake twice. The only real way we can save democracy is by keeping America the symbol of freedom and peace; a shining light of hope in a troubled world.

We can achieve our aim only by "putting our own house in order." Our young men and money are needed here to solve our own problems, so why send them across the Atlantic to fight and finance a war which was not of our making. The cost of the last war, which, also, was not of our making, can scarcely be realized. The cost, as estimated up to 1938, was fifty-one billion dollars. We will be paying for it for many generations yet to come.

Aside from the money cost, there was a terrible loss of lives, civilians as well as soldiers. This loss would be even greater now because of the new and improved instruments of destruction. If we let ourselves be dragged into the present war only the cream of our youth will be called to the colors. Only the mentally and physically fit will be taken, while those in poor physical condition or mentally unbalanced will be left. This fact definitely retards the progress of our nation. Many of those better able to direct the welfare of the United States will be killed and can not be entirely replaced by succeeding generations.

Let us not be drawn into the present war! Instead, let us remain at home and mind our own business! To become engaged in the struggle now would be again, as in 1917, thrusting aside the sage advice of our first great President, George Washington, who warned his people against foreign entanglements. This policy is, of course, more difficult to follow today than then, because of our modern means of transportation and communication. But, if the whole nation sincerely wants to stay out of war, we can! Many of us openly favor the Allies; let us be more neutral in thought and action.

The United States will remain neutral if the whole nation is determined it shall!

—Betty Hamill.

Eight city policemen of Huntington, West Va., deplored their department's "lack of leadership" and set out to enforce the law on their own time. They raided six alleged liquor selling places and said that was only the beginning.

JUDGE INTERPRETS RULE ON ISSUING CAR LICENSES

Two Counties and Baltimore City Must Pay Two Years' Taxes

Before motorists in Baltimore City, Baltimore and Anne Arundel counties can secure 1940 license tags for their automobiles, they must pay personal property taxes for 1939 and 1940.

Motorists in the remaining twenty-one counties of the State will be required to pay only 1940 auto taxes before licenses can be issued. Taxes predicted, however, on most passenger license tags prior to March 1. If they wait until after that date, 1940 personal property taxes on their cars must also be paid before they can get the licenses.

Such are the interpretations placed Saturday on the findings in the Baltimore City Court on Friday of Judge Samuel K. Dennis, by William L. Henderson, deputy attorney general of Maryland.

Judge Dennis ruled that under a revision of the law at the last session of the Legislature the provision calling for payment of personal property taxes on motor vehicles to qualify for new licenses becomes effective on the day that taxes in the respective subdivisions of the State become "due and owning." Judge Dennis interpreted this to mean "due and payable."

Relying primarily on the fact that there was no change in the title of the Act, the State Law Department had furished an opinion to State and county officials holding that payment of the past year's taxes was sufficient. It took the position taxes on motor cars were not due until such dates as penalties are imposed for non-payment. In the past, presentation of a receipted bill for the previous year's taxes proved sufficient for the issue of current automobile plates.

Under Judge Dennis' ruling taxes in Baltimore and Anne Arundel counties and Baltimore City are payable beginning January 1, whereas in the remaining counties of the State taxes are payable beginning April 1.

T. B. Seal Sale Begins On Friday, December 1

The annual tuberculosis Christmas Seal sale will begin on December 1st this year, when more than a 100,000 appeals will be mailed to the people of Maryland requesting help in destroying the "great white plague", by buying and using Christmas Seals during the month of December.

The Christmas Seals, designed this year by Rockwell Kent, will be included with each appeal. On the face of the Seal is an angel with outstretched arm, symbolizing the protection accorded the public by the fight the Seals are making possible against tuberculosis. Also featured is the red double-barred cross, the international symbol of the fight against this disease.

"The Seals will be mailed," said William B. Matthews, managing director of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association, "to people all over the state. The Maryland Tuberculosis Association has carried the fight against tuberculosis into every county and to continue this work satisfactorily every section must cooperate through the purchase of these Seals. Dollars, exchanged for Christmas Seals, will help insure every home in the state against this dread disease," Dr. Matthews said.

City Council Approves Payment Of Current Obligations

The Mayor and City Council approved payment of all current obligations amounting to $3,684.02, at the regular monthly meeting on Monday evening.

Obligations included a reservoir bond of $1,000, reservoir bond coupons of $280; water and sewerage bond coupons of $775, and other regular bills. After paying all accounts there remained in the treasury $89.79.

Receipts for the month included $1,410.56. This figure included $395.75 turned over to the town by the local golf committee, which represented $360 as 6 percent on the town's investment, and $135.75 in addition. The town early this year spent $946 on the golf course for fertilizer, labor, etc., necessary only this year, and it was hoped that by next year the receipts would total more than the expenses.

Arthur Lawton reported about $500 collected in taxes and $269.50 from water users. The movie tax for November was $71.85, and was distributed according to law to the Fire Department, Library, and the Red Cross.

Cumberland Wins Verdict in The Court of Appeals In Damage Suit Against City

The Court of Appeals of Maryland reversed a decision in a damage case brought against the City of Cumberland by Milton Turney of Oakland, and declared the city was not liable for the automobile accident in which Turney was injured.

The decision of the Court was handed down last Thursday at Annapolis. A jury in the Circuit Court at Cumberland had returned a verdict in favor of Milton Turney against the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland awarding damages of $2,500 for injuries sustained in an automobile accident atop Washington street last year. The decision was made on the grounds that the defendants were liable for streets presenting a hazard to safe driving. This decision was reversed by the Court of Appeals.

The likelihood exisits, according to Lewis M. Wilson, counsel for Turney, that two other suits growing out of the same mishap will be brought to trial at the next term of the Circuit Court in Cumberland.

F. White declared Wiley guilty and fined him $1 and costs. The costs will run into several dollars, as a number of witnesses had to be called to Oakland from Jennings.

NEW POULTRY BREEDING FARM BEING ESTABLISHED

Records Are Kept In Effort To Improve Poultry Industry Here

In an effort to improve the poultry industry in Garrett county, Paul M. Friend has established a poultry breeding business on his farm south of Oakland. Mr. Friend is being assisted by Harvey M. Riley, who has had special training in trap nesting and care of hens for breeding purposes.

Garrett county is credited with having certain natural conditions favorable to poultry production and the control of poultry diseases. The poultry industry in this county at the present time brings an average income of $230 per farm, or about twenty-three percent of the total farm income, making it a $465,000 industry during the year of 1938.

Mr. Friend says this income can be increased if proper steps are taken. According to Dr. M. A. Jull, poultry specialist, a 100-egg hen costs 8.03 pounds of feed for each dozen eggs she lays, while a 250-egg hen costs only 7.7 pounds of feed for each dozen eggs laid. Each 250-egg hen therefore saves the poultry raiser 4.6 pounds of feed on each dozen or a total of 96 pounds per year. This equals a net profit of approximately $1.85 per hen.

It is the aim of those interested in breeding better poultry to produce hens that inherit the ability of high production, which is the means of lowering the cost of egg production, which in turn makes for greater profit. All birds used in breeding on this farm are from pedigreed birds and are direct descendants from J. A. Hanson White Leghorns. This breeding program is being carried on in cooperation with Atkins Chickeries and Triple Star Breeding Farm at Pomeroy, O.

Trap nest records are being kept to know the production of each individual bird and blood tests have been made, the results of which show no reactors to pullorum.

This newest breeding farm plans to develop a type of White Leghorn which will show superior producing ability under average farm conditions, and these birds now under trap must produce 250 eggs or more without the use of wet mashes, medicines or artificial light or heat, or they will not be retained in the breeding pens, Mr. Friend said.

By an act of the last Legislature, the Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross receives from the Maryland Theatre a percentage of the tax on Sunday admissions, a published report of which is required in December of each year.

It has been so far the policy of the officers of the Chapter to expend this fund for children whose school work has been retarded by faulty vision and lack of dental work.

Aiding in this work was Dr. H. R. DuPuy, who has called attention to worthy cases who have been aided from this fund.

The report is submitted by Mrs. E. Z. Tower, president, and John M. Jarboe, treasurer.

Oakland High Basketeers Win One And Lose One

Oakland's high school basketball team broke even in two games played during the past week, winning from Arthurdale on the Oakland court Tuesday night, 34 to 26, but losing to Kingwood on the latter's floor, 27 to 17.

In the Arthurdale game Oakland trailed 6-2 at the end of the first quarter, but settled down and was leading 15 to 8 at the half. Lyons, with 15 points, led the Oakland scoring, while Browning with 8, Wolfe with 5 and Stewart and Coddington with 3 each, contributed the other points.

At Kingwood Monday, after leading 7-6 at the end of the quarter, the local team was unable to maintain its offense.

The next home game will be with St. Peter's high of Westernport, December 15, and Frostburg State Junior varsity on the 19th.

OAKLAND WILL BE GAYLY DECORATED FOR YULETIDE

Committee To Decide Definitely On Type Of Decorations Friday; to Be Placed Next Week

CHILDREN WILL GET TREAT

A number of stores throughout Oakland are already beginning to assume a holiday atmosphere for the Christmas season, and it will not be long before the streets will also receive their cheery decorations, according to members of the Rotary club committee, in charge.

At a meeting of the Town council on Monday evening, $50.00 was appropriated to take care of necessary expenses in cooperating with the Rotary club on this project. The Rotary club appointed Emroy Bolden, F. C. Kley and Arthur Lawton as a committee, and definite plans concerning the type of decorations, etc., are to be made Friday evening.

The committee is hoping to get away from the curb Christmas trees that have adorned the sidewalks for the past several years, and instead of the decorated trees and the strands of bulbs extended across the street, have all electric and telephone poles in the business district decorated and lighted with laurel and colored bulbs. This is being planned partly to remove the temptation of children and others from stealing the colored bulbs on the curb trees, and it is felt that the business section can be made just as attractive as formerly.

The Rotary committee will cooperate with the West Maryland Power company in the erection of the decorations, and it is expected that these will be in place sometime next week.

There will also be a community tree, at the corner of Liberty and Second streets, on the Presbyterian church lawn, which will be decorated. This is a permanent tree, donated to the town and planted by the girl and boy scouts. Families and householders do not plan to decorate their homes until about December 20.

Stores To Remain Open

Beginning around December 15, a number of stores will remain open in the evening to accommodate those who desire to make their Christmas purchases and avoid the last minute rush. Grocery and other stores not featuring Christmas goods especially, will remain open in the evenings after December 20.

Annual Treat For Children

The annual treat for children of the community will be given from beneath the community tree on Saturday afternoon, December 23. Oranges and candy have been ordered.

Each boy and girl 12 years old or under will be given a treat which will probably include an orange and a sack of candy. This is under the auspices of the Rotary club.

Holiday buying is said to have started already and business men are predicting an improvement in conditions.

All churches of the community are planning special Christmas services in observance of the anniversary of the coming of Christ into the world, and these will be given in detail later.

Jennings Man Held On Charge of Involuntary Manslaughter

Harrison Beachy, 50, of near Jennings, was jailed at Somerset, Pa., after a hearing last Thursday night, charged with involuntary manslaughter, following an accident on the national highway near Somerfield, Pa.

Sergeant J. A. Blair, of the Pennsylvania Motor Police, claimed he failed to stop after his light truck struck W. D. Collier, 80, of Somerfield, who was walking along the highway near his home on November 28. Police said Beachy continued on to a point about a half-mile from Somerfield where the truck's gasoline supply became exhausted. Beachy returned to Somerfield to obtain gasoline and when he arrived townspeople took the man in custody and held him until the motor police arrived.

Collier died November 30 from a fractured skull. A retired farmer, he one time conducted a livery business in Uniontown. Burial was in Addison cemetery on Saturday afternoon.

Benefit Picture Scheduled

A moving picture, "The Eagle and The Hawk," starring Frederic March, Cary Grant and Carole Lombard, will be shown at the Maryland Theatre on Tuesday, December 12, for the benefit of St. Peter's Catholic church. The usual admission charge will be made.

REPORT SHOWS NOVEMBER WELFARE BILL WAS $12,000

County Commissioner Giessman Says $18,000 Saved on GPA In the Year Just Closing

The financial report of the County Welfare Board for November, made at a meeting on Monday evening, showed expenditures during the past month amounting to $12,001.72, slightly less than for the previous month, according to Miss Ethel Miller, executive secretary.

The report showed 368 old age assistance cases received $5,796.80; 299 children received $2,931.88; 9 blind persons received $171; board and care for 23 children, $257.21; administration, $1,761.46; 98 cases on general public assistance, $1,083.37.

G. Blaine Giessman, member of the Board of County Commissioners, said Tuesday that the Commissioners had saved about $18,000 in general public assistance this year by turning all relief cases over to the Welfare Board. The Commissioners levied $13,000 for this item and thus far have spent $12,000, he said. In 1938 the Commissioners spent $31,550 for the same purpose. Mr. Giessman also said the Board of Commissioners had spent $22,000 building 13 miles of WPA roads in the county as its share of the expense.

Miss Miller said Mrs. W. W. Grant gave an interesting and instructive report on the conference of Board chairmen and executive secretaries held in Baltimore on November 16.

Two applicants for aid to dependent children and one application for old age assistance were granted at Monday night's welfare meeting.

Miss Elizabeth G. Smith, supervisor from the State Deaprtment of Public Welfare, was in Oakland Wednesday and Thursday to assist the local staff.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Riggs, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Davis left yesterday for Richmond, Va., where Mr. Riggs and Mr. Davis will attend a bankers' meeting.

100 DEER KILLED DURING THREE DAYS OF HUNTING

Five-Day Season Ends Tomorrow Evening At Sundown—200-Pound Bear Trailed And Killed

WEATHER IS FAVORABLE

Hundreds of hunters continued to go into the woods today and planned to make the most of their waning opportunities to obtain a buck before the five-day season draws to a close tomorrow evening at sundown.

With the reports incomplete, it is estimated by game wardens that about 100 deer were killed during the first three days of the season, with the prospect that the total would reach 175 before Friday night. Weather was favorable to the hunters and a light snow covered the ground to give them a chance for tracking.

Joseph A. Minke, stationed at Grantsville, said twenty-eight deer had been reported to him, while Raymond D. Houck, Oakland, said he had been notified of forty-four, making a total of seventy-two. Today's mail was expected to bring in another twenty-five.

According to the reports of hunters, deer were widespread, and kills were being made at Hutton, Swanton, Red House, Snaggy Mountain, Roman Nose, Backbone, Piney and Negro mountains, along Deep Creek, and at Sang Run, Underwood, Sand Run, Herrington, Elder Hill, Swallow Falls, Marsh Hill and other places.

Mr. Houck said that the killing of 13 illegal deer had been reported. "Members of the county game association are helping a lot in reporting these kills," Mr. Houck said. "Several persons are under suspicion. Previously we had no way of knowing how many illegal deer were being killed. Now we know what is happening and steps will be taken to stop this practice."

Bear Killed

Not only was deer hunting good, but bear hunting too. A 200-pound black bear was shot near Swallow Falls by Claude Friend, Jr., 21, of Deer Park, accompanied by Ralph Sebold. They said this one was killed while trailing another bear. They failed to find the second bear which apparently was much larger than the one they shot.

May Postpone Wedding

A prospective bridegroom may have to postpone his wedding day, due to his hunting desires. Bernard Opel was to have been married Saturday. But he and Frank M. Eckert went hunting Tuesday and unless he can raise $150 by Saturday he will be forced to remain in the County jail where he was taken Tuesday night.

Fulcher P. Smith, State game commissioner, came upon traces of trespassing upon the Meadow Mountain Game Refuge. He came upon a place where a deer had been killed and the dressed carcass was found under some hemlocks. Near the scene was Opel and Eckert.

At a hearing officers were unable to produce sufficient evidence to convict the men of killing the animal but both were fined $50 and costs for trespassing on state property. Opel was carrying a gun loaded with shot shells instead of balls and one of these shells had been discharged. He was fined $100 on this charge. Both were placed in the county jail in default of payment.

W. E. Buckel, Bittinger, appears to have gotten the deer with the largest number of points, at least, bagging a 12-pointer, weighing 175 pounds, on Meadow Mountain.

Report They Killed Deer

James Gower, Alvin Tasker, Oakland; James Sanders, Thayer Sanders and Junior Sanders, all of near Hutton; Charles DeWitt, Accident; Henry Ehatt, Baltimore.

Nobody's Greedy

World history is full of the conquests of national leaders, all for the sake of greed. Germany wanted Poland for her own and took it, that is—all that Russia didn't take. Now Russia wants part of Finland and will probably get it, but the Finns are putting up a gallant fight for their inherent rights.

Carl Sandburg, the writer, reviewing the international situation, told the other day of an Illinois farmer whose neighbors accused him of being greedy about land. The farmer replied, "I ain't greedy about land; I only want what jines mine."

So maybe none of us are greedy. But we'd all be better off if we didn't even want that land that "jines" ours

So far the Cumberland papers have refrained from admitting that rabbits make tracks about the postoffice in that city, but they do acknowledge that Cumberland housewives have trouble with skunks.

A housewife found one in her cellar the other day and asked the Mayor to do something about it. The Mayor called the cops and they killed the skunk. Then the lady called and said that it smelled something awful and what was she to do?

This stumped both the Mayor and Dr. J. P. Franklin, County Health Director, and the latter wrote a letter to State Veterinarian Mark Welsh, inquiring for a remedy in case another housewife call sometime. The State Veterinarian replied as follows:

"Dear Mr. Franklin:—

"I regret the delay in answering your letter of November 2, but I have been away for some few days. In any case, an earlier reply would not have been of material aid for the permeating perfume of polecats is alleviated only by time, fresh air and sunshine.

"From personal contact and observation I have learned that when a mother skunk turns to her family and says, 'Let us spray,' a very volatile oil is expelled which finds its way to Heaven, if they are aiming in that direction.

"Even when the fur forms a lovely calyx about the virginal face of a young maid, the evening dampness liberates the lingering odor of the original possessor of the hide. I have personally made it a rule to never kick a skunk when his back is turned. If you are going to have any arguments with them, I would suggest that you use slow acting poisons, such as arsenic, rather than strychnine, which might cause convulsive movements with disastrous results. Shotguns at thirty paces is also recommended. Only time and a strong wind will make you fit for decent society should you miss. I shall be glad to extend you every help—from this distance.

"With kindest regards, I am,

"Very truly yours,

"MARK WELSH,

"State Veterinarian."

Loses Auto, Cash, Time, But Gains Good Alibi

LeMoyne Slabaugh, of Akron, had a perfect alibi for not meeting his wife after the movies recently, according to a story appearing in the Beacon Journal at Akron, O., but it cost him 86 cents, his car and a had half hour during which Slabaugh was pretty definitely kidnaped.

Mrs. Slabaugh went to the theatre. Slabaugh said he would meet her after the show. He pulled into a parking space near the theatre in plenty of time. Suddenly a smooth-shaven, dapper young man jumped into the back seat of the car. Pressing a revolver into the back of Slabaugh's neck he ordered him to drive on. When they had gone a short ways the bandit ordered him to drive into a gas station and get five gallons of fuel. Slabaugh complied.

Still keeping him covered with the revolver the bandit ordered him to drive toward Cleveland. Enroute Slabaugh asked the bandit if he could close the car window, as he was getting cold. "Never mind about that," the bandit retorted, "remember there are other ways to make a guy stiff besides letting cold air blow on him."

He finally ordered the car stopped, relieved Slabaugh of 86 cents and then returned 16 cents for bus fare, and drove away in the direction of Cleveland. Police were notified and he called the theatre to notify his wife not to wait. He then went home to explain his alibi in detail. Slabaugh is employed in the mailing room of the Beacon Journal. He is a son of Ed. Slabaugh, formerly of Gortner, and a nephew of S. W. and Lena Slabach, of Gortner.

Maryland Banks Made 50,000 New Loans; Renew 180,000 Others

Countering the assertion that banks are not lending, the American Bankers Association has released for publication the results of a survey of bank lending activity in Maryland, showing that the commercial banks in the Old Line State made 50,000 new loans totaling $60,000,000 during the first six months of 1939, and renewed 180,000 outstanding loans aggregating $160,000,000 in the same period.

These figures are based on reports received from 91, or 51 percent of the commercial banks in the State and make allowance for the concentration of lending activity in the metropolitan area of Baltimore

The 91 banks reported they made 28,629 new loans totaling $51,788,799 between January 1 and June 30, 1939, and renewed 97,490 outstanding loans totaling $111,672,485. In addition, they reported making 1,128 new mortgage loans to home owners and other real estate owners totaling $4,260,373.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1939

LONG RANGE PLANNING—

The growth and development of this area as a dairy section, making it a more prosperous community thruout the entire year, was placed within the grasp of Oakland a month or more ago when the Carnation Company announced it contemplated placing a milk receiving station here.

To have learned at this time that the company had decided to locate here should be a welcome Christmas present for farmers and merchants alike, but such news is not forthcoming. In fact, unless the milk survey undertaken by several business men of Oakland to ascertain the cow population of the county and the possibilities of increasing the dairy industry, is more favorable than it looked last week, then the company probably will not locate here.

Just why there is uncertainty seems to be due to several reasons. One is that a number of the farmers, a few business and professional men of Oakland aren't looking any farther than the end of their noses. They don't seem to realize that in the long run, the improvement of any industry in this section would benefit everybody.

A certain few look upon it as a competing business to other dairy interests. But if the new industry could so build up the dairy business here that every concern got as much as they wanted, wouldn't the farmers be better off for having an outlet for all of their product?

Others are wondering, in a selfish way, what "the other fellow" is going to get out of it. Some few farmers wonder why a group of Oakland business men would be pushing the project. Their view can be explained easily in the words of L. S. "Pete" Hartley, agricultural agent for the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, who spoke at one of the first meetings held here in October.

Mr. Hartley assumed some of those present were wondering what interest the B. and O. had in a milk station, especially when Mr. Melhuish, Carnation's representative, was talking of trucking milk to Clarksburg, to the proposed condensery there. "In order for the B. and O. to survive we've got to have prosperous communities along our tracks. It is our opinion that an increased dairy business at Clarksburg and at Oakland would make those communities more prosperous. When people are more prosperous they will buy more commodities. The B. and O. is bound to get some of that business. That's why we're interested."

It is just as true of the Oakland business men. If the farmers are prosperous, the business men will be prosperous. If farmers don't have any extra money, it's plain they can't spend it.

It's just as true of lawyers, doctors, and others. If they looked far enough ahead they'd see that a prosperous community would mean more prosperity for them.

And yet a few see in this proposed milk station nothing of benefit to Oakland and to Garrett county's farmers.

The Carnation company asked only for a milk survey of the county. They wanted 500 farmers to fill out blanks showing the number of cows they milked. They didn't ask for contracts to be signed. They merely wanted to know if the area was big enough and willing to be improved. They asked for a fair trial. On the strength of this information they were going to erect a station here at a cost of about $25,000, which would be able to care for present supply, and an unlimited supply in the future, depending on the farmers' desires to increase their herds and total output. Thus far less than 400 farmers have filled out these blanks, although a number of meetings were held, and others were seen at their farms.

If the farmers saw their opportunity they would rush to fill out the blanks. If the business men here saw their opportunity they would carry them to the farmers.

If we all looked just a little bit ahead, we'd do our best, and forget these petty and selfish interests that somehow always creep into a situation of this kind.

With improved business here, with more spending money here, Garrett county is going ahead. Drift along as we have been and there is danger of stagnation. If we don't seize this opportunity, some other community will.

BOOK BEHIND AMERICA—

Universal Bible Sunday is being observed December 10 throughout the United States. The theme is timely: "The Truth That Makes Men Free."

Freedom is in greater jeopardy today than ever in the lifetime of living men. Every American should guard the sources of our cherished liberties, whose price has always been eternal vigilance.

The source of these liberties lies in the Bible. Go back three hundred years to the founding of the Colonies and you find this Book.

If ever a nation was born of a book, America was born of the Bible.

In Germany school children are compelled to study Mein Kampf.

Not so in America. America was founded by refugees who risked their lives to establish on these shores communities where men might read and follow the Bible, which is a symbol of truth and justice.

To quote Calvin Coolidge: "The foundation of our Government rests so much on the teachings of the Bible that it would be difficult to support them if these teachings should cease to be practically universal in our country."

It remains for the people to keep American right.

"God Will Surely Visit You!" This Old Testament prophecy is the theme Last Sunday we thought of Jesus, God's Visitor to earth, as a prophet of the Advent sermons by the pastor, proclaiming the eternal Gospel of Salvation. Next Sunday we shall think of Him as the kindly Physician coming into our hearts and homes. How He warms the atmosphere by His cheerful and gentle manner, by His sympathetic understanding of all our ailments! How He lights up the dark places, the mysterious pains of our lives, dispelling doubt and fear! How confidently He applies the remedy required! Physical ailments must usually run their courses, but all the soul's diseases may be healed by the Great Physician.

St. John's Sunday school and Luther League will unite in rendering a great Christmas program on Christmas Eve. The youngsters will receive the usual treat again this year.

The Extras are in the CAR— and not in the Price!

YOU look this smooth-stepping Buick honey over, and its very manner tells you here's a one-in-a-million kind of automobile.

You look at the advertised prices, add something more for transportation and accessories—and there you begin to go wrong!

For one of the things that give this Buick its buy-value is the number of items included in the price that cost extra elsewhere!

For instance—the Flash-Way Direction Signal, standard on all models, costs around $10 extra elsewhere—even without the automatic cut-off.

Every Buick comes to you with automatic choke and an efficient oil cleaner—it's surprising how often they're sold as "extras."

Every Buick has dual horns, dual sun visors, locks on both front doors, electric lighter, assist straps,† robe cord,† glove compartment lock, front-door armrests, gas tank lock—all things often charged for elsewhere.

Every Buick has a Dynaflash valve-in-head straight-eight engine, micropoise-balanced after assembly. Every one has two stabilizers, and rear coil springs that never need lubrication.

All have torque-tube drive, battery under hood, two ways of starting. Super and Roadmaster have front seats close to five feet wide and all models have Safety Plate Glass all around.

And all this is included in the at-the-factory price. Why not see the nearest Buick dealer and see how little more it costs delivered to your door?

CARL J. BROWN

Carl J. Brown, Oakland merchant, died Tuesday morning, Dec, 5, at his home on Alder street, following a prolonged illness, which for more than two months kept him bedfast.

The deceased was a son of Mrs. Dosia Brown and the late Austin Brown, a former sheriff of Garrett county, and was born at Selbysport. He was aged fifty years. When his father moved to Oakland to become sheriff in December, 1907, he was accompanied by members of his family, who continued to reside here.

The deceased was in the service of the United States Army at the time of his father's death in 1917, serving eleven months with the field artillary, having enlisted at Akron, O., where he was employed at the time. Shortly after the death of his father he was honorably discharged from the service and returned to Oakland to manage the affairs of his father, who was engaged as a merchant when taken ill.

During his young manhood the deceased achieved quite a reputation as a baseball pitcher, having played in the Cumberland Valley League and also with the Tri-State League with several West Virginia teams. An accident in which he suffered the fracture of both wrists, stopped what might have been a brilliant career in the national sport.

He married Miss Prema Bolden on May 11, 1925. Surviving are his widow, his mother, and a sister, Mrs. Horace Coddington, all of Oakland; three uncles and an aunt: R. E. Frazee, Oakland; R. A. Frazee, Selbysport; Charles Brown, Kingwood, W. Va., and Miss Nora Brown, Bedford, Pa.

Funeral services are being conducted this afternoon from the Bolden Funeral Home at two o'clock, Rev. D. C. Trimble, Episcopal rector, and Dr. A. B. Leamer, pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran church, officiating. Interment will be in Oakland cemetery. Mr. Brown was a member of the Knights of Pythias lodge in Oakland.

HERBERT EMANUEL KING

He was born November 15, 1924, the son of Abraham and Alice King. Surviving are his parents, five sisters and one brother, Myrtle May Hinebaugh, Deer Park; Susan Boatman, Keyser, W. Va.; Edward King, Deer Park; Edna Seise, Cumberland; Arlene Ervin, Oakland, and Edna King, at home.

H. R. SHANK

H. R. Shank, 77 years of age, died shortly before midnight Saturday at his home at Swanton. He had been ill for about two months and had been a patient at Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, until recently.

During his lifetime and until ten years ago he was engaged in agricultural pursuits. He had been a member of the United Brethren church since 1882 and was active in affairs of his church.

Surviving are the following children, S. R. Shank, Cumberland; Raymond Shank, Keyser, W. Va.; Mrs. Arthur Green and Mrs. Carrie Wigfield, of Swanton; also one brother, Edward Shank, of Washington, Pa. His wife died about two and one-half years ago.

WALLACE MASON

Wallace Mason, 59 years old, died on Thursday, November 23, at a sanitarium at Craig's Colony, Edgewater, Denver, Colorado, following a long illness. He was a son of the late George M. and Margaret Mason, of Oakland, and was a brother of Lee R. Mason, of Oakland. He left Oakland about 35 years ago and returned for a visit about the year 1905, but had not been here since that time.

For several years after he left Oakland he was engaged in Y. M. C. A. work in various cities of the middle west. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity and was given a Masonic burial on Tuesday, November 28, at Denver.

WILSON J. LIVENGOOD

Wilson J. Livengood, aged 73 years, died at his home at Casselman, a few miles south of Grantsville, about 11:00 o'clock Sunday morning. He had been in ill health for the past six months. He was born in Elk Lick Township, Somerset county, Pa., November 25, 1866, a son of John and Catherine Folk Livengood. Many years ago he moved to Garrett county and purchased a farm at Casselman where he resided until his death.

In March, 1893, he married Elizabeth Jane Otto. Five children were born to them, one of whom, Morris, died about a year ago. Mr. Livengood is survived by his wife, one daughter, Mrs. Homer Rembold, Grantsville, and three sons, Fay Livengood, near Salisbury; Miles Livengood, Swanton, and Homer Livengood, Grantsville. A sister, Mrs. Peter Maust, Meyersdale, also survives. His youngest sister, Mrs. Austin Lichty, died at Meyersdale three weeks ago.

Mr. Livengood was well known and had many friends. Although he lost his sight some thirty years ago, he declined to become an invalid and continued to be actively interested in the management of his farm. In early childhood he became a member of the Casselman Mennonite church and took a keen interest in the work of that organization.

Funeral services were conducted at ten o'clock Wednesday morning from the Casselman Mennonite church, with Rev. Roy Otto, of the Springs Mennonite church, officiating. Pallbearers were John Baum, Ralph Jenkins, S. J. Maust, Simon Orendorf, D. D. Otto and Albert Warnick. Interment was in the church cemetery.

COUNTY'S DEER KILLINGS WILL SURPASS YEAR 1938

Already 162 Successful Hunters Have Reported To Various Wardens In Two Counties

NOT ONE FATAL ACCIDENT

Prospects that the number of deer killed during the five-day season ending last Friday at sundown, would surpass last year's figure, seemed assured with reports of game wardens in this county who state that they have been notified of 162 having been killed by hunters. Last year's record was 173.

District Game Warden Joseph A. Minke and Deputy Game Warden Raymond Houck said they had received 122 reports. State Game Warden E. Lee LeCompte said twenty-six had reported directly to the State Game Department. Allegany county Game Warden Harry R. Kenney noted that ten Garrett county kills had been reported to him and additional Garrett county deer were reported killed on Monday night by Game Warden Richard Browning, who is now located in Allegany county.

Garrett county came through without a fatal hunting accident during the season, so far as is known.

Enforcement officers were particularly active this year and were given much assistance by members of the sportsmen's organizations. As a result of this cooperation seventeen illegally killed deer were discovered in the woods and a number of hunters are under suspicion of having knowledge of the killing or are actual perpetrators of the killing of the animals.

Barn At Dry Run Destroyed

The large barn on the property of W. E. Durst, Dry Run, was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin last Monday, December 4, it has just been learned.

Mr. Durst had just returned to his home from Oakland and after putting his horses in the barn had gone to the house nearby when smoke was seen coming from the roof of the structure.

Mr. Durst quickly got the horses out of the building, went for help to a closeby neighbor and returned and attempted to get some farm machinery to a place of safety, but fell and tore the ligaments in his leg.

The barn was filled with the year's crops and farm machinery and also a threshing machine belonging to a neighbor farmer. Some insurance was carried but not sufficient to cover the loss sustained.

Christmas Decorations Placed

With most of the Christmas decorations along the streets in place, Oakland has begun to radiate Christmas cheer to its citizens and visitors. The strans of rhododendron and colored lights were placed Tuesday and yesterday and the committee in charge also plans to wrap the electric poles in the same manner.

HUNTING STORIES ARE GIVEN PUBLICITY

This Is a Deer Story

A deer that had been marked on the ear while still a fawn in the year 1936, turned up in a surprising fashion in 1939, according to an unusual hunting story emanating from the Bittinger community and related to The Republican writer Tuesday evening.

Clarence Stephen, a farmer and excellent citizen, residing in the Glades Settlement, a short distance from Bittinger, told how one June evening in 1936, a man working on his farm found a very young fawn in the pasture field while engaged in driving the cows to the barn for the evening milking. The fawn was carried to the Stephens home and shown to members of the family. After being kept at the home a short time, Mr. Stephens cut a mark in the fawn's ear, identical with the identification mark he uses for his sheep. The fawn was released in the pasture field and disappeared.

Last Thursday, December 7th, Mr. Clarence Sterner, Baltimore, who was staying at the Stephens home during the deer hunting season, brought in a six-point buck, which he had shot on Meadow Mountain, located five miles from Mr. Stephens' farm. Upon examination of the animal it was found that its ear bore the mark which Mr. Stephens had made three years before. The animal weighed 106 pounds.

This Is a Bear Story—In His "Back Yard."

Another peculiar incident is told of Ernest Selby, of Selbysport, who went over in some county in the State of Pennsylvania to hunt for bear. He hunted and hunted, but without success. He returned to his home empty-handed and there learned that a 200-pound bear had been killed on some timber land owned by him and located in the Swallow Falls community, last week.

Down around Lonaconing, Melvin McKenzie related that he and an 80-year old friend were hunting. He shot a deer and the buck got just to the roadway and fell dead. A bunch of "sportsmen" put it on their car and away they went.

Tuberculosis Seal Sale Drive Is Again Under Way

With the annual drive for funds for the Maryland Tuberculosis Association under way again, the health department announced how money contributed last year was used. The sum contributed was $336.80. Of this $16.90 went to the National Tuberculosis Association and $84.20 to the Maryland Branch. The remaining $235.70 has been spent for Garrett county patients.

The seal sale the first week this year was $127.54, which is $40 more than the amount received the first week of last year.

Seals have been mailed out to many people and they are expected to return the money or the seals within a reasonable time.

Mrs. Leah King, Lakewood, Ohio, who was called here by reason of the death of her brother-in-law, the late Carl Brown, is remaining for a visit with relatives for a week or more.

CARNATION COMPANY TO BUILD CLARKSBURG PLANT

SURVEY BLANKS NEEDED

While the establishmenet of a milk receiving station here for the Carnation Company hangs in the balance, awaiting the filling out and return of survey blanks that will tell the concern that Garrett county can support an additional outlet for its milk supply in the future, definite announcement that the Carnation Company would build a large milk condensery just outside the city of Clarksburg, was made Tuesday night in that city by W. C. Cross, of Oconomowoc, Wis., vice-president in charge of production.

The company's official decision came Tuesday evening in a telegram to the Clarksburg Chamber of Commerce, which conducted a survey of the central state milkshed to determine the potential milk supply for the proposed plant.

Oakland Not Certain

The fact that the company has decided to build its condensery at Clarksburg does not make it certain that the receiving station will be built here, according to local people working on the development. Vern Melhuish, Carnation representative, had asked for about 500 survey blanks from farmers in this section, showing the cow population and the chances for increase throughout future years.

Thus far, due to the fact that milk producers and potential milk producers, have not grasped the opportunity, and also due to the apparent lack of interest upon the part of others, no more than 400 blanks have been returned.

It was intimated the receviing station could be built in any direction within 60 or 70 miles of Clarksburg, should not the Garrett county people want another outlet for their milk supply that would be permanent and unlimited.

The condensery at Clarksburg will be 340 feet long and 80 feet wide, built of reinforced concrete, except the roof. Part of the structure will be two-story, part one-story and part one-story with basement. The original plan was to build the plant at a cost of $250,000. The receiving stations were to cost about $25,000.

The construction of the Clarksburg plant will start immediately and will be put in operation next spring. The building will be equipped as a complete condensery making a finished product—the canned evaporated milk. About 150 men will be employed in the work of construction.

It's principal value to the area is said in Clarksburg to be the encouragement it will give the dairy industry with an unlimited market for milk.

The president of Clarksburg Chamber of Commerce termed it "the finest thing that ever happened to Clarksburg and the central state territory." The chairman of the agricultural committee declared it would furnish a 365-day-a-year income to nearly 3,000 farmers of that section, with paydays twice a month.

Meeting Held This Morning

A group of business met met this morning to speed up the survey so that the Carnation Company will know the possibilities here within less than a week. Names of farmers who have not been contacted have been listed by districts, and business men named to be responsible for certain areas, to get results by the end of the week.

Farmers are urged to cooperate with the men named in their districts and to come in if possible and see them, without waiting until they call at individual homes. The survey should include the milk producers who are now sending their product to other stations, as the survey is not to see whether or not farmers will send milk to the Carnation receiving station here, if one is built, but to learn whether the area is capable of producing sufficient cows to warrant the construction of a plant for future growth.

The men named this morning for the various districts include the following: District 1, Delbert M. Davis; 2, L. M. Fraley; 3, R. D. Houck; 5, H. C. Riggs; 6, L. M. Fraley; 7, O. T. Graser; 8, Cecil Kight; 10, Frank Kley; 12, J. C. Renninger; 14, Frank Kley. District 16 is included in the former Districts 7 and 10, and districts not listed will be contacted later.

JURY FAILS TO REACH VERDICT IN CASE AGAINST COUNTY COMMISSIONERS AFTER EIGHTEEN BALLOTS

Members Are Dismissed Following Deliberation Of Almost 10 Hours; Case Will Be Called Again At March Term

TRIAL LASTED TWO DAYS

A deadlocked jury which deliberated the case of the Garrett County Commissioners brought the controversy over their conduct in office to a standstill, to remain so until the March Term of the Court, when the case will again be called for trial.

The jury was dismissed at midnight on Tuesday after it had been locked up for almost ten hours, or since 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. It was reported that the jury stood seven for conviction and five against conviction on the eighteenth ballot immediately before reporting to the Court that they were unable to agree.

The county's three commissioners are under an indictment charging the body with having purchased culvert pipe costing more than $300 without having advertised for bids in newspapers as required by a law passed on April 26 by the Maryland Legislature. The pipe, according to the evidence before the Court and jury was bought on May 10. This is one of the three indictments returned by the September grand jury against the Commissioners, G. Blaine Giessman, Cheston H. Browning and Paul M. Friend, and if found guilty on any one of the three indictments the law requires their removal from office and their successors as in other cases of vacancies in public offices, are to be appointed by the Governor.

Case Was Called Monday

The trial of the three Commissioners, indicted jointly, got under way on Monday morning with Chief Judge D. Lindley Sloan and Associate Judge William A. Huster on the bench.

Defense attorneys filed a demurrer, contending one new law was unconstitutional because its chapter title did not include a penalty for violation of the statute, but stated only that the Commissioners must advertise for bids on purchases over $300.

Judge D. Lindley Sloan ruled that this was not necessary in criminal proceedings and hence the demurrer was overruled.

The jury was then selected in the usual manner from the regular jury panel of the term conducted regularly in September and consisted of L. C. Hutson, foreman; Charles F. Ellifritz, James B. Bell, W. E. Spoerlein, Dewey Evans, Philip Filsinger, William F. Sanders, J. S. Teats, Leo Helbig, R. R. Custer, Richard A. Gates and Earl Alexander.

Contended Need Urgent

Defense attorneys in summing up the case Tuesday morning and afternoon, said the law stated that newspaper advertisements requesting bids were not necessary if an emergency existed and argued that the purchase of culvert pipe costing $1,200 was required for immediate construction of WPA-aided roads in the county. Mr. Browning testified that prices for the pipe had been obtained by letter from several concerns and that the pipe had been obtained from the lowest bidder.

The agreement to purchase the pipe, they argued, had been entered into by WPA officials and the previous Board of County Commissioners, and they contended that the ordering of the pipe was routine work and had been done by the clerical staff a few days after the passage of the law under which the charges against the Commissioners were brought.

Both Commissioner Browning and Commissioner Friend testified that James Pollock, county WPA supervising engineer, had been given authority to obtain the pipe in April, prior to the passage of the Act by the Legislature.

Miss Gertrude Aronhalt, stenographer, and Walter G. Meyers, clerk to the Commissioners, said they had handled the order after Pollock had made out a list of the pipe needed. Mr. Friend and Mr. Browning both testified the first they knew of the order was when the bill for the pipe was received at their office.

G. Blaine Giesman, president of the Board, did not testify. He was ill at his home Monday morning, but was present in the court room for a short time in the afternoon on Monday and again Tuesday. He collapsed in the Commissioners' office Tuesday evening while waiting for the jury to return their verdict, and after he was revived, was taken to his home.

"Willful Violation"

Neil C. Fraley, Garrett County State's Attorney, termed the pipe purchase a "willful violation of existing laws," and asked the jury in his plea for a verdict of guilty.

Mr. Fraley had only three witnesses for the State, Mr. Meyers, clerk to the Commissioners; William J. Pell, salesman for the Maryland Culvert and Pipe Company, from whom the material was purchased, and G. Bates Chaires, formerly in charge of State roads and a number of county roads in this county.

The defense had approximately 36 witnesses, but did not use near that many in presenting their case.

Ten witnesses testified on Tuesday morning who were mostly farmers from communities where WPA roads were being constructed and where the culvert pipe was needed. These included John Beitzell, Bittinger; Geo. A. White, Mountain Lake Park; Clarence Stephen, Bittinger; Ellery F. Garletts, Selbysport; Scott Harvey, Short Run; William Upperman, Table Rock; Howard Barnard, Bloomington; William McRobie, roads supervisor, WPA projects, and Robert W. Sheckells, connected with the Meadow Mountain CCC camp.

Indictments Listed

The indictment under which the Commissioners were being tried stated that on May 10 the three Commissioners, while acting in an official capacity, had unlawfully entered into a contract of purchase for culvert pipe of more than $300. Defense attorneys pointed this out to the jury and contended that there was no evidence to show that the Commissioners had acted in an official capacity in the purchase of the material and that the ordering of the pipe had been a routine matter.

Judge D. Lindley Sloan announced at the close of the arguments that regardless of the outcome of the case on trial, the two other indictments would not be tried until the regular March term of the Circuit Court.

The Commissioners are charged in a second indictment with making another illegal pipe purchase and a third indictment charges they wrote county orders on the contingent fund in violation of another law passed by the 1939 Legislature.

Attorneys defending the Commissioners were Horace P. Whitworth, of Westernport; Walter C. Capper, of Cumberland, and Benny Epstein, regularly employed attorney for the Commissioners.

Case An Unusual One

The case was an unusual one, involving the possible ousting of public officials from office, and attracted many people from all parts of the county to hear the evidence.

It was supposed this trial would settle the controversy that has been going on publicly and privately since the Commissioners took office, but no settlement is in prospect until March of next year, and in the meantime the present Commissioners will continue to conduct the affairs of their office.

The present board has had a stormy career since embarking December 2, 1938, following the regular county election in November. First they purchased road machinery costing more than $60,000 with the purpose in view of building or improving roads in the county with WPA assistance. This action aroused a storm of protest from a group of citizens and resulted in the passage of the $300 purchase limit law sponsored by Senator Clifford Friend in the Legislature.

Then a law which had changed the dates of tax collections found the County Treasurer with no funds with which to pay relief expenses early in 1939 until a Mr. "X" came along and loaned sufficient money to pass the crisis. Borrowing power was cut off in the meantime from the banks because a searchlight had been turned on a law which said the Commissioners were not allowed to pay interest on back county orders, which had been the custom for a great number of years.

Matters seemingly then settled to routine activities until the September Term grand jurors met. The body recessed following a few days' investigation of criminal matters and then returned here on November 6, when they returned three indictments, as above set out, against the Commissioners.

Mrs. Thomas J. Hughes was a business caller at Terra Alta Saturday afternoon.

Scoop's Column

BY Scoop Himself

This Law Business

This law business is a funny business. Not funny, ha, ha, but funny, peculiar like.

On one side of the courtroom, around a desk, sit several attorneys. On the other side are the attorneys for the other side. At times they glare across the room at each other as if they'd like to see them sink through the floor. But when the judge calls a recess they all retire to the same room and are all smiles.

The attorneys not on the particular case, sit around and get pointers or pick flaws, and there seem to be plenty of flaws, except the ones sitting around never take into consideration, seemingly, that the non-interested parties are more apt to feel more at ease and more able to think of the proper thing at the proper time. Moreover it's always easier to pick flaws in something from the sidelines. It's that way in football. The crowd can always give advice about how the signals should have been called, but if the individual who gives the advice was in the quarterback's position, the strain on a person's system would be different.

The prosecution points out how futile and how pitiful the defense counsel has presented its side. The defense just reverses the statement on the prosecution and the attorneys glare some more. But after it's all over you'd think they are bosom friends—and they probably are.

A jury that can weigh the evidence as it is presented, without letting the attorneys get them off on the wrong track, is the ideal situation, but one wonders how often such is the case. Many times the future of the accused hangs in the balance on the effectiveness of an attorney's plea to the jury. It's a brittle thread, if the jury is easily swayed. It's a good thing, however, there are at least twelve people on a jury. Human nature is such that all twelve are not swayed in the same direction on the same emotion displayed by the attorneys arguing the case. After they get in the jury room, no doubt the cold facts begin to creep in and are brought to light. Behind their four walls they can face the facts without any attorneys pointing an accusing finger at them. Most all of the jurors beam when the attorneys look upon them and call them intelligent. What else could they tell them and expect any consideration?

And then there is Pop Hammond and his eagle eye, waiting until the audience gets loud enough for him to holler "order in the court." Sometimes the judge beats him to it and pounds his gavel for silence.

The only time this was necessary, however, in this particular trial this week was when Howard Barnard from "away back of Bloomington" took the stand. He couldn't wait to tell the jury and everybody else just how bad the roads were down in his section—and there's no doubt that they are bad. Right now, he says he has to walk a mile to work as there's no road fit to travel.

The strong arms of the law, Owens, Currie, Spear, were all there waiting—for what? Probably what everybody else was waiting for—the outcome. The regular visitors at court were there, the ones who attend for baby cases, murder, and everything else. It makes no difference to them. Court is Court and there's the place to get the low down on many a "tough hombre" who happens to get caught.

Among the visitors also were a number of interested Democrats who were anxiously awaiting the verdict that might open up an appointment for them. But they were doomed to disappointment, for several months at least.

Wilbert N. Savage, Sang Run, has sent in some last minute gift selections. Some of them I agree with, some of them I don't, especially the one for the third term for Franklin D. Roosevelt. While he couldn't get the country in a much worse mess, except in case of war, yet he never gets anything accomplished that would even place the country back on the right track. As we said before he's just a third termite.

But here are his suggestions. Take them for what you will:

For Adolf Hitler: A wooden map of Europe with removable sections so he can play with the boundary lines, or an insurance policy with a special "in case of death from beer cellar bomb" clause.

For Stalin: A bigger paddle with which to spread communism, or, the whole of Finland and a gaily wrapped, generous slice of each of the Balkan countries.

For Neville Chamberlain: A new umbrella.

For Fritz Kuhn: An "eversharp" hack saw.

For Franklin D. Roosevelt: A third term.

For all those on Europe's Western Front: A good swift kick in the pants to stimulate activity.

For all calendar manufacturers: Suggestions on how to solve next year's printing problems, as: should the calendar have a "subject to change without notice" space, or a preface reading, "subject to proclamation," or NOTE* "Cannot be used except in so-and-so State."

For Martin Dies: A lie detector to use on the "parasites" he is rounding up.

For all Townsendites: A carton of sympathy and a package of assurance that the ham and egg plan will work next time.

Looks like the town will have to have a permanent policeman on Alder street, in front of or in that street's "beer jernt." If they keep on having brawls there eventually somebody is going to get hurt, and maybe worse.

A toning down, cleaning out or clearing up apparently is needed.

TWO NEW GASOLINES ARE MADE AVAILABLE TODAY

New Products Are Result Of An Extensive Laboratory Research

Two new gasolines were made available to motorists today at all Esso dealer stations. The products will be branded New Esso, a regular-priced motor fuel meeting specifications for premium-priced gasolines, and Esso Extra, a new premium fuel replacing the company's old Esso. These new products are the result of extensive laboratory research and a long program of advance testing both in the laboratories and under actual service conditions on the nation's streets and highways, according to Mr. H. H. Weigand, local manager of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

"Recent improvements in automobile engines make practicable the use of improved fuels through which maximum power and speed may be obtained. For best performance many automobiles today require gasoline of a quality available only at premium prices a few years ago," Mr. Weigand explained.

"In six years the average compression ratio of automobiles rose to 28 per cent, average engine speeds jumped 21 per cent, and average power developed leaped 38 per cent. Obviously engines with such improved standards require superior fuels if they are to operate at maximum efficiency.

"Esso Marketers laboratories are constantly testing new models of automobiles and developing new and improved motor fuels. These two new products are the result of the work of the same technological and research organizations which pioneered the use of tetraethyl lead in regular grade gasolines, which showed the way to overcome vapor lock, which introduced patented solvent oil and which put into effect the first really effective system of making available gasoline specifically suited to the climate of the locality in which it was purchased."

Mountain Lake Park Resident Uses These Columns To Inform Friends And The Public About Andersonville Prison.

Editor of The Republican:

Thank you for your promptness in mailing my paper to me.

I promised to write to some of my friends and as I have some things to say which might interest the general public I will appreciate it if you will publish all or a part of this letter.

My wife and I left Mt. Lake Park on November 28, arriving at Lynn Haven, Fla., on December 1, after visiting many interesting places on the way. State Route 49 took us via the Andersonville prison grounds and National cemetery, between Macon and Americus, Ga. As my wife's father and my father were both Union soldiers during the Civil War we were both anxious to see that spot, so sacred to all loyal Americans. The records there tell us that during the Civil War 52,245 Union soldiers were confined there as prisoners of war and that 13,900 of them died of disease or starvation. Each state whose sons were so unfortunate as to be imprisoned there has erected a suitable memorial of granite or marble with appropriate inscriptions thereon. Some had this one "Died before dishonor". Another one quoted in Rev. 7: 16-17.

Much after month the prisoners had nothing but one small filthy stream from which to wash and drink. One day there came a thunder storm and the lightning tore a hole in the ground from which gushed forth a small stream of pure water which is still running strong and which we had the pleasure of drinking from. It is called "Providence Spring".

Another interesting place which we visited is Wakulla Spring, in Florida. It is really more like a lake, as it is 300 feet deep and the source of a river. It is so clear you can see the bottom through glass bottom boats and view the bones of giant prehistoric mastodon which roamed the earth three millions of years before the time of Abraham.

Those who contemplate an extensive trip should write to the State Road Commission at the capital of the various states through which they expect to travel and ask for maps and other literature of interest to tourists. They are glad to supply them gratis. Otherwise a person might pass by places of interest and not know it.

The weather was perfect during our trip and it is spring-like weather here. I am wondering why I have never heard any of my friends mention Andersonville, who travel back and forth to Florida every year or two.

Lynn Haven, Florida.

Paragraph Opinions . . .

OPPORTUNITY IS HERE

The opportunity for the milk receiving station is definitely here. Whether or not Oakland gets it depends upon the reports the farmers make and upon the activity of the business men in getting the reports.

The Carnation Milk Company has definitely decided to build a condensery station at Clarksburg. They will also build two receiving stations, but whether or not one will be in Oakland depends upon a definite desire that Oakland wants it.

The Carnation Company wants to know of the farmers the cow population. The Company wants to know, even if the milk is going to some other station. The Company wants to know the opportunity for improving herds. Whether or not a farmer is selling milk to another concern makes no difference. They want a report. It's vital that such information be received immediately. A story on page one of The Republican today will tell you whom to contact.

RECORD KEEPING

The statement we made when new public officers took over their duties, still holds good. Transactions of public officials should be placed on minute books and should be available to the tax paying public.

Keeping records makes for efficient business in any office, public or private. We hope the lesson has been fully learned.

CARRY ON!

An Associated Press news item states that because of the diversion of public interest from domestic affairs by the European war and the approach of the 1940 national election, the House investigation of the Works Projects Administration is likely to die a quiet death.

Such an outcome would be most unfortunate. The committee has done good work and largely because of its industry and common sense, Congress this year was able to correct certain glaring abuses in the WPA setup and incidentally to save money for the taxpayers. Yet every thoughtful person realized that what was being done was only a beginning on what needed to be done.

Unemployment is the biggest problem which confronts the nation today. War is not going to solve it regardless of what the New Deal says. Nor is war going to solve the related problem of how best to provide for our jobless. And WPA Administrator Harrington assures us that despite the war we will continue to have that problem with us.

It would be inexcusable if we should permit our interest in a war which is not ours to make us callous to a pressing economic and humanitarian obligation which is ours. And there is still less excuse for shirking honest duty because of fear of political repercussions.

Aside from the long range view, there is every reason why the committee should carry on, for the same news item informs us that the House group has found "bad" conditions in Indiana and has developed sufficient material for extensive public hearings.

The elections of 1939 cast at least faint shadows before them. They are important because of the overwhelming defeats which crack-brained pension schemes received in California and Ohio and because of the apparent failure of the New Deal Democrats to halt the swing of the pendulum away from them. For the New Deal Democrats the bitterest pill the elections presented them was a defeat in the mayoralty election in Philadelphia. They had hope for a victory there—particularly in view of some Republican support. The Republicans made the contest an anti-New Deal fight, although the Democrats sought to confine it to local issues. Nor did the elections in the rest of the Keystone State give the New Dealers pleasure.

The elections held here and there in the country during November reveal the same trend that appeared in last year's far more important Congressional and State elections. The people are thinking in familiar and normal political terms. In California and Ohio, where shuddering over wildcat pension schemes was supposed to be the order of the day for all men and women of common sense, the election results indicate plainly that the great American middle class is behaving in the traditional manner of the great American middle class. That is to say, the middle class is sitting in the saddle, and, in that place of command, is adhering to its old rules that two and two make four, that what goes up must come down and that no one can for very long get something for nothing. In various communities in which offices were filled, the results generally follow old patterns of old party loyalties, not always wisely.—Baltimore Sun.

The Government is footing the bill for Rear Admiral E. Byrd's current expedition to the South Pole in the hope that he and his companions can stake out a valuable Antarctic claim for the United States.

A jobless musician in New York was arrested Sunday on a charge of dropping a "slug" in a subway turnstile and when police searched him they found six bankbooks with deposits of $47,800 and $691 in bills—and more slugs.

Indians in this country are on the increase. The Indian population, exclusive of that of Alaska, increased from 342,497 to 361,878 in the last fiscal year.

Love conquered politics. The daughter of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, of Michigan, Republican, will wed Jack W. Bailey, Jr., a son of the Democrat beaten by Vanderberg in the last election.

POSTOFFICE IS BEGINNING TO FEEL CHRISTMAS RUSH

Local Postmaster Outlines Mailing Instructions For People

Postoffices throughout the county are beginning to feel the rush of Christmas with more and more packages and letters being received and mailed out each day as the actual holiday comes closer and closer.

The Oakland postoffice will close at noon on Saturday, December 16, but will remain open until 6:00 p. m., on Saturday, December 23. There will be two complete deliveries of mail by carriers in the town delivery limits on December 23, Irvin R. Rudy, postmaster, has announced. On Monday, December 25, the postoffice will be closed all day. There will be no window service and only special delivery mail will be delivered.

Mr. Rudy suggests mailing all letters and Christmas parcels as quickly as is convenient. He outlined some rules for Christmas mailing:

All parcels must be securely packed and wrapped, using strong paper and heavy twine. Articles easily broken or crushed must be securely packed and crated or boxed.

Patrons are asked not to seal parcels unless labels have printed instructions that they may be opened for postal inspection attached thereon.

Christmas seals or stickers should not be placed over flaps of parcels, as this considered as sealing.

No record is kept of ordinary parcels unless insured or registered. Parcels to distant points, if sent special delivery or special handling, are handled the same as first class mail while in transit.

YOUR BIRTH CERTIFICATE IS IMPORTANT DOCUMENT

Necessary Many Times In Proving Identity and In Legal Matters

Out of a thousand birth certificates forwarded to the Maryland State Department of Health during a single month last summer by the doctors, midwives or others in attendance, to be duly registered in accordance with the State law, one out of every three lacked the given name of the child. Because of its importance to the individual each record was checked and rechecked by the Bureau of Vital Statistics—which has charge of such records—and as far as possible, the missing information was obtained from the parents and added to the original.

The extent to which the given name is omitted from birth certificates was brought out very strikingly in a report prepared by Dr. A. W. Hedrich, Chief of the State Bureau of Vital Statistics, based upon the records of births reported to the Department during July of this year. Of 1,021 records reviewed, representing returns from the 23 counties of the State, 354 or 34.7 per cent lacked the given name of the child. The only county with a perfect score was Harford; the percentage of certificates in which the given name was missing, ranged from less than 2 per cent in some counties to 90 per cent in one.

"The birth certificate loses much of its importance to the individual, and may lose all of it, if any of the essential facts as to date, place of birth, parentage, sex, color and given name are missing from the certificate," Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health, said in explanation of the emphasis on "missing information."

"Suppose," Dr. Riley continued, "that it is your child whose birth is recorded. It may be necessary some of these days for the child to prove his or her identity; to furnish legal proof that he or she is an American citizen; to establish claims to property or the right to an inheritance.

"When that time comes the most natural thing to do will be for the individual to look through the family papers for a copy of the necessary birth certificate. If it isn't found there application will likely be made to the Bureau of Vital Statistics for aid in securing the necessary legal proof of his or her status.

"If the birth was duly registered and the necessary facts were all accurately recorded, the task will be an easy one. A copy of the original records, which the courts will accept as legal proof of the facts involved, can be readily obtained, and hurdle number one will be promptly disposed of. On the other hand, if the record is incomplete, the story may have a very different ending.

"Our Maryland law requires a birth to be registered within four days of its occurrence. Responsibility for reporting births rests primarily with the physician, midwife or others in attendance, but it is shared equally by the mother and father, and by others who may have knowledge of the circumstances. And it is of the utmost importance that the parents give all necessary information to the physician or midwife in attendance, at the time the birth certificate is made out."

Mrs. Henry W. McComas, Jr., and daughter Carolyn narrowly escaped serious injury last Saturday evening when their automobile skidded on ice on the Hutton-Oakland back road, ran through a fence and turned over. Damage to the car was estimated at about $200. The occupants were badly shaken up but no serious injuries resulted.

MONONGAHELA SYSTEM

MARYLAND LOST MUCH TERRITORY IN EARLY DAYS

A special writer in the Sunday edition of the Cumberland Times called attention to the fact that Maryland, during Colonial days, lost much of her rightful territory by reason of faulty surveys, or no surveys at all, in the following article:

As history records, the Charter grant issued by Charles I to Sir George Calvert in 1631, provided that the Potomac river from its mouth to its farthest head-spring was to be the boundary between the Colonies of Virginia and Maryland.

When the first Maryland Colonists landed from the "Ark" and the "Dove" at Saint Mary's in 1634, nothing was known, of course, about the correct source of the Potomac, other than a vague idea that the river probably headed in the far off mountain country, a great distance to the westward from the Chesapeake Bay. Many years thereafter, it was learned that the farthermost head-spring of the Potomac river is at Hightown, in Highland county, Virginia, at which place the main tributary, now known as the South Branch, finds its source. Unfortunately for Maryland, the head-spring of the North Branch was selected as the principal head water affluent of the Potomac system by Sir William Fairfax, who located the Fairfax Stone there about the year 1740, when he surveyed the "Northern Neck" of Virginia for his cousin, Sir Thomas Fairfax, the Sixth Baron Fairfax, who claimed the region.

Makes 21 Counties

This immense boundary, consisting of more than 5,000,000 acres, (about 8,000 square miles) located between the Rappahannock and Potomac rivers, in twenty-one counties of the present time, was inherited by Sir Thomas Fairfax, through his mother, from his grandfather, Lord Thomas Culpeper, Colonial Governor of Virginia. The survey was made necessary on account of legal action instituted in a dispute over the title, but Sir Thomas' ownership was confirmed by King George II in 1745. Following the American Revolution, however, these large land holdings were confiscated and reverted to the newly created State of Virginia. At the time Fairfax made the survey it was of course to his advantage to place the source of the Potomac river as far to the north as possible, thereby increasing his holdings; and in permitting the Fairfax Stone to be recognized as marking the farthermost head-spring of the river, Maryland neglected to protect her rights. No doubt the Colonial authorities were ignorant as to the true farthermost head-spring, and it was probably not until long after the Revolution that the discovery was made that the South Branch is more than fifty miles longer than the North Branch from the point where the two come together about fifteen miles east of the city of Cumberland, Maryland.

Numerous Counties Lost

It was thus that Maryland lost a section of about 2,000 square miles of mountainous country, which is now a part of the State of West Virginia, taking in all of Mineral county, together with large parts of the counties of Hampshire, Hardy, Grant, Pendleton, Tucker, Preston, and Randolph. It also takes in a small wedge shaped part of Highland county, Virginia. Keyser, Piedmont, Davis, Thomas, and many other towns are within the forfeited section. With Hightown, Va., as the correct pointer for the farthermost head-spring of the Potomac river, it will be seen that the true west boundary line of Maryland should be about 7½ miles farther to the west than its present day accepted location specifies.

Present state of Maryland, square miles, 12,327; estimated population for 1939, 1,700,000.

Area lost in the Upper Potomac region by incorrect location of the Fairfax Stone in 1740, square miles, 2,000 estimated; estimated population for 1939, 140,000.

Maryland should now have, according to her charter rights, 21,297 estimated square miles; 4,710,000 estimated population for 1939.

As to the above estimate of 2,600,000 population within the disputed strip of country, approximately nineteen and one-half miles wide by two hundred and forty miles long, lying between the Mason and Dixon Line and the 40th degree of North Latitude, which was taken from Maryland and added to Pennsylvania, it can, of course, be assumed that had William Penn located his city of "Brotherly Love" farther up the Delaware river and well above the 40th degree line, there would, no doubt, be a much smaller number of people now living in the present location of Philadelphia and its suburbs.

SANG RUN

The fact that amateur hunters aren't always the unfortunate ones, was demonstrated here on the first and second days of the deer season when John Sharps, 19, Oakland, and Jack Hinebaugh, Sang Run (also 19 years old), each bagged a fine buck, 10 and 8 points respectively. The two boys have a cozy cabin in typical deer territory and it was from this cabin that young Sharps and Hinebaugh accompanied by Jack Browning, formerly of Oakland, but now temporarily a resident of Sang Run, set forth to vie with the cunning deer and the superior skill of competitive veteran hunters.

When the current season closed six successful veteran hunters who were fortunate enough last year to get one deer each, found themselves holding an empty sack with a score of 0, while the novice hunters proudly found themselves holding a score of 66 2-3, three kids, two deer.

STILL SIZEABLE NUMBER OF MARRIAGE PERMITS HERE

Total For Year Will Reach 1300; Revenue Loss About $650.

Oakland's marriage license business is still of sizable proportions, even though the revenue is not quite as much as it was prior to the 49-hour waiting law which went into effect last December.

A study of the records shows that the total loss in revenue this year, as compared with the previous year, will be about $650, but going back a few years, before Pennsylvania and West Virginia couples had any restrictions in their own states, the records show that there is now more revenue received than, for instance, in 1934 or 1935. Last year 2270 marriage licenses were issued at $2.00 each, making a total of $4,540. Over 1200 licenses have been issued this year thus far and it is apparent that the number will reach 1,300. With this number at $2.00 each, and a similar number of applications at $1.00 each, the amount reaches $3,900, and the difference in total revenue is not as great as it was at first thought when the law became effective.

In 1934 there were 1384 licenses issued, which established an all-time record. The previous year there had been 1298. At the rate of $2.00 for each license, the total revenue will be greater as a result of the 48-hour law than in normal years. Waiting period laws in Pennsylvania and West Virginia sent many couples to Maryland in the past three or four years.

The above figures show only the loss or gain sustained at the license bureau and does not take into consideration losses sustained by hotel keepers and merchants.

The Supreme Court of the United States ruled that evidence obtained by wire tapping cannot be used in Federal prosecutions.

PEOPLE ARE CAUTIONED AGAINST RABBIT FEVER

Officer of State Warns Animals Should Be Healthy Specimens

Five cases of rabbit fever—tularemia, to give the disease its text-book title, have been reported to the State Health Depatment since shortly before the hunting season opened. The occurrence of these cases gives special point to the following warning from Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the Department, to sportsmen, market men, hucksters, food handlers, cooks, housewives, and any others who have occasion to come in contact with Br'er Rabbit.

"Be sure," Dr. Riley said, "that you bag—or buy—healthy specimens only. Be very careful in skinning rabbits and in preparing the meat for the market or the tabel, not to come in contact with any possibly diseased material. As a final precaution, see that rabbit meat is thoroughly cooked before it is served.

"Wild rabbits," he continued, "are usually the source of 'rabbit fever' in human beings. The animals become infected through the bite of ticks that carry the disease-producing germs or from the sting of certain kinds of flies. Rabbits raised in rabbitries as a rule are free from ticks, and so far, have not been found to be sources of the disease.

"Rabbit fever is generally contracted by human beings in handling, or in skinning infected animals, or in preparing the meat for market, or the tabel. It can be contracted through the bite of infected ticks or in crushing the ticks and cases have been known to develop from handling the fur of infected animals. The infection can be absorbed into the system thru an open cut or thru the merest scratch or break in the skin. Severe cases have occurred thru rubbing the disease bearing material into the eyes while handling the game.

"Fortunately not all wild rabbits are infected and the diseased are dull and move slowly. Hunters are accordingly warned to kill only those that are lively, alert and move quickly.

"There are certain other precautions that should always be observed:

"Don't use the bare hands in skinning rabbits or in dressing the meat. Use rubber gloves or protect the hands with some other water proof material. Keep your hands from touching your face or eyes. Wash your hands thoroughly after you have finished.

"Burn all papers, bags or containers in which the rabbit was wrapped.

"Cook all rabbit meat thoroughly. Cooking destroys the disease-producing germs.

"When symptoms develop that suggest rabbit fever, send for your doctor without delay. Blood tests for the presence of the infection will be made for any case in the counties by the central or branch bachteriological laboratories at the request of the attending physician. Similar service is available to physicians in Baltimore City through the laboratories of the Baltimore City Department of Health."

SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

PARABLES OF THE KINGDOM

GOLDEN TEXT—Incline your ear, and come unto me: hear, and your soul shall live—Isaiah 55:3.

Teaching by parable, a method so often used by our Lord Jesus Christ, has many advantages. A parable (which is a story relating events in common life to teach or illustrate spiritual truth) is useful in stimulating interest and attention, in making the truth clear, in fixing it in the hearer's memory, and in attracting for further instruction those who are interested even as it eliminates those who make no response. Jesus was the master of this art of teaching. Others have learned from Him.

The interpretation of the parables of Jesus has brought forth much difference of opinion. The important point to bear in mind is that the interpretation must be one consistent with other scripture, as well as with our Lord's own revelation of its meaning when given. We have His own interpretation of the parable of the Sower (Matt. 13:18-23), but He did not interpret the other parables of our lesson, leaving it for us to carefully seek their meaning and gladly receive their instruction.

I. Take Heed How You Hear (vv. 3-8).

This parable is rightly called the parable of the Sower for our Lord so named it (v. 18), but as we read it we see that the lesson it teaches relates primarily to the four kinds of hearers of the Word of God.

There are some who hear and their hearts and minds have so long been the common road over which every worldly influence has passed, that it has become so hard the Word of God finds no lodgment, but is quickly carried away by the birds, which are the "vultures of worldliness" and wickedness (see v. 19). Reader, if your heart is like that, ask God to break it up. Let us all shun those hardening influences which destroy our susceptibility to God's Word.

Others there are who hear and the seed takes root, but the soil is so shallow that it has only a quick growth which soon withers. These are those whose life is largely emotional, thrilling to a new experience, but not ready to face trials and the responsibilities of life (v. 21). As long as the Christian life looks attractive such shallow folk want to be counted in, but when they learn that it involves sacrifice, they are gone. Shallow souls, pray God to give your life depth and real meaning and worth.

Others hear and receive the truth, but soon permit the cares of life to choke and destroy it (see v. 22). This pictures modern life so aptly that one could dwell with profit on the vital lessons here taught.

Thank God, some of the seed brings forth a rich harvest! There is encouragement for every teacher and preacher of the Word of God. Notice (vv. 8, 23) that if we should bring forth a hundred-fold it would be tragic to bear only thirty or sixty.

II. Beware of the Power of Evil (vv. 31-33).

Just as the mustard plant was never intended to grow into a tree in which the birds would dwell, so Christianity was never intended to be a nominally Christianized world empire in which ungodly men, the dark birds of the evil one (v. 19), should find comfortable lodgment. Unfortunately, that is what much of professing Christianity has become. Let those of us who love the Lord beware that we are not misled by it.

The parable of the leaven teaches the same lesson. Always in the New Testament leaven stands for evil (see such passages as Matt. 22:16-21, 23, 29; 23:14, 16; I Cor. 5:6-8; Gal. 5:9). It is any influence that weakens testimony, encourages hypocrisy, formalism or worldliness. Who can deny that this leaven has spread throughout the Church? The Evil One is powerful. Let us beware of his power and of his leaven.

III. Value Redemption Aright (vv. 44-46).

In interpreting this parable we observe that obviously the sinner had nothing to sell with which to buy salvation, even if it were to be bought, which we know it is not (Eph. 2:8). We do give up some things to follow Christ, but are they not the worthless and degrading things? On the other hand, He gave us His all, even to the shameful death of the cross. This He did for His own people, Israel, and what we are even more interested in, for the Church.

Let us value our redemption highly. We have been purchased with the unspeakable price, the blood of our Lord Jesus Christ. Let us then heed the admonition of the apostle Paul, "Ye are bought with a price, therefore glorify God in your body and in your spirit, which are God's" (I Cor. 6:20).

By FRANK R. KENT

Third-Term Waggishness

Washington.

The recent waggishness of Mr. Roosevelt on the subject of a third term has had an interesting effect upon political and journalistic supporters in Washington, among whom the movement to keep him in the White House originated. For the most part it has depressed them.

As things are today, there remains only one of the New Deal writers who still insists that a third term is "inevitable." Two of the more conspicuous Administration columnists have reached the point of being annoyed by the President's "frivolity" on the subject and appeal to him to "come clean." Instead, Mr. Roosevelt inserts little trick words in his speeches and laughs uproariously over his smartness.

His last jest was in reference to the date for the dedication of the Hyde Park Library, which is to be in January, 1941, when he will still be President, and which he expects to attend as President. He was in great glee over the fact that two or three reporters had "bitten" by trying to read some third term significance into that date. Most of the newspapers completely ignored it.

It seems on the whole a pretty feeble form of wit to last anyone two days, but it has deepened the belief, held from the start by his more clear-headed friends, that Mr. Roosevelt has no intention whatever of running again, that he has already made his plans as to what he will do after January, 1941, and that these will be revealed soon after the first of the year—probably at the Jackson Day banquet in Washington. It is impossible for them to reconcile his waggish attitude with any intent to break the oldest and most deeply cherished of American political traditions.

Of course there is an official group here which will not relinquish third-term hopes until the convention, itself, has formally nominated its candidate, but the fact is that even this group is finding it hard to continue taking seriously a movement which Mr. Roosevelt has begun to treat with such facetiousness. The net result of his latest piece of waggishness has been to stimulate talk about the candidacies of others, particularly that of Mr. Paul McNutt, who, while far more active an aspirant than any other, early declared that he would be a candidate only if Mr. Roosevelt were not.

Within the last few days, there has been here in Washington new impetus given the McNutt movements. Partly, this is due to the conviction of some of the ardent New Dealers that the President definitely is not going to be a candidate, and partly to the intensive work of the McNutt managers, who read into that Presidential jest the Presidents idea that the whole third term business is a joke and that by keeping up the mystery for a couple of months longer he is going to have the grandest kind of laugh upon the whole journalistic profession when he chooses to make plain and positive what should have been plain from the start.

At any rate, some of the most extreme New Dealers very close to the President personally are now part of the McNutt movement. One or two of the strongest pro-Roosevelt writers have followed suit and at the moment the McNutt camp is full of enthusiasm. More clearly than ever his friends feel he is now indicated as the Roosevelt heir apparents. Certainly there is no other who seems preferred by Roosevelt, and if it is conceded that Mr. Roosevelt, though not himself a candidate, will be able to name the candidate the McNutt position is very good, indeed. None other has received such marked favor; none other has so completely subordinated himself to the President.

Altogether, things look fairly bright for this hard-boiled, entirely selfish Indiana politician, except for one thing—to-wit, the opposition of Mr. James A. Farley. Mr. Farley wisely refrains from talking about candidates these days, but there is no secret that he is not for Mr. McNutt. Moreover, it is doubtful whether Mr. Roosevelt or anyone else could get Mr. Farley for Mr. McNutt. Mr. Farley certainly will have more influence in the convention than any other individual, and the Roosevelt influence to be effective would have to be transmitted through Mr. Farley. Thus, while he may have very great support indeed, without Mr. Farley, Mr. McNutt can hardly get the nomination.

Astute, loyal and likable, Mr. Farley has led the third term movement and the McNutt boom develop and dwindle without comment. So far as the first is concerned, there is reason to believe that he knowns the real Roosevelt mind better than anyone else. The best evidence that Mr. Roosevelt will not run again is the fact that Mr. Farley, known to be opposed to a third term and yet loyal to Mr. Roosevelt, stays in the Cabinet and retains the Roosevelt friendship and confidence. There isn't any other way to figure that. The difference between Mr. Farley and other politicians here is that Mr. Farley knows what he is doing and where he is at all stages of the game. At this time his tall, smiling figure stands squarely athwart the McNutt path. At this time, entirely loyal to Mr. Roosevelt, he has the deepest admiration for Secretary Hull.

LOOKING FORWARD

By FRANKLYN WALTMAN

Publicity Director, Republican National Committee

As horrible and hateful as war is, many New Dealers believe they see a silver lining in it for them. This is particularly true of the New Deal agricultural theorists and experimenters. To them the war seemed an avenue of escape from the devastating results of their own fallacious thinking and foolish acts.

In brief, these New Deal lads who have tried to make a guinea pig out of the American farmer rubbed their hands in glee over the prospect that the European war would pull them out of the hole into which they had fallen Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace was so jubilant that he could not restrain himself from running to the radio and proclaiming in effect that "we planned it that way."

The first flush of jubilation within the Roosevelt Administration inspired by the belief that the European war would solve our economic and agricultural problems, however, has worn rather thin. The hard and fast rules of economics—which the New Dealers have always disregarded—have come into play and it becomes apparent that these problems remain with us.

Wheat Prices Still Low

For instance, at this writing, the price of wheat on the Chicago Board of Trade is about 85 cents. So badly has the New Deal managed our agricultural economy that not even the impact of a few months of a European war could raise wheat prices to a decent level. A price of 85 cents at Chicago is at least 10 cents more than it is on the farm and a farm price of 75 cents a bushel for wheat is much less than the "dollar-wheat-on-the farm", which the Democratic propaganda spokesmen so glowingly promised last spring.

The price of corn at Chicago at this time hovers around 50 cents a bushel. Such a price is not even sufficient to permit the Federal Government to get out of its commodity loans of the last several years without loss. The same situation exists in regard to other major agricultural products. Perhaps the European war one of these days will get these prices up but it will be in spite of Henry Wallace's AAA. Nevertheless, we will hear the same old hooey about how the New Deal's farm program is succeeding!

Farmers Lost 12 Billions

Richard A. Stadermann, president of the American Good Government Society, finds that during the "seven lean years" of President Roosevelt's Administration the American farmer has lost in income approximiately $12,000,000,000, compared with the "seven fat years" before the advent of the Roosevelt New Deal. And heaven knows, that several of those so-called "fat years" were none too fat for the farmers. Yet, in spite of that, the farmer fared far better before the Roosevelt Administration than after.

Total gross farm income, 1933-1939 inclusive, and taking the maximum possible estimate for the year 1939	*61,000,000,000
Total loss to American farmers during 1933-1939, at least	12,718,000,000

"This is the most astonishing result: over $12,000,000,000 loss to farmers during the last seven years," writes Mr. Stadermann. "Had it not been for payments to farmers this loss would have been $15,000,000,000 since 1933. While the conditions necessitated some Government aid for farmers, this was obviously at the expense of the general taxpayer.

Results No Testimonial For New Deal

"The interesting point is that, in spite of Government payments larger than ever before, farm income declined. The results do not show up auspiciously for the combination of trade agreements, restriction of production and commodity loans.

"It would seem better to revise our policies so as to restore the higher farm incomes of the years 1926 to 1932, which included both prosperity and depression and hence a normal average income. If we would restore the 1926 to 1932 farm incomes the farmer would have more income without asking for Government payments Farmers are upright, independent citizens who prefer asking no favors of anyone, but they do insist upon their right to supply the American market with American-raised farm products."

Little more need be said in way of comment on Mr. Stadermann's findings. His figures cannot be disputed and they speak for themselves. The loss in income cited by him means approximately $1,800 for each farm family in the land. Looking back over the last seven years, what could you, Mr. Farmer, have done with $1,800 to improve the comfort and happiness of your family?

STEWART VOICES HARMONY IN CUMBERLAND MEETING

Will Not Be Congressional Candidate if Stronger Man Appears

A. Charles Stewart, of Frostburg, will not be a candidate for the Republican nomination for the Sixth district seat in the House of Representatives if the state central committee in the district's five counties "get together" and agree on a candidate they consider stronger.

This statement was made by Mr. Stewart last Thursday night in an address before a meeting of the Sixth District Republican club, held in Cumberland.

He explained that he was making it in the interest of party harmony. There should be no bitterness engendered in the primaries that might carry over into the general election, he said.

Mr. Stewart was a former president of the Allegany Board of County Commissioners and a candidate for Congress in the last election.

When the Republican State Central committees of the five counties in the sixth district met in Hagerstown recently two were mentioned as being probable candidates for the nomination, A. Charles Stewart, and Walter W. Johnson, the latter of Montgomery county and a former pitcher for the Washington baseball team.

STATE LANDS ARE LEASED FOR DAM ON SAVAGE RIVER

Governor Announces Agreement With Upper Potomac River Commission

The Board of Public Works of the State of Maryland has approved an agreement leasing State forestry land to the Upper Potomac River Commission for use in construction of the Savage River dam in Garrett county, Governor Herbert R. O'Conor has announced.

The agreement, between the Commission and the State Forestry Department, gives control of all land from the impounding dam level to the 1483.5-foot level to the Commission. The lease was made to run as long as the land is used for water storage purposes.

The agreement cited that the dam will inundate the lands up to the 1468.5-foot level. The Commission agreed to cut all timber below that level and reimburse the Forestry Department for the value of the trees cut.

The Forestry Department will maintain timber above the projected water level as a watershed cover. The Commission will remove the dead and down timber above the water level.

The Commission agreed to remove and reconstruct the ranger's cabin now on the damsite, to move and reconstruct the present suspension bridge and to relocate and reconstruct the Savage River road.

The State reserved the right of access to the lake for any purpose not in conflict with use as a water storage reservoir. "Borrow pits" were ceded to the Commission where earth to fill the dam will be located.

Large Number Attended K. Of P. Meeting Last Friday

At the regular meeting of Garrett lodge No. 113, Knights of Pythias, held last Friday evening there were 101 members and four visitors in attendance to witness the new third rank team exemplify the work before nine candidates for the rank of Knight.

The refreshment committee served fried or stewed oysters or hamhurgers and coffee to the members, using for the first time a large range which was recently purchased for the culinary department of the lodge.

To Be Staged In Oakland High School Auditorium; Selections Will Be Given Between Acts

Fun, laughter, tears, romance, and every conceivable thing necessary for the success of an operetta are in "The Princess Passes By," which will be presented in the O. H. S. auditorium this evening by the freshmen and sophomore classes.

The story is about a poor Toymaker (Don Browning), who lives alone with his old mother (Nancy Lou Dawson) who bullies him unmercifully. He labors day and night to make a living. While he sleeps his toys come alive and hold their revels in his workshop. Chief among them are the Best Doll (Dolores Yutzy), a Rag Doll (Virginia Lawton), a Clown (Bill Casteel), and a wooden Soldier (Bill Graham). Many quarrels take place among the inhabitants of the toy shop. The Toymaker is secretely in love with a Princess (Rosemarie Boening) whom he has seen riding past his window.

The IIA and JVA Art classes, under the direction of Miss Baker, have spent much of their time designing the numerous costumes for the actors. Several members also planned the stage setting.

COUNTY TEACHERS WILL GET CHRISTMAS CHECKS

County Commissioners Borrow Funds To Meet School Obligations

There is a Santa Claus—for the Garrett County school teachers at least.

Knowledge that the teaching staff of the county would in all probability receive at least their November checks before the holidays was assured on Tuesday, when at a meeting of the Board of County Commissioners they made arrangements to borrow from the banks of the county the sum of $51,572.01 in order to fulfill their obligation with the School Board.

This amount of $51,572.01 represented the sum due the School Board up to the end of the year on the annual county levy of 47 cents on each $100 of assessable property for school purposes, a minimum fixed by State law before the county can participate in the equalization fund that brings over $100,000 into this county for educational purposes.

The amount borrowed by the Commissioners will pay four orders of $5,000 each issued on May 2, 1939, and an order of $8,285.99 drawn October 1, leaving a balance of $23,286, which the Board of Education will use to pay November salaries of teachers and current expenses of that body.

The Commissioners had a monthly report of taxes received and taxes not yet paid for the year 1939, showing that not quite 60 per cent of the taxes had been paid to that date. The report also showed a total of $106,355.18 of uncollected taxes for 1939 as of November 30. The annual levy estimated a total revenue of about $250,000. Of this amount approximately $140,000 has been received by the County Treasurer.

The Commissioners pointed out that they borrowed to meet their obligation and that the borrowing was necessary because current taxes had not been paid.

The Commissioners also made an announcement to correct an unintentional error appearing in The Republican last Thursday when it was stated that the road machinery purchased at the beginning of the year amounted to $60,000, whereas the purchase price of the machinery bought was $42,354.60 instead of $60,000. The Republican regrets the error.

A "White" Christmas Probable

With Christmas only four days off, expectations of having a white Christmas came much nearer to realization when snow started falling Wednesday evening and after slowing down during the night, began again this morning to deposit three or more inches on the ground up to noon today.

Prohahilities are that the winter weather will continue over the week-end. The mercury stood only a few degrees below the freezing level this morning.

The Oakland troop will begin its sixteenth year with forty-four scouts, about twelve of them being entirely new scouts, having entered the troop since Howard Naylor became scoutmaster recently. The latter has been active in scouting for 15 years, ever since its inception under Rev. A. J. Torrey in the fall of 1924, and Scoutmaster Naylor has been associated with scouting for eleven years. Scoutmasters since 1924 have been Scott W. Shirer, Rev. Paul G. Linaweaver, George H. Hanst, Bernard Gonder, Jr., Robert Stemple, George Packard, Howard C. Riggs, and Mr. Naylor.

Traffic Accident Summary For 1938 And 1939 Even Thus Far

During the eleven months of the present year exactly as many people were killed in traffic accidents as were killed in the similar period of 1938. There were four fewer deaths in November as compared with the same month of 1938—41 being killed this year.

Traffic crashes took a toll of 26 lives and 295 persons injured on the roads of Maryland outside of Baltimore City during November, 1939.

Leading the list of counties for reductions in road mishaps is Garrett county, with an 80 per cent fall-off. There were 5 persons killed in this county in 1938 and thus far in 1939 but one.

Pedestrian accidents lead all others by better than two to one in fatalities, with 9 persons killed and 48 injured out of 54 accidents. Seven to eight o'clock p. m. appears to be the most dangerous hours, while Saturday and Sunday are the most dangerous days.

Strange Bird In This Area

What has been identified as a tiger bittern, a bird strange to this area, was recently captured by Charles Wrighsman, of near Deer Park, and has been causing a lot of interest in the Naylor store, where it has been in a cage for more than a week.

The bird is about the size of a grown chicken, light spotted brown, with rather lengthy, thin green legs and thin, long claws for feet. The hill is about three inches long and sharp. When approached the bird voices its disapproval in a peculiar rumble in its throat that would make one leave his bed should he he camping and hear it at night.

The bird was shot hy Wrightsman while it was flying near Deer Park, the shot injuring a wing. It is said to be a native of South America.

Red Cross Membership Reaches 339 With $365.33 Turned In Fifteen members were added to the Red Cross roll and $17.00 were received during the week, making a total of 339 members during the drive and $365.33 received. The quota is 400 members, which usually means $400. Several contributors have given more than the $1.00 membership, and various school grades have taken up collections.

This week Miss Ethel Broadwater, Grantsville solicitor, turned in the following: F. C. Dichl, Marshall B. Pressman, Miss Louise Flynn, George Murphy, Mrs. Lydia Wiley, C. O. Keller, and Melba Miller.

George J. Hesen, former resident of Oakland, is in a very serious condition at Potomac Valley hospital, Keyser, West Va., from the effects of blood poisoning which developed in his arm following a slight injury. His left arm was amputated at his shoulder on Monday.

While engaged in feeding some cattle, Mr. Hesen suffered a scratch on his hand when he came in contact with a barbed wire fence. He was taken to the hospital last Wednesday. He is the father of A. G. Hesen, of Oakland.

COMPLETION OF DAIRY SURVEY IS BEING URGED

Meeting Monday Attended By About 60—Plans Made For Contacting All Farmers In County

To impress upon farmers and business men the importance of completing the dairy survey within the next few days, a meeting was called Monday afternoon by Mayor Lawrenee M. Fraley in the city hall, which was attended by about sixty farmers representing all sections of the county. The dairy survey must be completed so that a report can be made to Vern P. Melhuish, representative for the Carnation company.

The Carnation company contemplates the establishment of a milk receiving station here, and about six weeks ago requested survey blanks from farmers of this section in order to show the cow population and the possibility of increasing their herds provided a permanent outlet for the milk developed.

Since the original announcement one part of the plan has been made certain, that of the erection of a condensery at Clarksburg, W. Va. Two receiving stations were contemplated at that time, one here and one at Cameron, W. Va. Definite announcement of the condensery at Clarksburg came a week ago and since that time renewed efforts have been made here to get the necessary dairy survey completed.

It is the aim of those business men working with Mayor Fraley to have the majority of farmers in the county and neighboring counties of Somerset county, Pa., and Preston county, West Va., to fill out questionnaires as to how many cows are milked at present and how many they would milk if the receiving station was established.

The questionnaires were slow in coming in, and last Thursday the business men met and appointed a committee to be responsible for covering the entire county. The men named for the various districts included the following: district 1, Delbert M. Davis; 2, L. M. Fraley; 3, R. D. Houck; 5, H. C. Riggs; 6, L. M. Fraley; 7, O. T. Graser; 8, Cecil Kight; 10, Frank Kley; 12, J. C. Renninger; 14, Frank Kley. District 16 was included in the former districts 7 and 10, and districts not listed were to be contacted later.

Letters were also written to representative men throughout the county to attend the meeting Monday afternoon.

At the meeting were L. S. Hartley, agricultural agent for the Baltimore and Ohio railroad; F. J. Reed, county agent of Preston county, W. Va.; Mr. Godley, agriculture counselor, and E. B. Smith, of the West Penn Power company, Fairmont, W. Va.; E. S. Evans, Terra Alta, W. Va.; and fifty or more farmers.

Messrs. Hartley, Reed, Godley, Evans, and Smith all pointed out where such a receiving station would be of untold benefit to farmers and business men alike and also showed where other sections had developed the dairy industry where Carnation company had constructed plants.

The receiving station would be built at a cost of about $25,000 and would furnish checks to farmers twice monthly, for all the milk they would bring, with no limit to the amount.

Woman Arrested Charged With Using Mails To Defraud

Charged with using the mails to defraud, Mrs. Viola Hare Bittinger, 26, of the Meadow Mountain Community, north of Swanton, is in the Allegany County Jail, Cumberland, after postal authorities working out of that city cracked down.

United States Deputy Marshal Howard P. Loughrie, who made the arrest, along with Garrett County Deputy Sheriff Clarence Spear and the area postal inspector, said she was charged with failing to pay for goods ordered from mail order houses.

Using an assumed name she had ordered goods worth about $30 from a mail order house, made a small down payment and then had failed to pay the balance, according to Loughrie.

According to court records she has previously been convicted and imprisoned for forgery.

Mrs. Bittinger was given a hearing last Friday before United States Commissioner James Alfred Averitt, and is being held for action of the Federal Grand Jury.

Christmas Card

Today I received a Christmas card from my unele, who is past his 85th year. Besides the usual greeting he added, "Be good and you'll be happy—but you won't have much fun."

After 85 years, and he thinks you can't have much fun and be happy. I guess it depends upon what kind of fun is fun.

Mr. M. R. Frantz, Fairmont, W. Va., has just paid his subscription account to June 1, 1940. He has been a regular subscriber since the fall of 1896, a total of 43 years. "How is that for sticking?" he asks.

I would say that is sticking better than the stickingest leech. Better even than LePage's Glue. 'Course, he had something good to stick to.

Friends of Kay Offutt have had quite a time "kidding" her about her sheep dog, which is about as big as a young horse—almost. Anyway husband Ed says he would just as soon have a cow in the barn—that the cow at least would give milk.

One year ago it was said the Community building project had been approved by WPA, leaving only the sanction of the citizens of Oakland yet to obtain. That sanction was obtained later in a municipal election, by a vote of more than three to one.

That particular project has been delayed by prices for land, and construction details with the WPA.

But the fact remains that the people overwhelmingly favored a community building. If it is not to be built with WPA, why can it not be worked out another way? The necessity and desire are still with us.

It is hard to realize what must possess people who deliberately plan to tear down what well-meaning public spirited citizens have labored to create and maintain.

In other years it has been the theft of Christmas bulbs from curb trees. This continued for several years until this year the town decided to decorate in other ways that would remove the temptation from the vandals.

This year we have something just as bad, if not worse.

Somebody has removed several pine trees from the hotel hill, near the ball park, which were planted several years ago by high school students in assisting members of the Oakland Civic Club to beautify the town's bare and unsightly spots.

CHRISTMAS COMES AGAIN—

The Christmas spirit walks abroad, mingling with the throng. The keen interest that everybody feels makes it appropriate at this time to explain the origin of Christmas and why it is celebrated.

Augustus Caesar, Emperor of Rome, decreed that every subject in his dominion should be enrolled, at the place of birth of the head of the family, for the purpose of taxation. In pursuance of this decree, a carpenter named Joseph, with his wife, Mary, who lived at Nazareth in the province of Galilee, journeyed to his birthplace at Bethlehem, in Judea, the city of David, the greatest of Jewish kings. Joseph and Mary, although descendants of the royal family of David, were poor and humble. The village of Bethlehem was crowded. The Inn had more guests than it could accommodate, so the couple from Nazareth found shelter in a stable. This was doubtless one of the caves hollowed out of the soft limestone rock which is common in that vicinity, since such caves are still used in Palestine as stables for horses and camels.

Some months before, an angel had announced to Mary that she was to be the mother of Jesus. The time had arrived for the prophecy to come true and there, in the city of David, a son was born. Mary wrapped him in swaddling clothes—linen bands such as eastern mothers still wind round and round the body of a little baby—and laid him in a manger.

That night, on the slope of a hill near Bethlehem, a group of shepherds were watching their flocks: "And, lo, the engel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them: and they were sore afraid. And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David, a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord. And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger. And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of heavenly host praising God, and saying, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

Certain wise men, called Magi, saw a star in the east and followed it across the desert, over plains and hills. The wise men and the shepherds found the baby Jesus in the manger. The shepherds sang songs of praise and glory. The wise men opened their treasures, and gave Him rich presents, frankincense, gold, and myrrh. The star, the songs, and the gifts are perpetuated in our celebration of Christmas Day.

Christmas should be a day of rejoicing for everybody.

Tag Day Receipts, $57.30

A tag day, sponsored by the Young Democratic club, for a community fund to assist the needy, netted $57.30 last Saturday, which included donations of $10 in merchandise from the A. & P. Tea Company, and cash donations of $5.00 each from Ray Teets, Half-Price Store and the Reckard and Glotfelty Garage.

Baskets of food are being prepared for distribution to families in need under the supervision of Mrs. Joseph Gonder. Girl Scout troop No. 2 has donated clothing and toys the members collected and these will also be distributed by the club.

The club is also preparing for the charity ball to be held December 27 at the Manhattan Hotel. Reed Raines will furnish music.

Firemen Answer Alarm

The Oakland Fire Department answered an alarm Sunday night, called to extinguish a blaze in Ward Smith's automobile, which had ignited while pushing another car on Third street, near the Leighton Garage.

Persons attracted to the spot by the blaze succeeded in extinguishing the fire before the truck arrived. There was only slight damage.

By FRANK R. KENT

Ambassadorial Politics

Washington, Dec. 19.

Two American Ambassadors—Mr. Jo Kennedy and Mr. Joe Davies—recently returning from their posts abroad, soon after their feet touched the shore declared for the reelection of Mr. Roosevelt to a third term. In thus sweeping up the oldest and soundest of American political traditions as though it did not exist, they could hardly expect to escape a certain amount of adverse comment.

That is, they could not have that expectation if they had given the implications of their declarations any considerable thought. There is some reason to belive they did not give it quite enough. For example, it is pointed out, Mr. Kennedy scarcely could have realized the implied slight to Secretary of State Hull, his immediate chief, in the assertion that there is no man other than Mr. Roosevelt in the country capable of conducting its foreign affairs. Mr. Hull not only happens to be Mr. Kennedy's chief, but it happens that his job for the past seven years has been to conduct the foreign affairs of the country.

Anyone who thinks he has been an inactive, inarticulate or submerged Secretary of State, pushed aside by the President or sidetracked for assistant secretaries, does not know the facts. One fact is that Mr. Hull's handling of foreign affairs has been a great asset to the Roosevelt Administration. Another fact is that Mr. Hull more than anyone else was the man responsible for the repeal of the embargo and but for his support the Neutrality Act would have remained unchanged. A third fact is that Mr. Hull's character and ability have made him the outstanding member of the Cabinet. So great is the respect and regard for him in the country that he is more prominently mentioned than anyone else for the Democratic Presidential nomination, and is the first choice of a large number of Democrats.

Mr. Kennedy is a very fine man personally and has made an exceptionally good record in London. He would not deliberately disparage the Secretary of State, but when he says that no one is qualified for the Presidency but Mr. Roosevelt, he nevertheless disparages him and his friends resent it. In addition, it is slightly ridiculous. The same thing is true of Mr. Davies. This open piece of politics upon the part of two American Ambassadors certainly strengthens the argument for career men and against amateurs as Ambassadors. No trained diplomat, whatever his feelings, would have blurted out or been betrayed into making a political declaration of this kind no matter how hard pressed by the reporters. No career man would say publicly anything that would lend color to the charge that instead of being an Ambassador representing the whole country, he is an Ambassador representing the current Administration only and believing no other man should aspire for the Presidency so long as the man who appointed him wants to stay President.

In the case of the Messrs. Kennedy and Davies, there, of course, are not wanting those who point out that they are two of the heaviest contributors to the Roosevelt campaign funds and to his Hyde Park Memorial. Mr. Kennedy, it is true, has indicated a desire to retire to private life and is not believed to want any other office from Mr. Roosevelt. While Mr. Kennedy does hold the prize Administration plum, Mr. Roosevelt is perhaps under more obligations to Mr. Kennedy than Mr. Kennedy is to him, a situation which Mr. Roosevelt always resents. At any rate, the President's intimates are perfectly aware that he is no longer fond of Mr. Kennedy personally. Nor has the latter's latest declaration changed that.

With Mr. Davies, the self-interest of his declaration is obvious. First sent to Moscow and now Ambassador to Belgium, Mr. Davies' ambitions have been widely publicized. No secret has been made that neither Moscow nor Brussels satisfied the aspirations of the Davies family. What it wanted was either London or Paris—and Brussels was regarded as a stopping place before going on to higher things. His intention to stay in Washington as an "adviser to the President on foreign affairs" does not change that situation nor deceive anyone. That is the bunk.

In any event, the Davies declaration is easier to account for than that of Mr. Kennedy, though neither is consistent with the best standards of the American diplomatic service. The truth is neither Mr. Kennedy nor Mr. Davies has added to his reputation as a diplomat, or contributed to the third-term cause. If other amateur Ambassador follow suit, the result will be the same. For one thing, none of these gentlemen controls any delegates; for another, they all hold jobs given them by Mr. Roosevelt, which most of them want either to hold on to or trade for something better. For another, they know that when Mr. Roosevelt retires they also retire. What the third-term managers want now are indorsements not from Federal jobholders, politicians afraid of income-tax investigations or rubber-stamp Administration Senators, but from some one with a name that commands respect and a detached position which precludes any suspicion of selfish personal or political interest. A desperate search is being made for a man like that, but so far he hasn't been found. The other kind do not count very much.

The annual Christmas treat for the children of the community 12 years of age or under, will be distributed from beneath the community tree by the Rotary Club members on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Each child will receive an orange and a bag of candy.

Homemakers' Column

Many homemakers are trying to figure out some way they can work the Christmas colors in their holiday menus. Following are some suggestions that might be used with cranberry sauce:

Cranberry stars are easy to make and add a festive touch to Christmas dishes. Simply cut the stars with the point of a star-shaped cookie cutter from slices of ready-to-serve cranberry sauce. Use them in a variety of ways.

Tiny cranberry sause stars shimmering on top of the Christmas fruit cup are a novel touch. Plumper, larger stars are an attractive way to serve the Christmas cranberry sauce with goose or turkey.

Cranberry Frosting — Cup cakes may be frosted with delicate pink or red cranberry frosting made this way:

One-fourth cup butter, 2 cups confectioner's sugar, jellied cranberry sauce, dash of salt.

Cranberry Hard Sauce for Puddings, etc.—One-third cup butter, 2 heaping tablespoons cranberry sauce, 1 cup confectioner's sugar.

Cream butter until soft, gradually beat in sugar, then add cranberry sauce and beat until fluffy. Pile lightly in serving dish and chill until cold, but not hard.

Cranberry Star Salad—One can of cranberry sauce or its equivalent, 1 package plain gelatin, ½ cup boiling water.

Dissolve gelatin in cold water; add hot water and stir thoroughly; cool; when partially thickened, add cranberry sauce which has been crushed with a fork; shredded cabbage, nuts or fruit, chopped celery may be added. Pour into star mold and chill until firm; unmold on crisp lettuce; garnish with sprigs of holly.

NEW FORD TRACTOR DEALER APPOINTED

Motor Service Company at Grantsville has been appointed Garrett county dealer for the new Ford tractor and Ferguson Wheelless implements, Harvey Gortner, Grantsville, announced today. The appointment was made by Gash, Stull Company, Chester, Pa., distributors in Maryland territory.

"Farmers who have seen the new type mechanized farm equipment in action at demonstrations are impressed with its capacity for hard work of all types, although it is much lighter in weight than other tractors capable of equal work," Mr. Gortner said. It weighs about 2,000 pounds, plows two 14-inch furrows and uses one gallon of fuel per hour.

The tractor and unit implements are closely coupled, enabling them to be used in small and irregular fields. The linkage involved is such that the front wheels are kept on the ground, no matter how steep the grade.

The wheelless implements can be attached or detached in less than a minute without using tools. It is quickly convertible into a row-crop machine with wheel adjustments from 48 to 76 inches. The tractor is equipped with rubber tires, hydraulic control, self-starter, power take-off and other features.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our darling sisters, Mrs. Iola Friend Ferguson, who passed away November 6, 1939, and Mrs. Letitia Friend Layman, who passed away November 30, 1939.

Ofttimes the road seems rugged,
And our hearts are filled with pain,
But we're striving, sisters darling,
That we, too, a crown may gain.

Ford Tractor Operates Economically

DIARY OF THE WAR

Condensed For Readers Of The Republican

FRIDAY — Russia was expelled from the League of Nations. The Finns claimed they had recaptured a large area; that they were holding their own in another area and systematically retreating in the Arctic region.

SATURDAY — British demanded that the Nazi battleship Graf Spee, in an Uruguayan port, either be interned or made to leave the harbor. British planes battled German naval squadron in the North Sea. The Finns continued to repulse the Russians but appealed to the Soviet Government to resume peace negotiations.

SUNDAY—Uruguay gave the German battleship until 5:00 o'clock p. m., Sunday to leave Montevideo. Russian attacks on the Karelian Isthmus were repulsed with heavy losses. Finland's appeal to the Soviets for peace negotiations were ignored. Hand-to-hand fighting on the Western Front resulted in a claimed victory by the French.

TUESDAY- Both Germany and Great Britain claimed victory in an air battle over German naval base at Helgoland. British submarine destroyed a Nazi cruiser. British also described the attack of submarine Salmon upon six German warships, two of which were hit. Nazi planes sank four British merchant ships and damaged three warships. German news agency said Canadian troops reached England, two hundred of whom are citizens of the United States. Uruguayan authorities interned officers and the crew of the German Graf Spee, sunk by its commander in Uruguayan waters on Sunday.

WEDNESDAY—German passenger liner was scuttled by her crew, the men on the vessel numbering 500 were picked up by a United States warship. German freighter was driven into a harbor in Florida by a British cruiser. Material aid for Finland was reported following meeting of Allied officers. Forty-four United States planes were sold to Finland. Finn air forces struck back at Russians with an attack. Daylight raid by French patrol was only activity on Western Front. WINTER ARRIVES FRIDAY THE CALENDAR TELLS US

Only 9 Hours 4 Minutes of Daylight; Winter Lasts 89 Days

Regardless of snow or rain, cold or heat, that has prevailed during the past two months, winter does not actually begin until tomorrow, according to the calendar and various almanacs issued in all part of the nation.

From the Old Farmers Almanac it is learned that winter begins on December 22 at 1:00 p. m., when the sun enters Capricorn. The length of winter in days will be 89, 0 hours and 18 minutes, which may be some solace for persons this winter who happen to look out upon a vast white expanse. Of course it is not to be thought of that winter sometimes overstays his welcome in this territory.

While winter actually begins tomorrow the almanac furnishes the information that on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday there are exactly 9 hours and 4 minutes in the length of days when the sun rises at 7:10 a. m., on Thursday and sets at 4:14; and on Friday rises at 7:11 and sets at 4:15. While the sun actually continues to rise later until January 7, yet it begins on December 22 to set later, thus beginning that process of making days longer until June 21, the longest day of the year.

The earth will be in Perihelion, or nearest the sun on January 2, 1940, at 1 a. m., when it will be distant just a mere 91,316,000 miles. The two will be separated the most on July 4, 1940, a distance of 94,429,000 miles.

Anyway, winter arrives tomorrow, when the sun enters the sign of Capricorn and enters into its most Southern declination.

Many Motorists Fail To Have Their Cars Inspected

A summons barrage has been sent against approximately 200,000 Maryland motorists who had failed to have their vehicles inspected during the forty-five day "Save a Life Campaign" which ended December 15.

Motorists whose cars do not carry the sticker of approval will be given notice to comply with the requirement within five days. License tags issued to car owners whose cars have not been inspected and are found to be mechanically unfit will be revoked. No person will be able to get next year's license plates without having his car inspected, it was stated.

About 241,000 cars have been inspected of the 400,000 vehicles on record in Maryland.

Health Officer Reports On Outbreak of Disease in Adjacent County In West Virginia

Dr. H. R. DuPuy, county health officer, following a telephone conversation with Dr. C. Y. Moser, health officer of Preston county, West Va., stated that the outbreak of scarlet fever which occurred in and around Terra Alta, W. Va., was well under control.

The general quarantine was lifted on Monday, December 18. However, the schools have not been reopened. Dr. Moser reported that around 20 cases had occurred during the outbreak.

"Garrett county has no need for undue alarm," Dr. DuPuy stated, "as there have been no cases reported from the areas contiguous to West Virginia in the last month. School attendance in both the Crellin and the Hutton schools has been above the average for the past month."

Dr. DuPuy also said there had been five cases of scarlet fever in Garrett county in December, scattered over a wide area, with no reason to expect an outbreak. He also reported 38 cases of scarlet fever in Garrett county during 1939, which was well below the expectancy.

SCHOOL BOARD REQUESTS $388,561 FOR NEXT YEAR

Of This Amount Garrett County Is Asked To Furnish $119,288; State To Pay Balance of Fund

CAPITAL OUTLAY $26,190

A total of $388,561 is the sum estimated as necessary to operate the public schools of Garrett county for the year 1940, in the annual public school budget presented to the Board of County Commissioners by the local Board of Education. This includes the sum of $339,546 for current expenses; $26,190 for capital outlay and $22,825 for debt service.

The amount requested to be furnished by the County Commissioners is $149,288. Receipts from the State to go into the current expense account were estimated at $239,273. The county is asked to furnish $100,273 for current expenses and the full amount for capital outlay and debt service—$149,288.

Last year the schools received in the annual levy from the county the sum of $93,143.99 for general operating expenses and nothing for capital outlay or debt service, which was exactly the minimum requirement of 47 cents per $100 of assessable property. This year the minimum requirement, regulated by a new State law is 51 cents per $100 of assessable property.

Teachers' salaries in elementary schools are estimated to amount to $140,000, all of which is furnished by the State. Teachers' salaries in high schools are estimated at $76,500, of which amount the State will furnish only $27,823.

Transportation of school children, it is estimated, will cost $56,841, all of which is furnished by the State. The amount is subject to an additional sum of $14,620, as set forth under debt service.

Funds requested for unusual school expenses were the same as last year.

Capital Outlay

Capital outlay needs were set out in the budget as follows: Oakland High, Matthew Maroney lot, $500; Oakland Elementary, Warnick lot, $2,000; Mt. Lake Park, 5 lots, $140; grading lots at Oakland High, $500.

New building at Bloomington in accordance with Chapter 356, Acts of 1939, $12,000; interest upon Bloomington building fund as estimated, $600; Black Hawk building and equipment, $1,800.

Window shades for Kitzmiller, Bloomington, Oakland High and Elementary, Loch Lynn, $450.11; heating, plumbing, sewerage disposal, ground etc., for Bloomington, $5,000; new furniture, stoves, pipe, for Bloomington, $700; indoor toilets and sewerage disposal for Swanton, $2,000 folding chairs and science equipment for Kitzmiller, $500. The latter item was approved by the Couny Commissioners in August, according to F. E. Rathbun, County Superintendent.

Mr. Rathbun, in presenting the budget to the County Commissioners, also attached the recommendations and requests of last year's budget in capital outlay, amounting to $73,675, for which nothing was levied last year. This included $40,000 for classrooms and assembly hall at Accident; two classrooms and halls for Oakland High, $15,000.

The amount requested from the County Commissioners for current expenses was estimated from the assessable basis of the county, which is $19,661,359, at 51 cents per $100. The amount for capital outlay and debt service is additional. In the debt service were items of interest on various county orders being held by D. E. Offutt and Arthur Naylor amounting to $1,440.62. There was also an item of $1,780 for increased salaries to teachers, as result of a legislative act of 1939, and another item of $971 for additional salaries to vocational agriculture teachers and industrial arts teacher.

The needs of the School Board must be presented to the County Commissioners twenty days before the laying of the annual levy, which must be done by January 10, 1940.

The Commissioners made no comment as to what amount tney expected to levy for school purposes.

The regular meeting of the Mayor and Town Council will be held on Monday, January 8. Mayor Fraley said this morning that several petitions had been received asking for an area on which children could coast.

Christmas Mail Here Shows Increase Over That of 1938

Christmas letter and parcel mail at the Oakland postoffice showed an increase of more than 7,000 pieces during the six-day period preceding Christmas this year, compared with a similar period in 1938, postoffice officials revealed, setting an all-time high for business.

A total of 45,720 pieces passed through the canceling machine from December 18 to 23, inclusive. There were also 450 insured parcels. Stamp sales were also extremely heavy. During that period 40,000 one and one-half cent stamps were sold, 10,000 more than during the same period last year.

In actual cash the 25 days in December showed a six percent increase over receipts during the same period last year. Postoffice workers stated that incoming mail had also been much heavier than in previous years.

I SEE BY THE DAILIES THAT

Anthony Fokker, first man in aeronautical industry to become a millionaire through aviation, died Saturday at the age of 49.

An elderly couple came to shop in Chicago in a buggy drawn by a horse. The horse was tied to an electric light post on State street, which is the busiest thoroughfare in the city. Returning later with Christmas packages they found traffic had been tied up. The couple determined a few days before they would do their shopping as they did as bride and groom in the year 1896.

The national income for 1939 was estimated at $68,500,000,000, which is $4,500,000,000 more thon it was in the year 1938.

Seventy persons died in a train wreck in Germany, the eighth major rail tragedy since the beginning of the present war.

A blacksmith in Richwood, Ohio, 90 years old, says he likes work too much to think of retiring. He's had his shop there for 75 years.

The fifth set of twins in six years were born to a couple at Logan, W. Va. They said they had gotten so they expected it.

Since midshipmen now eat to music and dine less hastily, the number reporting sick has shown a decrease.

Japanese dispatches reported 15,000 Chinese had been killed in recent fighting north and south of Hankow in Central China.

Prof. Jacob E. Metzger, 57, director of the University of Maryland experiment station, died unexpectedly in Florida. He was noted in soil research.

The Federal government puts into operation next month its plan to provide mass security in the form of monthly retirement pensions for older workers and their dependents. It is estimated about a million people will benefit.

Senator Norris, (Ind.-Neb.) announced he would retire when his present term expires in 1943. He had been in Congress 37 years.

Joseph E. Davies, American Ambassador to Belgium, was named by the President as a special assistant to the secretary of state.

A FAITHFUL MOTHER CAT PAYS SUPREME SACRIFICE

Gives Its Nine Lives Trying To Save Kittens At Fire Monday

A "mother" was burned to death in an attempt to save her "children"—and so lost one of her purported "nine lives". The "mother" was a cat and the scene was adjacent to the Deer Park hotel on Christmas afternoon where the Hutchinson home was destroyed by fire.

After the home had been entirely consumed a cat was seen to be skirting the edge of the ashes, finally coming to a summer kitchen in rear that was not yet completely consumed. Walking over the hot ashes she entered the burning shed. In a short time out she came with a little kitten, carrying her in the usual manner by the back of the neck. Dropping her beyond the ashes she returned to the shed, presumably for the rest of her brood. This time she did not come out and a number of those watching the episode wiped away tears that just wouldn't stay put.

The Hutchinson home was formerly known as the Garrett home and contained 10 rooms and 5 baths. Part of the house was being occupied by Charles Hinebaugh and family, and Hinebaugh's brother-in-law. Very little furniture was saved.

The fire started in the other end of the house from that in which the people were living and when the Oakland fire department had answered the alarm and had arrived on the scene the blaze was too far advanced to be checked with the small amount of water available.

Grocery Stores to Close on New Year's Day

All grocery stores in Oakland plan to remain closed on New Year's Day, it was announced this week. This means that buying for the table will have to be done on Saturday for a two-day period.

The banks will be closed also on New Year's Day. State offices will be closed on New Year's Day, and also on Saturday, December 30, as the result of an order by the Governor, giving state employes a three-day holiday again, the same as they had over the Christmas week-end.

The window at the postoffice will be open from 7:30 to 8:30 on New Year's Day, Monday, January 1. There will be no delivery, but the Star route mail will be delivered as usual. The office will be open this Saturday until noon on only, returning to its usual schedule.

Given Principal Appointment to U. S. Naval Academy

William W. Grant, Jr., student in Randall Naval Preparatory School in Washington, D. C., and at his home over the holiday period, was notified Sunday by Congressman William D. Byron, that he had been given the principal appointment to enter the U. S. Naval Academy as a midshipman in June, 1940. His entrance to the academy depends upon the passing of scholastic and physical examinations. Grant's appointment came as the result of an examination taken in October, in which he stood high.

This is the second time Grant has been named principal, having been high in last year's examination. He also passed his scholastic examination last year but was unable to pass the physical examination because he was eight pounds underweight. This year his weight is satisfactorry.

OFFICIAL COUNT SHOWS 171 DEER KILLED IN COUNTY

Two Less Than Last Year; 30 Are Found Illegally Killed

Deer hunters in Garrett county met with only slight less success this year than last year, final official figures for the season, recently ended, have revealed.

Successful nimrods in Garrett county totaled 171 this year as compared with 173 last year. In Allegany county 27 deer were killed, a drop of 12 from 1938.

Game wardens reported a large number of deer illegally killed in this county. Thirty illegally slain deer were found, including 28 does and two spike bucks. During the past week also wardens found the carcasses of two legally killed deer in the woods—one an eight-pointer and the other a six-pointer. They had been fatally wounded but had managed to elude their pursuers. Their carcasses, found in the Pine Swamp and North Glade sections, were badly decomposed.

Joseph A. Minke, deputy district game warden, announced parole of two youths on charges of illegally killing a doe. The youths, both from the community of Jennings, were placed on a year's parole after suspension of a fine of $100. They were arrested on Meadow Mountain one night early this month when they returned to pick up a doe they had slain during the day. One of the boys was 17 and the other 18 years of age.

700 Dairy Survey Forms are Collected with More to Come

A tabulation of dairy survey forms made this morning discloses that 700 farmers had filled in the questionaires regarding the number of cows they milk and the number they would milk if the Carnation Company decided to construct a receiving station here.

The businessmen's committee asked the continued cooperation of all farmers in completing the survey, Mayor L. M. Fraley stating this morning it looked like the quota would be more than filled by next week.

A meeting is to be held at Aurora next week. Some of the business men responsible for gathering survey forms in various districts of the counties have not yet reported. It was thought the number would reach 1,000.

MRS. REAM GOES TO YODER

Several changes in the teaching staff of the elementary schools of the county have been announced by F. E. Rathbun, County Superintendent of Schools, the chief one being the change in principalship of the Oakland Elementary school. All changes become effective Tuesday, January 2, 1940, when the schools reopen following the holiday recess.

Mrs. Rosalie C. Ream, who has been serving as principal of the Oakland Elementary school since September, 1934, has accepted the position as principal of the Yoder school, a two-teacher school north of Grantsville, adjacent to the Orphanage maintained there by the Amish-Mennonite sect, Mr. Rathbun stated. Clyde R. Dahlgren, who has been assistant teacher in the elemntary school for the past two or three years, has accepted the position as principal in Mrs. Ream's place.

Miss Helen Sollars will be an assistant teacher in the same school to supply the vacancy created there by the elevation of Mr. Dahlgren to the principalship. Miss Sollars has had special preparation and training for the teaching of music and Mr. Rathbun pointed out that this appointment would add materially to the teaching of music in that school.

Requests Leave of Absence

Mr. Rathbun received a letter this morning from Mrs. Ream, who is at Lonaconing during the holidays, in which she made application to the Board of Education for a leave of absence, effective January 2, for eight months, for the purpose of taking advanced study to complete the requirements for the Bachelor of Science Degree in Education.

Mr. Rathbun stated that it had always been the custom of the Board to grand such requests, indicating that at the Board's next meeting the members would act favorably upon the request and grant the leave of absence

Mrs. Ream plans to continue her studies at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, according to her letter.

Mr. Rathbun said that for the present there would be no change in the set-up at the Yoder school and that no additional teacher for that school would be named. Mrs. Getty will continue to be principal there.

Mrs. Hannah C. Green has been transferred from assistant teacher in the Bittinger school to principal of the Black Hawk school which was recently rebuilt after having been destroyed by fire of unkuown origin on Sunday, August 27. The new Black Hawk school building is now one of the most complete and satisfactory one-room buildings in the county, Mr. Rathbun said, being especially well adopted for one-room rural school requirements.

Miss Edna McDermott has been placed as an additional and new teacher in the Mountain Lake Park school, which became necessary due to the increased number of children attending. This will make Mountain Lake Park school a three-teacher school. Miss McDermott is a daughter of Dr. McDermott, who practiced medicine for 25 years in Midland, but who moved to Baltimore about a year ago. Miss McDermott is a graduate of Frostburg State Teachers College in February, 1939. She will teach music besides other subjects.

Mrs. Vivian P. Getty, Grantsville, has accepted the position as teacher of the primary grades in the Yoder school. Mrs. Getty formerly served as principal in the same school.

We made this statement on the Air

. . . now we repeat it in print

"A GOOD MANY confusing things can be said...in fact sometimes are said...about gasoline. The important thing, however, for you to remember always is to buy the product of a company in which you have the utmost confidence . . . a company whose avowed policy is to manufacture and sell only the finest products that skill, science, and great resources make possible.

"This is the policy of Gulf. Its gasolines, Good Gulf and No-Nox, are today greatly improved over what they were even six months ago . . . just as six months ago they were even better products than they were the year before. All this is done as a matter of course, and it is the result of forever keeping pace with every known means of product improvement.

"With Gulf the policy of constantly improving the quality of its products is a pledge . . . a pledge that you motorists will find maintained whenever you stop at the Sign of the Gulf Orange Disc."

Now . . . new . . . improved

THAT GOOD GULF

. . . a regular-priced motor fuel that compares favorably with many higher-priced gasolines. Because it's refined to meet the specific needs of the locality in which it is sold. That Good Gulf Gasoline gives complete satisfaction in power, mileage, and smooth, all-around performance.

GULF NO-NOX

. . . a super-fine fuel that no regular-grade gasoline—regardless of the claims made for it—can touch for anti-knock value. No-Nox gives lightning-like starts . . . permits more rapid acceleration . . . delivers smooth, knockproof power under all normal driving conditions.

1940 Marches In

THERE'S unconcealed optimism in his stride and a gay welcome in his wink—for he has found Hope in a war-torn world. He has found an America at Peace, an America that is building and progressing instead of bombing and destroying. He has found a land that offers everyone freedom and opportunity, rather than a soldier's uniform or concentration camp. An America where tolerance and justice still are endeared, and where a man's opinion can still be voiced aloud without fear. With these things to work with, he knows he can make that wish of "Happy New Year" come true—for us in America at least.

BABIES BORN JANUARY 1 WILL GET ESSO AWARDS

Distribution Of Funds To Honor Two New Brands Of Gasoline

Parents of babies born in this State on January 1 should take their baby's birth certificate to any savings bank in the state and have opened there a savings account with five dollars credited to the new arrival, H. H. Wiegand, local manager of the Esso Marketers, pointed out yesterday.

Mr. Wiegand's explanation followed the announcements of the Esso Marketers that they would open a five dollar savings account for every baby born in this State on New Year's Day. This organization will also open a $100 account for each twin born on this date and a $250 account for each triplet born on the first day of January. In case quadruplets are born they will open for each quadruplet a $1,000 savings account, and if quintuplets are born each quintublet will be honored with a five thousand dollar savings account.

"This widespread distribution of funds is in honor of the two new members of our official family of petroleum products, New Esso and Esso Extra," Mr. Wiegand pointed out. "We decided to share our pleasure at the birth of these two new motor fuels with the parents of babies born on New Year's Day. The offer holds good in 18 states and the District of Columbia, from Maine to Louisiana. If births are normal on that day there should be 3,000 babies born, including 35 sets of twins and one set of triplets. As for quintuplets and quadruplets, sets of either are just as likely to be born on New Year's as on any other day."

Hockey Team Members Injured

The Mountain Lake Park hockey team made its "debut" with a bang on Monday. Here is what happened: A practice team from Oaklaid consisting of a group of lads over twenty-one years of age, came over to give our team a bit of practice, but it turned out they were the ones who got this practice and also got action a-plenty. Before the game was over they had a casuality list: John Stevenson had a badly cut nose; Jarve Bittinger had his head cut; Denver McCabe suffered a cracked arm and Ray Klepher had some of his teeth knocked out. It was a good game, and a good sized crowd was on hand including several cars of tourists from New York and other places who stayed to the finish.

If the ice is good this Saturday afternoon at three o'clock the Oakland team will meet the Park team. A good fire to keep the spectators warm will be maintained. No admission will be charged, but the hat will be passed.

Ford Tractor Operates Economically
